FORTY-THIRD
ANNUAL REPORT

New Haven Branch Woman's
Board of Missions
Our Motto.

"AS THE BRANCH CANNOT BEAR FRUIT EXCEPT IT ABIDE IN THE VINE, NO MORE CAN YE, EXCEPT YE ABIDE IN ME. HE THAT ABIDETH IN ME, AND I IN HIM, THE SAME BRINGETH FORTH MUCH FRUIT."

ITEMS OF INFORMATION

The next annual meeting of the Branch will be held in New Haven, on the second Tuesday of May, 1915.

Monthly meetings of the Branch will be held at 3 p. m., on the second Tuesday of the month, from October to April, inclusive.

The Home Secretary, Mrs. W. H. Fairchild, 57 Grove street, New Haven, requests that societies, immediately after their annual meeting, send the report of it to her with the names of the officers elected. She will be glad to answer inquiries and any communications relating to the general work of the Branch.

The Field Secretary, Mrs. A. B. Miller, 179 Bradley street, New Haven, will gladly attend meetings of societies when desired, to present information from missionaries and the mission field, and will assist in the organization of new societies. Applications for missionaries to address meetings should be sent to her.

Societies wishing letters from missionaries, manuscript papers, leaflets and maps should address Miss A. S. Dickerman, Route 58, New Haven.

For mite-boxes and thank-offering, Lenten and monthly envelopes, societies should address Mrs. Charles W. Merrels, 203 Lawrence street, New Haven.

In the Junior Department, missionary letters, Cradle Roll cards and mite-boxes may be obtained of Miss Dorothy Deming, 245 Bradley street, New Haven.

All letters with money for the treasury should be addressed to Miss Edith Woolsey, 250 Church street, New Haven. Make checks payable to the order of the treasurer. Money must be received by the treasurer on or before May 1st to be included in the annual report for auditing.

Any person or society contributing in one year $25 can name a life member of the Woman's Board of Missions, and also can appropriate the same to their pledged work.

This Branch has received gifts in memory of friends. At the option of the giver, such sums are applied to present work or made a permanent fund, the interest to be so applied.

The Woolsey Memorial Missionary Library contains over two hundred volumes and complete files of the Missionary Herald and Life and Light, carefully indexed. To obtain books and magazines address or call upon Mrs. W. H. Fairchild, 57 Grove street, New Haven. No charge is made for their use.

Subscriptions are desired to our magazine Life and Light for Woman, published monthly by the Woman's Board of Missions. Terms: sixty cents per annum in advance. Address Miss Helen S. Conley, 704 Cong. House, Boston, Mass. Also to Everyland, A New Magazine for Girls and Boys. Published quarterly, fifteen cents per copy; yearly subscriptions fifty cents. Combination price of $1.00 for both magazines. The Pilgrim Visitor is a weekly paper for boys and girls from eight to twelve. Readers of the Mission Dayspring will find here the same sort of material that has hitherto appeared in that popular little monthly now discontinued. Subscription price 50 cents a year; 30 cents for groups of two or more when sent to one address. Here and There Stories are something new for children. Ten cents buys the whole series of ten, or one story each month except July and August. Address Miss Ada R. Hartshorn, 704 Congregational House, Boston, Mass.

The observance of the hour from 5 to 6 p. m. each Sabbath in prayer for missions is earnestly commended.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

"We ourselves together will build unto the Lord." In the spirit of the aspiration, which hung as a motto on the wall, the New Haven Branch convened in Center Church, May 12, for its forty-third annual meeting. The thought, "Working with the Master," unified the day's program, and welded the hearts of the workers. For the first time in many years an early rain lessened the morning attendance, but by afternoon a large number had gathered. Noticeable in both morning and afternoon sessions was the goodly proportion of young women.

For those privileged to attend it, a devotional service, led by Miss Cornelia B. Wheeler, preceded the opening of the regular meeting, contributing its part toward the deep spiritual atmosphere of the day.

Routine business came first, beginning with Mrs. Wake- man's reading of the minutes. Miss Woolsey gave the year's results in the treasury. Mrs. Fairchild summed up the year's work in the Auxiliaries from answers to questions that she had sent out, a résumé encouraging where it revealed strong points, and stimulating to better work where it revealed weak ones. Mrs. Prudden with her inimitable enthusiasm roused us by her record of facts from the foreign field, and her stirring questions "What next in Turkey?" "What next in Mexico?" et cetera. Miss Farnam reported plans achieved in the junior work and plans in progress.
For messages from Boston we turned to Miss Preston, Junior Secretary of the Woman's Board. She sketched a series of pictures forming in her mind from attending many gatherings of women in the twenty-four different branches, women getting together the better to do the Master's work. She showed us things attained and things unattained, and left us with minds open to the great possibilities in each particular church, possibilities alike everywhere though conditions and ways of working vary. "Oh, that all would realize the greatness of this day!" In the prayer service that followed, Mrs. Ewing of Tientsin and Mrs. Peet of Foochow voiced our needs and our petitions. Mrs. Prudden and Miss Judson showed the crying need for new buildings in their pleas for the Golden Anniversary Gift. As Mrs. Prudden sketched the life and work of Mrs. Edwards, missionary of the Board since 1868, we longed with a great longing to lay hold on the $10,000 for the new Industrial Building in Inanda, as a memorial to Mrs. Edwards, while she yet lives. Mrs. Phipps laid this desire of our hearts before the Master Builder in prayer. Miss Judson pictured the pathetically inadequate Girls' School building in Matsuyama; this, too, we of the New Haven Branch must secure. Mrs. Robert Hume of Bombay was introduced, paying in a few words a beautiful tribute to the sacred name of Edward Hume. Election of officers and of delegates to the Woman's Board meeting finished the business of the morning, and after a prayer by Mrs. Taylor we closed, singing together the prayer "O Master, let me walk with Thee!" Appetizing luncheon was served as usual in the Y. M. C. A. building. The reception following it proved so enjoyable that we had to be driven away to the afternoon session.
A thrilling introduction opened this meeting, when the fourth generation of Humes was presented to the audience, Robert and Edward Hume, chubby little fellows, standing together on the platform.

Rev. George C. Raynolds sketched a beautiful picture of Van "the Switzerland of the Nearer East," and a still more beautiful picture of the ripening fruits of the orphanage which has passed nearly a thousand orphans through its doors. Many of his boys are now entering into the work there, and scores of them he finds helping in this country, home and foreign work dove-tailing under the Master's plan. He spoke warmly of our own Miss Silliman and her enthusiastic work with the children. Dr. Katherine Scott presented most vividly phases of medical work in the Madura district, where there are "more germs than were ever discovered under an American microscope." Rev. Charles E. Ewing of Tientsin made us see "New China in the Making" through clearer eyes. We saw the changes, the dangers, the possibilities, the reasons why. "Where dangers, there opportunities." China, he said, must be measured not by what the Board or the Missionaries ask for, but by what possibilities there are. Truly spiritual refreshment was offered during the afternoon in the solos "My Faith Looks up to Thee" by Mrs. George E. Nichols, and "Holy Offerings, Rich and Rare" by Mrs. Charles W. Coulter. Rev. Harry L. Miles closed the meeting with prayer and the benediction, and we scattered to the homes covered by the wide territory of the Branch, with these words still singing themselves over in our hearts:—
"Promises in sorrow made,
Left, alas! too long unpaid;
Fervent wishes, earnest thought,
Never into action wrought—
Long withheld, we now restore them,
On Thy holy altar pour them;
There in trembling faith to leave them,
Christ, present them! God, receive them!"

Louise C. Mead.
HOME REPORT.

SENIOR DEPARTMENT.

This day ushers in the forty-fourth year of the life of our organization, full of opportunity and privilege and responsibility for all who would share in the work which the Master came to do. In listening to the returns from the senior societies it is realized that while forty-four years do not make ancient history they do form a period long enough to bring the friends and founders of the early time to earnestly seek and long for help and reinforcement. It is a plea to the younger women of the churches to lighten the care of their elders and to show that what has been built up with such splendid courage and persistence is not to suffer decline and loss when their hands lay down the happy task. You know these beloved saints. They are in your circle of acquaintance and friendship. They smile upon your activities and your interests. They would have you make a compact of reciprocity and, by entering into their labors, share their joy. It is not forgotten that in many cases this is already achieved and when it is universal there will be seen a tide in the affairs of the New Haven Branch that will lead on to assured continuity and permanence.

As you know, a series of questions, fifteen in number, based upon the policy of the Woman's Board, has been promulgated recently throughout the Branch. You surely will be interested in the summary of answers to the few that are selected. Out of one hundred and thirty-three lists, returns are received from all but ten. Forty-nine societies have an annual every-member canvass. Forty-one can or will try to increase their annual contributions. Forty-one are planning to have a share in the Golden Anniversary Gift, and others are considering the matter. One hundred and one hold meetings regularly. Ninety-six have carefully prepared advance programs. Seventy-four have used some one of the series of study books this last year, and of these fifty-one are "The King's Business." Sixty-five have a secretary for Life and Light. Thirty-four have appointed the new officer, the Junior Lookout. The questions were not issued, however, just for the sake of information. Did you not find them suggestive and stirring? Why not have an annual every-member canvass if you are not among the forty-nine whose custom it is? It would help solve the problem of the increase of contributions which is so greatly needed. This is emphasized in the policy of the Woman's Board and brought to the attention of its entire constituency. It has not been urged in our Branch the past year, though it is probable the treasurer and finance committee may have some recommendations to make in that direction for the year to come. Our share of the increase is $1,000, making the goal to be reached $17,000. New members and the organization of new societies in the few outstanding churches would accomplish it.

Are you not impatient to hear more details about our magazine, Life and Light? With sixty-five special secretaries named, and others not named, it would seem that something truly great ought to take place. If you read thoughtfully the statistics of the report when issued and compare numbers you will find the proportion of subscribers is greater in the smaller societies than in the larger. Will not this be found an incentive to united effort on the part of all societies to increase the percentage, so that you may lend a hand to the Woman's Board publication committee and encourage the editorial secretary, as well as find yourselves easily laying up a store of information on what is going on the world around. If this is thought to be harping on one string, may it prove musical and compensating.

You will not be told of the discouraged societies, for discouragements are but temporary, and such news has a leaden way of clouding o'er a sunny day, but hear what the optimistic friend saith and others like her:

"We have been having wonderful success with the interdenominational lecture course on 'The King's Business.' The results will be far-reaching. The enthusiasm has been great. We ended up with a rally and with John R. Mott as the speaker. The church was crowded with an audience of fine representative people, including many men and young men. It has all been very inspiring. If you knew our usual inertia you would appreciate it even as we do. Dr. Mott made the man small who 'doesn't believe in foreign missions.'" Another tells us of "excellent attendance at meetings, continued interest though serious illness in some families might have acted as a deterrent." "Our society is flourishing and we have splendid meetings." "We have cause for thanksgiving as we have been able to more than meet our obligations."

Such hopeful words could be multiplied manifold did time and space allow.

A few programs have been received, all very attractive in manner and matter. One is in royal purple, to conform to the color scheme as shown by the cover of "The King's Business." One society had as its annual meeting program a "Menu of New Mental Foods" served in five courses, an ingenious play upon words. It was in reality an hour with new books, the theme being "Missionary Reading." A third program to be mentioned was for the annual Thank Offering Meeting which will speak for itself as it is given entire, omitting the names of the "artists":

A Symphony in Missions

The Branch meetings, beginning in October, have been inspiring and helpful. That held in April was unusual in its setting. The program was adapted very appropriately to the place of meeting, the Day Mission Library, and consisted of the review of six recent missionary books by as many different women. Missionary friends have been exceedingly generous of their time and thought in all meetings, and they are remembered with esteem and warmest thanks: Mrs. Bartlett, Miss Laura Smith, Mrs.
Ewing, Mrs. Peet, Miss Blake and Mrs. Hume, whose fund of reminiscence is never exhausted, while she also keeps in touch with the history of missions in the making.
“Our Missionary,” Miss Judson, now upon furlough, is receiving a warm welcome everywhere.

The annual county meetings were conducted along some unusual lines, but were, as usual, stimulating and full of good cheer. The churches of Bethel, New Milford, Ivory-town and Westville were most gracious in their hospitality.

Changes in the personnel of the board of officers, which you may note, are for reasons personal to each one who retires, which cannot be gainsaid. Mrs. Griggs was elected to the office of vice president of a division of New Haven County in 1907, therefore has served seven years.
Though she now feels that she must give up the care and requirements of office she gives assurance of her love and loyalty and continued interest. Her wishes are fulfilled in the naming of her successor. Mrs. Helen Parsons Malcolm came to realize from experience that it was very difficult to live out of town and continue as recording secretary. With sympathy and appreciation we are forced to accept her withdrawal, and it is with mutual regret.

The secretary of the Bureau of Information and her associates have continued to supply societies with such letters as are of special interest to them, and have been most diligent in their multiplication. They are always ready to meet requests for additional letters, or for other material when the wish is made known.

The Field Secretary, Mrs. Miller, says she has done nothing that counts, but you who have been helped by her presence or by her office, will not place this humble estimate upon her service. In this day of new and absorbing care it is no light thing to look up the disengaged missionary or other speaker, and fit time and place and person together. She may not always have been as successful as she hoped but the effort has never been wanting.

The Mary P. Hinsdale Building Fund, which belongs with our Golden Anniversary Gift, will always command our interest and our affection. It not only fulfills its own design but has been a force in leading other like gifts. The Fullerton Circle of Bridgeport has the purpose of a gift honoring the memory of their beloved president and leader, Sarah E. Hubbard. The Ansonia Society has sent to the treasurer $100 towards the Golden Anniversary Gift to which they hope to add before 1917, and they request that it be received in the name of Letitia F. Markwick. Mrs. Markwick was an early president of the society, which she reorganized "one evening at the close of the weekly prayer meeting" and witnessed its growth in one year from eight to fifty-five. Her associates and friends, with sweet and tender retrospect, wish to perpetuate her memory by placing a tablet to her honor in a new building for the Boarding School for Girls in Uduvil, Ceylon.

The hope was expressed one year ago that our treasurer could report to-day our $16,000 in hand. As you have heard, that hope is not realized, but as some societies have not forwarded their contributions we believe we shall have the sum needed before the accounts are finally closed.

Mrs. Montgomery has happily said: "The detachment at home is really an organized part of the campaign abroad. Be of good cheer, dear missionary workers, serving without hope of distinction or earthly reward. On your fidelity, daring, initiative and reliance on God depends the advance of the next twenty-five years."

Home Secretary.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT

Last year the plans of the junior department were the most important part of the report. All of those plans have unfortunately not been put into effect, but some account can be rendered of those which have been carried out. In July, four members of junior societies went to the Foreign Missionary Conference at Northfield. Two other girls from the Branch went to the General Conference and probably there were others, about whom the secretaries knew nothing. Though this is all right as far as it goes, we are still a long way from the ideal of having a representative every year from each young ladies' society and a delegate every few years who will study the needs of the children's societies. Those who went last year, are working harder and more cheerfully than ever before, because of the stimulus they received there.

In the autumn some conferences of leaders were planned but had to be given up. Leaders and secretaries had a very good opportunity, however, at the county meetings, of discussing the winter's work. A few posters were taken to these meetings to show that the junior department was trying to do a little to make itself conspicuous, and in every county the junior officers were given a chance, besides making their regular reports, to tell about Northfield and urge the appointment of more Lookouts. In November the Annual Meeting of the Board in Springfield was attended by three junior secretaries, and in the same month all but two were able to come to the officers' meeting in New Haven, to arrange the work and get acquainted.

A Rally at Southport was planned for January but was postponed on account of the weather till May, and it finally took place on the sixteenth. In March, the junior Branch meeting was addressed by Miss Isabel Blake of Aintab, and the Junior Mission Circle of Center Church acted out a little play whose scene is laid in Turkey. In April Miss Bradley and I went to the conference of junior secretaries in Boston, which was even more inspiring than last year. The most important matter which was discussed was the adoption of a policy. This includes a ten per cent increase in societies and contributions, the holding of leaders' conferences, the use of Lookouts and a definite effort to help by prayer and exhortation the finding of new missionaries. Last year's junior work in the Board as a whole seems to have been very successful, and the banner Branch is the Eastern Connecticut. Needless to say the New Haven Branch secretaries are not going to allow themselves to be outdone.

The Mission Study in the societies in our own Branch has been fair. All but six societies give at least a little time to study, and some are splendidly organized with program committees "Life and Light" secretaries and other helps towards systematic work. The work for boxes has been energetic. One is being sent this month to Inanda and smaller packages are to be sent later to Van, Aintab, Caesarea and Madura. The boxes for the hospital at Aintab and the dolls for Van have called forth many appreciative letters. These in turn have spurred several societies on to send again this year. The number of Mission Circles this year is smaller than last, because four societies have graduated into the senior department and others have dropped out. The latter are exactly balanced by the new societies formed so that the Branch as a whole has just gained the same number that it lost. Several of those which dropped out, are only gone for the time being, and we hope we can soon help them to find leaders and congenial work. The Christian Endeavor Societies have received letters about Mrs. Sibley and Miss Bewer as regularly as possible. A special effort was made to interest the Sunday Schools, and all schools in our territory, whether contributing or not, received letters and suggestions for study work.

This completes the account of the work done last year, but in addition the resignation of several members of our staff must be mentioned. Miss Hayes, who has looked after the literature for ten years, and who has worked with four different junior secretaries, will be missed very much. Her advice to new and ignorant officers, and her willingness to do any amount of work have helped the present secretaries immensely. Mrs. Van Why of Litchfield County, Miss McIntosh of New Haven and Miss Stoddard of Middlesex have all had to resign much to our regret.

The evening before the Annual Meeting the junior staff had a meeting at which they laid some more plans. The first thing they would like to emphasize is their willingness to visit societies. They feel that only in that way can they really get to know the needs and the ambitions of all their co-workers. This last year only a little of this visiting was done, but in each case it has helped the secretary enormously in making suggestions, and we hope it has helped the society. Of course train schedules and health will not always permit all the visiting that might be desired but there will be many occasions when the arrangement can be made. Some leaders' conferences and a possible Rally have been discussed for next autumn and unless unforeseen circumstances arise they will take place. Just at present our chief aim is to advertise Northfield, Silver Bay and Ocean Park. It is very pleasant to know that without any outside urging four girls are already planning to go to Northfield. This is the work of one of our new Lookouts and of a girl who last year went to Northfield.

Perhaps this report seems to have laid a good deal of emphasis on the purely practical arrangements of the work. The junior officers do not intend to turn into a company of Marthas. We know that we could not possibly have attempted to carry through our plans, if we had not felt that even our small Rallies and Conferences might have some effect in helping widen the boundaries of the kingdom of God. We have known that only through prayer can we gain the courage to start new enterprises as well as to meet disappointment, and we consider it the largest part of our task to reaffirm this wherever we do any work. We know that all things will be added unto us if we can bring others and ourselves into closer relationship with God.

Louise Whitman Farnam,

Junior Secretary.
FOREIGN REPORT.

TURKEY.

"What Next in Turkey," has been the subject of study in many classes during the past year. "What next in Turkey?" was an oft-recurring question throughout the whole world in the time of the Balkan War. What Has Been Next in Turkey since the last report is chronicled in these pages.

Miss Trowbridge's "Next" has been frequent and wearisome tours in the Aintab district, winning her way into the homes and hearts of Christians and Moslems alike, even the Kurds being ready to hear the Bible. She writes: "New places we were generally able to enter through former hospital patients whose homes they were. Even when we did not personally know the people, we found after a while that they were not unfriendly, only seeing a foreign lady for the first time and not understanding the reason for her coming, they were slow to take one in. Weary in body and mind, as we entered a little village one evening, the cheery old granny who had been our escort pulled us into her little house, and soon women came in with greetings of welcome to join those already there. I felt too weary in tongue and head to talk any more, but several women begged so hard that we could not resist. God gave fresh strength. As a poor blind woman sat down in front of us, we sang and told of blind Bartimeus, and of the light and life God is able to give us now through Jesus. Several women listened hungrily and made sympathetic comments. One said, ‘Oh, what sweet words these are! Why can’t you stay longer and tell us more?’ We felt that we had a company of new friends and we ‘thanked God and took courage.’” Another “Next” is her training class for Bible women, nurses, and others who want to learn something to help them in Christian work. Several Gregorian Bible women are working, in city and country, for Moslems; showing that they, like their Lord, can forgive their enemies. The report from the village schools, about twenty in number, is encouraging. Teachers are in great demand, two or three being necessary where a year or two ago only one was needed. Aintab Seminary graduates, and even undergraduates, are going bravely out to give to others what has been given to them. Miss Foreman writes: “We see real progress all along the line, and have reason to rejoice that the Lord has permitted us to have a part in giving new vision to so many girls.”

One of the greatest privileges of this Branch for the past eight years has been sharing with Miss Alice Bewer her loving ministrations to suffering bodies and needy souls at Aintab Hospital. We feared her courageous spirit was taking her back to too heavy tasks when she returned, two and a half years ago, so soon after an operation in this country. The stress and pressure of the work since have been too much for her, and now to our great regret she is obliged to give up her position as mis­sionary nurse. Had adequate help been possible all this time, she might have spared herself more, but it is slow work getting native nurses trained for positions of responsibility, and until Miss Tavender arrived, there were many months when head and heart and hand were taxed far beyond her strength. To one like Miss Bewer, who, in every opportunity to serve, hears the Master's words, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these," sparing herself is impossible. Since we know that she cannot continue longer in so arduous a position, it is a matter of great interest to us that her future plans look toward continued residence in Turkey. We hope for her speedy recovery of health that, as the wife of one of the professors in Aintab College, she may long bless with her consecrated life a wide circle of those in her adopted country to whom the influence of a Christian home will be of untold value.

Miss Ruth Tavender was warmly welcomed and she speedily showed her fitness for the position. She says of their Christmas in the hospital, "No work was ever so worth while." She has written to her "hospital superintendent in Boston asking her to call the attention of her nurses to the work and the need of workers." She has written to her "friends at home both for nurses and teachers as well as money for equipment and house-furnishings." Thus the great needs impress a new-comer. There is urgent call for another nurse, a physician, and funds for hospital equipment, anti-tuberculosis work and furnishings for the nurses' home.

"What Next" in Adana is a new building for recitation rooms, encroaching on the compound, but needed for the ever-growing school. It has been a hard year, owing to lack of teachers, but Miss Borel and the others, after a restful summer in the mountains, have kept at their post. Miss Borel says: "The girls have been earnest without any great religious excitement. I believe in showing that God is Love, and making people wish to love Him in return and to serve Him joyfully, rather than appealing to the emotional side of human nature and frightening them into the Kingdom of God."

"What Next" in Van is the Turkish kindergarten, a hope of last year realized through the generosity of friends at home, and also of the Turks themselves, who furnish the rent and fuel. For this first year tuition is free to the twenty children, and visitors are numerous.
The sessions are held in the afternoon, every day except the Christian and Moslem Sundays. Miss Silliman is the general manager, a Turkish-speaking Armenian girl is leader, and Miss Whittlesey presides at the organ. At Christmas, the very first Christmas for these little Moslem children, they were surprised by a tree, with Santa Claus and dolls. Miss Silliman says: "The children were too happy to be noisy. Each child just sat still in his chair and gazed at the doll clasped in his arms. The mothers were as pleased as the children. As they said 'goodbye' they thanked us and called down all the blessings of Allah upon our heads. A good share of these are due to the good friends at home who sent us the money and the dolls." Miss McLaren and Miss Silliman went touring in the holidays, finding the village schools in good condition, with a decided increase in the proportion of girls.
For the first time they had dolls and toys to distribute,
and many little lives were made brighter thereby. The Girls' School has grown from two hundred and fifty in 1907 to five hundred and thirty-four in 1913. The girls are enthusiastic in learning everything that will help them in after life. "Drafting patterns is ten times as useful as geometry." Another dream is a school for older Turkish girls, in preparation for which Miss Rogers is already studying Turkish. The Turks are beginning to appreciate the fact that the American schools are the great reason for the progress among the Armenians, and they, too, are becoming anxious for education. As for the hardships of the life, Miss Rogers says, "The new missionaries would simply flock to Van, if they knew what fun it is to teach here." Miss Clark and Miss Whittlesey have found many "next things," teaching sewing, English, and music; substituting for regular teachers on enforced vacations; making calls in many native homes; entertaining pupils and teachers; doing whatever has presented itself. They are to leave in June, and the need of a new teacher before fall seems imperative. To their keen disappointment, Miss Ruth Razee of New Haven, who started last fall for Van, is to remain instead in Adabazar, where she has spent the winter. She has succeeded so well and become so indispensable there, that the station petitioned for her retention, and their request has been granted.

Bitlis rejoices in the permanent appointment to that station of Miss Mary Uline, who has proved so eminently fitted for the place and work, and who "has won all hearts by her qualities of mind, heart and character." But they feel more keenly than ever that their "What Next" must be a physician, and it is earnestly hoped that their want will soon be supplied. Miss Charlotte Ely has recovered from her injury, and is courageously going on alone with the work so long shared by her beloved sister. The primary schools have overflowed, and branches have been opened. The graduates of the Seminary are going out as teachers and Bible women, thus widening its sphere of influence.

Miss Mattoon in Harpoot is overseeing the Bible women, who are doing faithful and excellent work in all that region. She tries "to impress upon them that giving lessons to these poor ignorant women is only a means to an end, a means of leading them into a real Christian life and belief in the Master, and they seem to work with that thought uppermost." One is "really doing the work of a touring missionary," her field including many villages and her coming hailed by Protestant, Gregorian and Turk. A strong force at work in these villages is the influence of the young teachers, trained in the College, experienced in leading meetings, and doing much spiritual work outside of their regular school duties.

The lace-making department has been "What Next" in Mardin, and gratitude is expressed for the extra grant for that purpose, making school possible for many. One hundred more pupils, Christians and Moslems, could be enrolled in the school if there were room. Even the governor's daughter was refused, as it did not seem well to take high-class Moslems until a separate table and dormitory could be provided for them. The outlook is hopeful, but the workers there, as everywhere, feel one great need, and ask, "Pray for us."

The Anatolia Girls' School in Marsovan, eagerly preparing to celebrate in June its Fiftieth Anniversary, reports a successful year, with an enrollment of two hundred seventy-five, crowded dormitories and schoolrooms, and a marked gain in the quality of scholarship. Domestic science and music are very popular courses.
The Y. W. C. A. and the C. E. societies are conducting Sunday-schools, clothing the destitute, supporting a girl in India, and giving to needy soldiers and their families. "What Next" has been the presence of Turkish girls, four beautiful sisters in the boarding department, and others in the sewing classes. Finances are still a source of anxiety, and it has seemed necessary to again raise the price of board and tuition. Salaries, too, ought to be raised in order to keep good teachers. Miss Anna Felician is as busy as ever, teaching Bible classes, visiting even in Turkish homes, interested in all the activities of the school, and manager of an "Old Women's House." Bible women in the outlying villages are doing good work, not only teaching women to read, but holding meetings and proving themselves a great blessing. "They go out among the Greek villages, two by two, to read the Bible and pray and sing. The harvest time has come and the need of workers is great." Zarouhi is growing old in the service, but is most useful in many ways, teaching the women from house to house, leading meetings, and aiding the pastor and church in her village.

The kindergartens in Caesarea, Sivas, and Smyrna continue to bring joy to many little hearts, and through the children to touch many homes. Parties and entertainments on various occasions furnish opportunities for inspection of their work and progress, and much gratitude is shown for what is done for the children.

This is the record of What Has Been Next in Turkey. What Will Be Next in Turkey depends in large measure upon our interest, our gifts, our prayers. Let us give all three in liberal measure.
Micronesia.

"Letters written February 20th, May 26th, and June 3d, reached Kusaie August 6th." What a picture that gives us of the isolation of our missionaries in the Island World! Frequently one teacher must be absent from two to six months when touring to secure girls for the school, because of the irregular intervals when boats touch various islands. Miss Elizabeth Baldwin writes, "Under such circumstances it is evident that two teachers are not sufficient for this school; it is not right that one should be left alone with the care of both boys and girls, and no one to assist in case of illness of either teacher or pupils." A severe type of chicken pox interfered with the school work when twelve girls were ill in the dining room, which was used as an isolation ward, and four boys in a room the other side of the house. Miss Baldwin tells us that all the Kusaiens have been reached with the Gospel, and "while all are not true Christians, yet their lives are affected by the results of Christianity in the island," as shown by their habits of cleanliness and industry. She is much distressed by a tendency to wildness among the young people, and begs us to pray that these boys and girls may be won for the Master.

Spain.

Barcelona.—The Colegio Internacional reports a year of progress and expansion, which the new building helped to make possible. Its pupils have come from Protestant and Roman Catholic homes alike, representing many classes in society. Visitors invariably remark, "How happy these girls all are!"
The school has been graded and systematized as never before, and the standards raised to those of American schools.

Six students graduated in June; four of these have been teaching this year. Whether the pupils go out as teachers, or back into their homes, they carry the thought that Christianity influences everyday living; a thought surely worth spreading in any country.

Mexico.

Chihuahua.—Misses Prescott and Dunning, who had been ordered out of Parral, opened the Colegio Chihuahuense as usual in August. Owing to the unsettled condition of the country, Miss Long and Mrs. Blachly remained in El Paso until January, working in the Mexican school and church, whose attendants are more than half members of the Chihuahua church.

No effort was made to secure boarders in the Colegio, lest it should be necessary to close the school, but parents left their daughters, until there were fourteen in the family, and one hundred and thirty pupils enrolled.

The Methodist and Baptist schools have both been closed, so Miss Long writes, under date March 7th: "This is a great opportunity, for these young people are bright and ambitious, just at the receptive, formative age, and we are blessed in having a number of earnest Christian girls now in the house."

Mrs. Eaton, on February 22d, wrote from California: "Do not let any one think for a moment that it is unwise to put money into Mexico just now. Mining investments, yes! But missionary money was never more needed, nor sure to do more good than now. This is the period of re-construction in Mexico, and just the time for more missionaries and more money. If we were young how gladly we would give thirty years more to the work there. The new Mexico is to find its greatest strength in the young people educated in the Christian schools. Tell the dear New Haven Branch that if they could only double what they are now giving, that would be joy indeed."

Miss Long emphasizes the same thought when she writes: "Please express our gratitude to the New Haven Branch, and tell them that now more than ever we have a great work to do for afflicted Mexico. Her hope, as far as I can see, is only in a new generation of men and women of higher ideals and Christian training. We are so thankful to be here at this time."

The American Board recently sent telegrams to all our missionaries in Mexico, advising them to leave the country, and they are now in El Paso. We trust conditions will soon improve so they can return to the work and people whom they love.

CHINA.

Foochow.—The Bible-woman's Training School has been re-opened with Miss Daisy Brown in charge. Twenty-two mothers with fourteen children came for the opening—three of the children were only twelve and thirteen months old. Fortunately most of the little ones can attend school in the church near by, but Miss Brown was dismayed as she saw them approaching on the opening day. All the women are Christians who have had at least three years' work in a Station Class or girl's school. Miss Brown is very happy in taking up this work after her fourteen months of language study. She writes: “When you can see the women in the school learning something new about the Bible every day, and when you can go with them once a week into the desperately needy homes, where there is nothing but darkness and despair and hear them tell of the Christ of whom these have never heard, then it is at least easier to realize that the work you are doing counts.”

The medical work still awaits the physician to fill Dr. Woodhull’s place.

Mrs. Hubbard directs the Bible-women in their work at Ponasang and Pagoda Anchorage, and feels that their influence in the homes they visit is very great.

Miss Garretson reports a year of faithful work on the part of the students in the Boarding School, and an increasing desire to be helpful, not only in the school but outside. The training is so thorough that the parents prefer this to other schools, and it continues to increase in favor throughout the city.

Tungchow.—Close by the gate of the Tungchow compound stands the hospital where thousands of people come each year. “At the woman’s clinics held at 1 p. m. each day come an infinite number of ill ones; a mother, who has carried for miles, in spite of tiny bound feet, her little girl whose legs are covered with festered dog-bites; the young woman who fell into the fire and was horribly burned; oh! so many children with sore heads and eyes and with skin diseases too dreadful to mention. Here, too, comes the wealthy official’s wife, who has ridden in her cart with her waiting-woman to attend her,—or the rich old lady who says her eyes are troubling her,—the medicine-man had taken a needle and stirred up the pupils,—or the pretty tubercular girl with gay flowers in her black hair and gayer color on her hectic cheeks. Each day they come, and each day a missionary or some Chinese Christian woman goes to meet them, to welcome them, make friends and invite them to church, to explain that the Christians want to help men's souls as well as their bodies. Perhaps they can persuade some mother to send her children to a Christian school, or they tell the listening women about the Father who loves and grieves for them. If they become in-patients, each day they gather for prayers, and study and read, till many of them have gone home with new joy and hope."

As a year was added to the course in the Boarding School, there were no graduates last year, but the term closed with the reading of essays, singing and gymnastics, in the presence of mothers and sisters. Two of the young teachers and three girls went to a Y. W. C. A. summer conference, held in an old temple near Peking. At first the girls said, "What a bore to go to so many meetings!" They went back to school, enthusiastic over their experiences and with a desire to serve. A part of the girls were asked to take charge of two Sunday afternoon meetings for women and children; others to go calling with the Bible women, or to have a Bible class for the younger girls, while still others substituted for Miss Leavens at the Hospital, where she goes once a week to talk to the women at the clinic.

It is not strange that after forty-five years of service in North China, Miss Andrews writes: "The great trouble is that I come to the end of my strength easily, and cannot keep at work all the time as I could in my younger days." She adds, "Never were so many homes open for work—never so many people waiting to be taught.” It was necessary for her to have five station classes in the city, because of the number who desired to be taught, and the same eagerness was shown in the out-stations, where the classes are conducted by the Bible women. Miss Andrews writes, “Mrs. Frame has thrown herself into the work with her usual vigor and enthusiasm, and it feels the impetus of her fresh life.”

Tientsin.—While Miss Sewall has been studying Chinese in Peking, she has been helping our boys and girls to see strange Chinese sights through her eyes, to get acquainted with the children as she sees them at play, and to become interested in their missionary and all that she is doing. Already she has won a large place for herself with the children who share in her support.

AfricA.

As so many of the Inanda graduates are teaching in small schools, and as there is less opposition on the part of parents to their children attending these schools, Inanda has again raised its standard, until now it is practically high school grade. When the needed dormitory is built, the fifth grade pupils will be sent from Umzumbi to Inanda. Umzumbi will then be the primary boarding school, and Inanda the school for higher grade work. One hundred and eighty girls were enrolled last year. Mrs. Edwards, advanced in years, but young in spirit, has continued her active service in the school. Choice fruits and vegetables appeared early on the teachers' table from the garden which Mrs. Edwards had superintended in planting.
There has been eager competition among the girls to secure the largest amount possible from the individual garden plots. The two general gardens were planted by the "workers" and the "mark girls." The "workers" are those who are unable to pay their school fee of $12.50 a term, and earn this amount by helping whenever their services are needed. The "mark girls" are those who have had marks for misconduct and whose punishment is twenty minutes' garden work for each mark, work to be done on their recreation afternoon.

The water supply is at last completed, so there will be less anxiety during the dry season.

A building for domestic science is an imperative need, and a thoroughly trained teacher to superintend this department. For many years the girls have been taught laundry work, sewing and field work, but Miss Phelps feels that they should have a thorough training for domestic service. She began last year with a small group of girls, using Stanwood Cottage, the teachers' home, as a practise cottage for general housework; but many pupils now in the school would gladly stay for further training, and others would come for this special course, if they had a proper teacher and equipment. The government is greatly interested in this line of work for the Zulu girls and would make a grant for its sustenance if once started.

Miss Phelps writes, "We have heard the good news that the New Haven Branch has undertaken to collect the funds for the new Industrial Building, as a part of their Golden Anniversary gift. We shall be thankful for the building, but when will the Board find the teachers we have so long been calling for?"
Mrs. Edwards has always been especially interested in teaching the Zulu girls all kinds of industrial work, that they might be better home makers. Can we more fittingly celebrate her eighty-fifth birthday, and forty-sixth year as our missionary in South Africa, than by securing the means for the building and the teachers to carry on the work which she has established?

JAPAN.

In the "Flowery Kingdom" of Cherry Blossoms we seem first to see trees in the forms of the little tots in Mrs. Learned's wonderfully successful Kindergarten! Her reports of individual children, their growth and development even in one year's time, read almost like fairy tales. The influence of the new songs translated into Japanese idiom and style has been more marked than ever before. One day forty of the older children were taken in a "Special Trolley Car" to the "Zoo." On the way they passed a new church in the process of building. They knew without being told what it was and a little voice called out, "Let's sing 'When Jesus was a little child' for His sake, because we are going by His house!" Were you to ask any one of them if they knew Jesus, the whole circle would reply in chorus, with uplifted hands, "I know Him." They are convinced that Jesus "loves little children."

The second look brings to our vision such plants, fast developing into the fruit bearing sturdy growths, coupled with the satisfying beauty of Wisteria vines, all of "our" Miss Judson's planting. Reports of the Girls' School and the Night School bring news of steady growth, increasing devotion to duty, and faithful perseverance. The pupils and teachers of the two schools have conducted two Sunday Schools with an average attendance of two hundred and fifty. Of the ten graduates of last year's regular class, five have been baptized and five are unbaptized Christians. "One of these girls has entered Kobe College; another the Doshisha; and one the Hiroshima Kindergarten Training class. Of the seven girls who remained through the year for special work, six have been baptized." A former graduate is doing good work as a Bible woman. Since "the generosity of the New Haven Branch" gave to the Night School a suitable building for a schoolhouse, the old one is available as a dormitory. An entrance fee has been asked during the past year, but the numbers steadily increase. Of seventeen residing there eight have been baptized, "Two Night School boys have entered the Doshisha and one young teacher, who was himself brought to Christ through attending the Night School as a student, is preparing, later on, to enter the Doshisha Theological course." In October, Miss Judson began her anticipated furlough and has come to us for a short rest. We welcome her with the Master's own blessing, "Well done, good and faithful servant." Miss Judson's return trip happily included the attendance in Burma of the Judson Centenary, the only one of Adoniram Judson's kinsfolk who could be present. During Miss Judson's absence, Miss Hoyt is in charge of our Matsuyama garden of beauty and toil, and she is "doing beautiful work." "The Christian Schools," Miss Judson says, "are to make the workers of the future," and a suitable new building is what she hopes the Woman's Board will put on its "next" schedule of Golden Anniversary needs.
India.

A Century of Mission work in India has been accomplished! For one hundred full years America’s message about the Christ has been delivered in Bombay and its vicinity! The Centenary celebrations were most impressive, and the spirit of enthusiasm, mingled with the marked gratitude of the Indian Churches and communities to America and her missionaries, was an inspiration to all who attended. At the opening meeting at the Town Hall in Bombay Christians and non-Christians alike expressed great appreciation of the work and influence of the American Christian missionaries. A distinguished non-Christian lawyer spoke with gratitude of the “Important American Mahrathi Mission,” and the large part it had played in producing present conditions. In closing, he added, “The phrase ‘missionary’ is now definitely and willingly accepted to indicate a life consecrated in the interest of work carried on along right lines and done in a spirit of devotion, faith and sacrifice.”

On the 24th of February, the actual date of the century’s completion, there were services held in commemoration of the first landing and the beginnings of work by the earliest group of American missionaries. The Indian Christians had made request that their new church should be named for their “beloved, sainted servant of God, Rev. Edward S. Hume.” The request was granted and in the “Hume Memorial Church” all the remaining services were held. Thus those of the present generation were reminded, as one of their number said, to “Praise God for enabling the American Board of Foreign Missions to interpret to us the facts and realities of a Christian life by the sweetness and purity of his life and character.”
Of the Women's meetings, where American delegates spoke so helpfully, and distinguished Indian women gave words to their gratitude; where one, the widow of a distinguished Indian judge, a friend of our Mrs. Karmarkar, read in English, a most discriminating paper; of the “wonderful pageant”, illustrating the history of conditions during the decades of the century’s progress; of the exhibit showing the various industries conducted by the Mission in its institutions; of the inspiring praise services, both at Bombay and Ahmednagar, we can only hint here, referring you for detailed reading to the published report of it all. Fitting services of offerings were held in both cities, and out of their well-being, or poverty from famine conditions, nearly Rs. 15,000, or $5,000, were given by the people. Hundreds of Christians gave an entire month’s salary to this fund in addition to their gifts to the church. Pupils in schools worked in play hours and gave from their scanty food and clothing to this Thank Offering fund. Probably the largest gift of all from this great festival is the definite decision that in the new century the people will themselves support and control their own churches. A “Servants of India” Society has since been formed including non-Christians. Thus America’s Christian connection with India has been marked by devotion and self-sacrifice, faithful service and growing enthusiasm here and there. What share shall we hold in the labors of the new century? Surely nothing less than the continued support of the missionaries, Bible women, schools, and hospitals that are large factors in making possible such a celebration.

Our Dr. Gurabai Karmarkar has had the disappointment of a smaller number of patients than usual in her dispensary, because economy made necessary her removal to the pastor's house on the Mission premises; but the community, new for her, has begun to appreciate her presence, and patients are coming in more frequently. She has been much gratified at being elected a second time as the delegate from India to the International meeting of the Y. W. C. A., this year to be held in Stockholm. The mission has granted her a leave of absence of five months as a long deserved rest and furlough. One of her adopted sons has won his B.A. degree. He is the first one of all the famine children taken into our Byculla Boys' School to attain this degree. He is hoping to come to the United States to study medicine. Another one of these famine boys is an active worker of the Bible Society. Both are on the standing committee of the Bombay Church, and one has just been elected Treasurer of the church and of the local Y. M. C. A.

Of the ministry of the Women's hospital in Ahmednagar one could write volumes. Skill and cunning of hand seem marked among Dr. Ruth Hume's many talents, and head and heart combine with these to heal and save bodies and souls. She tells us an incident of a Hindu woman in the Hospital for a serious operation, whose husband is the intelligent head-man of a nearby village. One day Dr. Hume gave him some tracts to read. On Sunday when he came, she invited him to attend a church service, and at its close introduced him to her father. He walked home with Dr. Robert Hume, who gave him "the essence of Christianity, in a short, beautiful talk." When he came later to take his wife home he was most thoughtful of her. Before leaving, they garlanded the Doctors and Miss Johnson, and he promised that he would read the Bible to his wife.

Miss Bruce writes of the happy condition of the girls' schools, of the great pressure of work, and the relief that Miss Gates' return has brought, and says that the time demanded by the Centenary has been well worth while, in the enthusiasm and earnestness of spirit created. There is so much sickness there that the streets "at early morn­ing and at nightfall looked like a city of the dead." All the city schools had been closed.

Mrs. Sibley, in her "General oversight of the evangelis­tic work for men and women" and of the Widows Home in Wai, reports with much joy the spirit of the workers in their systematic Bible study and preparation for work. The Bible women were faithful in visiting even when plague and cholera were about them. There have been three deaths in the Abbott Home; one an aged widow, and two children. Miss Gordon writes of the opening of a new school in Kenjal, six miles from Wai. The people had offered the use of a temple, but as the teacher could not live there, a lot was secured after many contentions, on which there was a house for the teacher. During the plague, schools were sometimes held under trees in open fields.

From Madura Miss Chandler reports much satisfac­tion in the improved conduct of the two hundred and fourteen pupils in Capren Hall, in the Kindergarten Training School and in the various Hindu Schools. We rejoiced last year that Miss Zada Curtiss, whom we have considered our "Young Ladies' missionary," had changed her temporary appointment to a permanent one, but now, with grateful appreciation of what Miss Curtiss has done with us and for us, we must accept the news that she is to take a still more permanent matrimonial appointment which withdraws her from the immediate service of the Woman’s Board. We are sure that both she and we are glad of these few years when we have worked together for India’s young women. One notable event in this Mission has been the visit of the sympathetic Viceroy of India, and his laying of the corner stone of the new College. Lord Pentland, the Governor of Madras, had recently paid them a visit, and was particularly pleased with the work done at Capron Hall. In the visitors’ book he wrote, “A powerful center of Christian influence, and an admirable school, and still a pioneer, for its capabile and sympathetic management is marked by progressive and up-to-date methods. To have educated about 5,000 women and to have sent out not less than 750 trained teachers is a splendid contribution to women’s education, the influence of which on Southern India cannot be measured.”

Dr. Parker’s return meant volumes to the women of the city of Madura and the regions round about. Her frail body seems to be endowed with more of the fibre of endurance than is given to most mortals. Her hospital work, so effective, so far-reaching, so helpful to the “suffering child-women of India” has been hampered and cramped at every turn by buildings unsuitably located, poorly equipped and insufficient in size. That the Woman’s Board puts a new and adequate Hospital for this noble work of Dr. Parker’s among its next objects for Golden Anniversary gifts rejoices her heart. There is hope too, that out of the extra gifts of the next three years will come the long desired new headquarters for the Bible
Women. We have thirteen Bible women in this Mission going quietly about and accomplishing what no other workers could even attempt. Miss Swift’s last report of them says, “First, they are continuing the work done by the mission schools for Hindu girls. The children’s education is abruptly broken off by marriage. The Bible women find them years after and build on what they already know. Secondly, they develop the mental capacities of hundreds of women, and show them how to use their time profitably. They tell them about God, man, the soul, eternity, and teach truths quite new to them. Finally they are their true friends, comforters and sympathizers, and lead them to the best friend.”

Ours is a God-given share of what is coming next in the Drama of the Nations. May the coming year find us seers of a world-wide vision, partakers of world-wide interest, doers of world-wide service, our hearts overflowing with world-encompassing love, and offering world-encompassing prayer.
