CONDENSED MINUTES.

The 46th annual meeting of the Branch was held on May 8th in the Center Church, New Haven. The topic for the day was "Increased Offerings." Beginning with a brief inspiring prayer service led by Miss Susan Daggett, in a room near, this theme was developed throughout the programme. That the warfare to establish the principles of the Prince of Peace which is the business of the Woman's Board, must have larger gifts of Money and Life to sustain it, was the inference of each report. "Lives given for Christ" make possible the machinery and secure the money reported by the Home Secretaries and Treasurer. "Lives given for Christ" make possible the results reported by the Foreign Secretaries. Our part in the Golden Anniversary Gift, and in the Jubilee Increase Campaign was presented upon banners brought to the front by County Vice-Presidents, and Junior Secretaries. Each Vice-President was then given an opportunity to tell some interesting incident in either of these Jubilee efforts.

Mrs. W. L. Adam of Pittsfield, Mass., representing both the Woman's Board and the Golden Anniversary Gift Committee, emphasized the value of "increased equipment" for those fine women "with the best sort of training whom we are sending out." She illustrated her point with special reference to our interest in the work of Miss Cornelia Judson in Japan, and closed with a ringing note of optimistic prophecy that we shall follow the example of England and give more to missions than ever before in the face of unprecedented taxation and demands.

Mrs. C. C. Elwell of New Haven led in a service of consecration in which prayer was offered by Mrs. Hazen of Middletown, Mrs. Carter of Washington and Mrs. Bunnell of Stratford.

After adjournment for luncheon, served at the Center Church House to 450 ladies, the afternoon session was opened by singing the Jubilee Hymn, prepared for another occasion by Mrs. W. W. McLane. Mrs. L. B. Fritts made offerings of life and money applied to Christian education in Mexico, seem more worth while than the larger sums spent by the government, as she contrasted the splendid qualities of Mexicans as she knew them, with some of their faults.

Mrs. Goodwin of Litchfield under the title "I am debtor," roused both the Christian and patriotic impulses of the audience by a call to interpret the war as an uplifting of God in the world. "Peace at God's price comes when you and I are true to the best that is in us," she said, and urged all women to support missionary work, since to spread the love of Christ is the best means of keeping the world safe from future war.

Rev. Mr. Pedley, just returning to his life work in Japan, urged us to help raise that $25,000 for needed school buildings at Matsuyama because the present meagre equipment gave a false impression to the Japanese of our ideals for Christian education, saying that we should never be sorry to have stood back of Miss Judson in her efforts for "the New Home makers of Japan."

Special gifts for the expenses of the meeting made it possible to devote the collection, taken during an impressive solo by Miss Marjorie Kilborn, "May we, like Magdalene, lay at thy feet," to the Golden Anniversary Gift. The result was $174.00, which completed our $10,000 for the Industrial Building at Inanda. As $500.00 was later sent for this collection, there was $600.00 added for the Matsuyama Fund from the offertory.

Rev. Harlan P. Beach closed the meeting with prayer and benediction.
HOME REPORT.

SENIOR DEPARTMENT.

The Jubilee Increase Campaign has been our gathering-cry for a twelve-month and more, and there has been no small stir in so great a matter. The way is still open for further progress along lines of growth both in members and societies before the goal is won. This is in itself an appeal. Will you continue the task to the finish? "Will you enter the last months of the campaign with enthusiastic gifts of money and of life?"

Out of 135 societies all but fourteen have made returns. Eighty-eight societies have reported new members: two, 100 per cent; twelve, 50 per cent; and twenty-seven, 25 per cent. You who have been most active in this campaign know the fascination of success, and surely all will welcome the opportunity to redeem the time which precedes your county meeting, when it is hoped every society may be awarded the insignia of Jubilee, having reached the standard set before them one year ago. At this moment you may count eight new Societies. Three are senior, five junior; new Junior contributing societies fourteen; and 1,371 new members, 337 of these being Junior. This is a far-away cry from 3,340. Let me repeat what is expected of us: thirty-four new societies, thirty contributing societies, and 3,340 new members. As aids in the campaign the Woman's Board has furnished an ample supply of inspiring literature, which you are urged to distribute and to give more than a cursory reading. We cannot leave this subject without reminding you that when each one feels and bears her share of responsibility the burden will be light.

Two news bulletins have been issued during the year and probably more letters of missionaries have been sent out than in some former years, at least that is the grateful testimony of the president of one society. Not only by these copied manuscripts, but also by maps, by literature of a varied character, and by the distribution of the text-book of mission study, has the secretary of the Bureau of Information sought to capture your minds and hearts, and hold you loyal in the work to which you are pledged.

The reports that to you seem wearisome and monotonous possess more interest and value at headquarters than you can believe. That your society of seven members in a very small church can maintain your organization, and send forward year after year the amount pledged, is an inspiring example; that you with fast-depleting membership are resolved to keep on as long as one remains is an object lesson in continuance in well-doing; that you secure at your meetings an attendance of 55 per cent of your membership is a testimony that bears repeating; that you are continuing as in former years and gathering contributions and distributing missionary reading will never be a story too often told. "He that hath ears to hear let him hear." We congratulate you that you turned to good account the inspiration of the Woman's Board annual meeting; that you have enjoyed and profited by the illustrated lecture on the Golden Anniversary Gift; that you have a "missionary" automobile; that you have been able to do hard and conscientious work and in it have won success; that you have felt repaid in your mission study, whichever it might be, "World Missionary and World Peace" or "Pioneer and Present Day Workers"; that you have at first hand the good letters of Miss Katie Wilcox, because she was your townswoman, and you can hope to keep in touch with her and her work in Madura, India; that you can testify to the continued popularity of the Interdenominational Lecture Course on Missions.

It is recorded of one whose name has been very familiar in our annals these many years that she went away, "just awa'" at the Thanksgiving season. "Of her, it may well be said 'She hath done what she could.' At different times she had filled most acceptably all the official positions in the gift of the society. In her memory we present our Golden Anniversary Gift feeling that in no other way could it be better perpetuated and honored." In this tribute to Mrs. Loveland we would honor in like manner the work of valued members of other societies who have now slipped away beyond our ken.

The autumn meetings were held in each of our four counties as usual. The missionary message at Cornwall was brought by Mrs. Woodward of Micronesia; at Portland, Madison and New­town by Mrs. Howland of Chihuahua, Mexico. It is with feelings of intense interest that we recall these occasions and accord our missionary friends in their distant fields our sympathy and thanks.

We are indebted to Miss McKowan, Miss Pinneo, Miss Maki Hitotsuyanagi, Miss Hiwale and Mr. Theodore for their service in other Branch meetings and desire in this way to convey our appreciation; Miss Hitotsuyanagi has become quite familiar with our near-by home field, having made ten visits in our constituency. Visits to 80 societies have been made by different members of the executive committee. Union meetings have been quite frequent during the last few months and the "getting together" scheme has been pronounced most helpful.

"Pilgrims on the King's Highway," call it a drama if you will, was given so successfully by members of the Church of the Redeemer society, that it was repeated at the New Haven county meeting—and by the urgent request, with a few changes in personnel, at other places where it was most warmly commended.

Our January executive meeting was memorable in that it was preceded by a morning conference of Branch officers and officers of the sixteen senior societies within the limits of the city of New Haven. This was followed by a social hour when luncheon was served. Mrs. Beach, vice-president of this division, conceived the plan and conducted the conference, which proved so well worth while, it may become an annual event.
Our executive committee has received from the Woman's Board of the Pacific a choice addition to its membership in the arrival among us of Mrs. Wm. Horace Day. We are happy to welcome her to the activities of life at the East.

Our list of life-members has been revised at the request of the Woman's Board who seek to make life-membership more significant. It is a task that has occupied Miss Twining for days and weeks. No one else could be so well qualified to undertake it and no one else would have had the courage to begin and unabated ardor to continue. She has traced changes in residence to remote states and sent to the Board lists of names by the hundreds. Now that it is accomplished it seems more than ever an almost herculean task. The Board has acknowledged this work with most appreciative thanks and we owe Miss Twining unlimited gratitude.

Lo! a New Year standeth at the door. What of the unfulfilled desires? It gives no pleasure to remember how miserably we have failed or how miserably we may fail in the future. Shall we not "mobilize" the "units" of experience and faith and hope and with them march forward fearlessly and bravely into the field that beckons?

Thera W. Fairchild,
Home Secretary.

HOME REPORT.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT.

The Jubilee Campaign has been the chief feature of the work of the Junior Department during the past year. We set out to gain twenty-four new Junior Societies and fifteen new Contributing Societies and one thousand new members. It is encouraging to be able to announce that we have seventeen new Sunday Schools, as Contributing Societies, and four primary departments which are now giving as well as the older departments of the same schools. We have eighteen new societies, and most of these, as well as some of our old societies, have organized either as Junior Jubilee Societies or as belonging to the O. J. S. (Order of Jubilee Societies). Our increase in membership does not approach our goal so closely as do the figures for the societies. We can count 315 new members.

This work has been accomplished almost entirely by the magic of the Jubilee plan itself and by the devotion of the women in the churches, since the secretaries have, with the exception of two of their number, who have done good work, been handicapped by illness or other duties. They have distributed circulars, forwarded Missionary letters and answered questions, but have been unable to do advance work. We still have six months before November, and we ought to be able to do the necessary talking and writing to come up to our apportionment and to surpass it.

In this effort we are to be helped by several new workers. The Junior Department is to be reorganized as a committee, with Mrs. Henry M. Osborn and Miss Helen Chatfield in charge of correspondence and missionaries’ letters, Mrs. James A. Honeij in charge of literature, and Miss Josephine Burgess, as before, in charge of Sunday School work. Since the last annual meeting, Miss Frances A. Blakeman has held the office of Secretary of Mission Circle in Fairfield County for nearly nine months, and Miss Viola Goodrich, for two months, the office of Secretary for Christian Endeavor Societies in Middlesex County. We hope to have them continue the good work which they have begun. Three of the secretaries have had to resign. Mrs. Prindle has been the mentor of the New Haven County societies for three years, and while we shall miss her greatly, particularly since she has no successor, we know that she will be glad to help us unofficially when she is able. Miss Bailey in Middlesex County worked with us for only one year, but in that time put through an immense amount of letter writing, which is beginning to tell. Miss Mills corresponded with our few ewe lambs of Christian Endeavor Societies in Fairfield County, though a broken leg and conflicting interests interfered with much extension of the work.

It is a pleasant coincidence that a letter from Miss Bruce, thanking us for the box sent to Ahmednagar a year ago, should have arrived just before the annual meeting. The emphasis which she places on the value of the simple bags and cases and patchwork and Bible pictures, which the children make, should be an encouragement to every leader of a children's society. If transportation does not become too expensive, we must continue our boxes.

One interesting event of the year was the joint Home and Foreign Missionary Rally held in New Haven at Center Church House on April 13. It was the first joint meeting of its kind in New Haven and also the first, within the present secretary's experience, where a meeting included also a supper. Both innovations were successful. The attendance, almost entirely young girls and young women, was about two hundred at the supper and more in the evening. The speakers were our own Miss Calder and Miss Scammon of the Woman's Home Missionary Federation. Since the meeting we have had several requests for the little plays which were presented, as the girls wished to carry to their own churches the idea that our help is immediately and continually needed in mission lands.

The reports of previous years have nearly always contained an appeal to the women in the auxiliaries to do something for the young people. Their help has been so splendid in so many churches this year that only a little appeal is left for a few to follow the example of the churches with new Junior societies. On the other hand, with the new organization and the new workers, the Junior committee would like to promise the best help it can give to all the women in the auxiliaries and to the Junior leaders. Our Jubilee year should be a year of renewed gifts of life and service on the part of us all.

Turkey.

Truly spoke the prophet of old, "He giveth power to the faint, and to them that have no might He increaseth strength." Over and over again during the year have these words been "tried and proved" by our missionaries in Turkey. How else could they have endured the terrible strain under which they have been living,—surrounded by misery and wretchedness which they could do so little to relieve; enduring hardships and privations which before would have seemed unsupportable; cut off almost entirely from communication with the homeland; receiving no food, drugs or supplies of any kind for nearly three years; and yet calmly staying at their post, comforting, aiding, encouraging, in some cases protecting their stricken people, with no thought of personal danger to themselves, and no note of dismay or discouragement in their letters. These, alas, have been very few, and necessarily meager in detail, but they are all full of the strength from above. There are still about ninety missionaries of the American Board in Turkey, and some of these are women belonging to the Woman's Board, there, not because of Board requirements, but because "the love of Christ constraineth" them. Just what effect our entrance into the world-conflict will have upon these devoted workers, no one can yet tell; but one thing is certain,—in the longed-for day when the "trumpet of the jubilee" can "publish glad tidings of peace," a greater work than ever will open before us in Turkey, and we must be prepared with offerings of money and of life, to take to this land the “Tidings of Jesus, redemption and release.”

AINTAB.—No missionaries have come from Aintab recently, and letters have not reached us, so there is no detailed account of the work there. The Orphanage and the Girls’ School have been able to care for some of the destitute, though sadly in need of money and supplies. Miss Trowbridge writes, “There are still many difficulties, but the Lord is with us. I am very busy usually, as our hospital work is going on. Dr. Hamilton has heavy work these days.” We can only imagine the privations in this hospital, as in all others in Turkey, without the needful supplies, nurses or physicians.

ADANA.—“Our school opened in September with a larger number of pupils than ever,” writes Miss Borel. Finding it impossible to spend her vacation, as she so much desired, with her family in Switzerland, she contentedly passed her summer camping out in a neighboring vineyard. Although Adana has not suffered as severely from deportation as some other stations, she adds, “The every-day tales make the heart sore.”

VAN.—After the repeated capture of the city, with accompanying fires and bombardments, only four of the Mission buildings are in serviceable condition. One of these is the church, now used on Sunday morning by the Russians as a military chapel, and later in the day by the remnants of the Protestant community, with a curtain concealing the sacredness of the altar from profane eyes.

Dr. Raynolds, and Mr. Yarrow with his family, are in Erivan, Russia, about one hundred and fifty miles distant, carrying on relief, industrial and evangelistic work among the thousands of homeless and destitute refugees, many of whom are their own people from Van. Mr. Yarrow writes, “We are glad we came, because our very presence is an encouragement to the people, and the money sent by our Committee helps thousands of real sufferers.” There is great need of funds now, simply to keep these folk alive; and when they return to their former homes there will be even greater needs,—food, money, farming utensils, seed for planting, everything with which to begin life over again.

Mr. Yarrow visited Van, following the route over which they all fled the previous year, and finding the roadside strewn with ghastly evidences of the terrible massacre which had taken place there shortly after their escape.

Miss Silliman has been studying in New York this year, that she may have still richer and deeper equipment for her work when she returns.

Bitlis.—The Station is closed, but Mr. and Mrs. Maynard are among the force in Erivan, trying to get into touch with their people, and aiding many refugees from that place. Miss Shane and Miss McLaren are still in Harpoot, the latter suffering from a severe injury to her knee, which has rendered her helpless for many weary months.

Harpoot.—The missionaries have enjoyed the favor of the local government, and have continued their work in the Girls’ School and the hospital. Also much relief has been given to the poor and needy, some who escaped deportation, and some refugees from farther north. In June Mrs. Parmelee, one of the first seven missionaries of the Woman’s Board, fell asleep, adding one more to the long list of “saints who from their labors rest.”

When the Minister of War inspected the hospital, where many Turkish soldiers had been treated, he spoke with great appreciation of Dr. Atkinson, whose death we chronicled last year, asked if he left a son, and pinned a military decoration on the twelve-year-old boy’s coat, as a token of the esteem of the Government.

Miss Mary Riggs succeeded in reaching this country last summer, after a perilous journey across Turkey from Harpoot to Beirut, thence to Constantinople, through Germany and Denmark, to America. Mrs. Riggs wrote, even after the death of her little daughter, "Isn't it good that we can be here and have so much opportunity to help and comfort!" And again, "What a blessing to have a God who is true and able!"

MARDIN.—In August, Mrs. Andrus went to her heavenly home, leaving in the Station at Mardin only three women.—Mrs. and Miss Dewey and Miss Graf. As they were near the possible path of the Russian army, they were ordered to leave; but they steadfastly refused to abandon the crowds of destitute refugees whose only comfort they were, and are still there. Miss Graf wrote,—"We have been kept in safety and peace for nearly two years of this fearful war, and please God we would like to stay by the stuff."

MARSOVAN.—On the very day after our last annual meeting, word reached the missionaries at Marsovan that war was about to be declared between Germany and the United States, that the Government needed all their buildings, and that they must leave in a few days. Protests were of no avail, and a week later they set forth under armed escort for Constantinople, leaving their whole plant,—hospital, college and school buildings, mills and workshops, library, museum, thirteen residences,—unsealed and unregistered, in the hands of the Turks.

After two months of persistent effort, five of the party, including the indomitable Miss Willard and Miss Gage, were allowed to return. They are still living in very cramped quarters, only a few rooms, as the buildings are occupied by the soldiers and officers; but they say, "We have thousands of things for which to be grateful. We have seen the power of good accomplish daily miracles, and our prayer is that the coming year be filled with spiritual blessings." Among their material blessings is a plentiful supply of onions, a great help in feeding their family. The King School for the Deaf and a kindergarden have been in operation in an old building. The girls divide their time between lessons and sewing for the soldiers, turning out over a thousand pieces a week of new and mended garments and bedding, anxious to show themselves good patriots.
During the fall and winter about three thousand men were quartered on the Mission premises, where one thousand might have been cared for comfortably. "The crowd was more than the grounds could carry, more than the water and sewers could take care of, more than the city could feed. . . . There was almost no one to care for the sick except the girls of the school. Perhaps they were saved for that." Contagious and infectious diseases,—typhus, cholera, small-pox and others—were lodged in the missionaries' own houses, and even after thorough disinfection it is doubtful if some of the buildings will ever be safe again. The authorities tried to keep things clean according to their lights, but the over-crowding made their efforts of no avail. The soldiers and officers were extremely rude and insolent, claiming everything as their own, and denying the missionaries' right to even their personal belongings.

Since February conditions have improved somewhat, but Miss Willard says, "We are working up to the very limit of our strength. . . . We are glad, most glad, of all money help." The need of money for relief is very great, and it is thought that in the event of war, it can still be sent and distributed.

No word of discouragement comes from those banished from their field of labor, for they write, "We definitely expect to get our buildings back again and to go on with our work in our Father's good time. We are all holding ourselves in readiness to go when the time comes."

Sivas.—About the same time as at Marsovan, the missionaries were ordered to leave Sivas, as the Government wished to occupy the school buildings and hospital, in which over twelve thousand soldiers had already been cared for. Miss Graffam and Miss Fowle were allowed to remain, but in November came Miss Fowle's death from typhus; and now Miss Graffam is there alone, struggling with the problem of giving relief to many starving refugees.
Smyrna.—The Girls’ School has gone on as usual, barring some interruptions by bomb attacks from hostile aeroplanes. Miss McCallum writes,—“I received a letter of credit lately which gives me a great deal of pleasure. I am using it to give lunches to our thirty-three poorest children. I wish you could see their delight. They can hardly wait for the bell to ring at noon. I wish the kind friend who sent it could know what is being done with the money. I have enjoyed it more than anything I have had for a long, long time. We have a good large school this year,—at present two hundred and seventy-two, twenty-nine of whom are boarders. We are kept very busy, although our graduates are doing good work for us. We are all keeping well and enjoying our work. It seems very worth while at present.”

Port Said, Egypt.—One result of the war is the broadening of our field; our work extending in one direction, as we have seen, into Russia; and now, on the other, into Egypt. Mrs. Lillian Cole Sewny, formerly a missionary nurse at Sivas, whose husband died of typhus soon after the outbreak of the war, again offered her services to the Board, and was gladly adopted by the New Haven Branch. After a brief rest in this country, as it was impossible to return to Turkey, she, with Miss Kinney, went to Port Said to aid in the relief work there.

On the bank of the Suez Canal, with its hundreds of tents stretching out to the edge of the desert, this Camp shelters thousands of Armenian refugees, brought here for safety, and cared for by the English Government and various Relief and Red Cross Organizations. These refugees are chiefly from mountain villages, and are naturally homesick on the level sands of Egypt; but they say that God saved them from the Turk as He saved the Hebrews from Pharaoh. The industrial work in the Camp is varied,—weaving cotton cloth and rugs; making lace, spoons, combs, baskets and handkerchiefs; filling a Government contract for five hundred shirts a day; baking twenty thousand buns and cakes daily for Y. M. C. A. tea-rooms in Port Said and other places,—everything possible being done to furnish employment for these persecuted people.

Mrs. Sewny has many duties,—she visits in the tents, oversees the making and distributing of clothing, superintends a day-nursery, carries on a large Sunday school, supervises the diet-kitchen where extra food is prepared for the sick and for little children,—no light task, but she writes, "I am very glad that my coming was possible, and I shall be very happy here until I can return to Sivas."

INDIA.

BOMBAY.—Because of the great call for specialized training in the big city of Bombay, the High School, which has long trained its pupils in useful occupations, is to be developed hereafter more along the lines of a Commercial School. The superintendence of the girls in the boarding department is one of the manifold duties of Mrs. Picken. She writes, "Is this object only a name to the home people? Bowker Hall to me stands for nearly one hundred souls to be loved and prayed for. When I think what my mother has done and is doing for me, and then consider my Bowker Hall girls, the mothers of many of whom are a name and a by-word, I am staggered at the responsibility God has put on me. What each girl needs is a mother, and how can I be that to so many, with all my daily tasks? The opportunities I have had to get into loving, personal touch with the girls have shown me hearts most responsive, so that I want to be multiplied by ten in order to do more satisfactory mothering."

Here is a hint of the appeal that comes in letters from all of our missionaries who are connected with schools,—a plea for a larger staff, not that the days may be less full of work, but that executive duties may not crowd out intimate personal association with the girls. Here in Bombay, Miss Picken, who also is connected with the school, has gone to live in Bowker
Hall, for this very purpose of more intimately reaching the girls. With Mrs. Picken's experience as a medical missionary in mind, we are interested to hear her say; "I do feel and know the magnificent opportunities and great importance of our medical work, but truly it is the school which is showing Christ to India in the way of character development. It is in the dormitory where boys and girls come into contact with living representatives of Christ, and nothing to my mind is comparable to the daily line upon line and precept upon precept that will result in the 'living epistles' which India needs to-day."

A year ago we reported Dr. Karmarkar as about taking a year's leave of absence because of her health. The arrangements for the care of the medical work proved so troublesome to make, however, that she began to see God's hand in the difficulties; and meantime, during the delay, her health began to improve. A three months' vacation was at length decided upon as adequate, and since its close Dr. Karmarkar has been able, with care, to continue her practice. At the dispensary she is carrying on work among poor Mohammedan women of the weaver caste, many of whom suffer from softening of the bones due to insufficient nourishment and to the practice of sitting on damp floors while working. Among rich and poor Dr. Karmarkar's personality and character do much to recommend the faith that animates her.

Ahmednagar.—At Ahmednagar the outstanding feature of the medical work is the great outbreak of plague, with its attendant inoculations. The almost complete immunity of the Christians has again furnished its object lesson, and the demand for inoculation among the non-Christians, so very difficult to bring about in the past, has at length grown to be great. The doctors at Ahmednagar, with the assistance of some of the staff from Wai, have performed over fourteen thousand inoculations, and they predict that any future epidemic will bring an insistent and prompt demand for the treatment. A ward in the hospital has been given up to plague patients, and the children's ward has been filled with weak little new-born babies, whose mothers were victims of the disease. Though the hospital work has been heavy, the scattering of thousands of people to the villages—only too often carrying the plague with them—has correspondingly lessened the number of dispensary cases.

Bible women's work and day schools have shared in the general disorganization, but have been carried on wherever and however they could be. Prayer circles organized early in the year, and led by Bible women and other Christian women, have in many cases deepened the spiritual life, and some of the circles have been maintained throughout the epidemic.

The Boarding School was kept open as long as possible, but by August it was completely encircled by the plague, and prudence demanded that it be closed. The enforced vacation was particularly unfortunate for the Senior girls, who were taking the new courses preparatory to university entrance examinations; and when conditions proved slow in changing, it was decided to take these girls to Satara. There they remained, studying, for two months, until, during the latter part of November, the school reopened. The interruption of the routine, and all the detail involved in the development of the higher courses have made the year a hard one for the small staff of missionaries. But again the amount of work carried is not in itself the great difficulty. "Practically all of our time," says Miss Bruce, "has gone to executive work, so that we have not been able to have the intimate relations with our girls that seem to be essential for the development of strong character. We are sending urgent appeals to the Woman's Board for a larger staff." Again she writes, "Our problem is to try to find the best ways and means for helping the girls develop into normal, earnest, Indian Christian women. The all-important means to this end is certainly that of personal contact, of the influence of one life upon another. It is just here that we feel so keenly the need of more workers." As at Bombay, so here at Ahmednagar, living with the girls is being tried. Miss Fairbank has had a room in the native teachers' home, and Miss Bruce has moved over to the older girls' dormitory. "But," she says, "I have not so far succeeded in doing much but sleep there."

Wai.—The long-cherished hopes and plans of the Christians at Wai have materialized in the church building, dedicated in December. It may be seen from every part of the town, but its appearance gives no hint of the self-sacrifice built into its walls by this group of Christians, many of whom, after paying full tithes for religious work, set aside a month's salary for the new building. The large group of people present at the dedication was made up not only of Christians from Wai and from other mission stations, but also of educated Hindus and Mohammedans. The gradual disarming of prejudice which has made possible a gathering of this character in the holy city of Wai, where formerly teachers of Christianity were stoned, is the result of the patient work of Mrs. Sibley and Miss Gordon, in a field which would have dismayed less courageous hearts. With the new place of worship, and the new Station School building, provided in part by the Golden Anniversary Gift, the work will go on with fresh impetus.

Madura.—Our Congregational missionary periodicals have had much to say of late of the recent visit of a deputation to Southern India, and of the laying of the corner stone of the new hospital for women and children at Madura in the presence of these visitors. We of the New Haven Branch have long been interested in this hospital, and we rejoice that the Golden Anniversary Gift can bring about enlarged opportunities for healing, together with economy of effort on the part of the doctors and nurses. What it will mean to these workers to have modern hospital equipment, after long experience in caring for the sick in a building without running water or sewage disposal, may well be imagined.

The Boarding School, another long-standing interest of this Branch in Madura, boasts a new class-room, the only one in the school adequate to the size of the class, and a new dormitory room accommodating thirty girls. As even with usable verandas there are now only about sixteen square feet of sleeping space per girl,—less than the size of an ordinary bed,—and as some of the veranda space must be vacated during the rains, it has not seemed wise to increase the number of boarders. The school keeps up to its high standard of work, and the Kindergarten Training Department has now received government recognition.

For the missionaries connected with the school the past months have been difficult. Miss Chase, who went out with our Miss Wilcox in the fall of 1915, was taken away after a single year of service. "The long journey together from home," writes Miss Wilcox, "the strangeness of this great land, the common purposes and aspirations brought us particularly close together, and there is a big lonely spot to-day where last year all was joy and anticipation." Close upon the death of Miss Chase came the desperate illness of Mrs. Powers, of whom Miss Noyes had written, "I do not know what we should do without her efficient help." Then during Mrs. Powers' slow convalescence the mission voted, at her request, her transferal to a new field of work, where tragic memories might be less vivid. "The Woman's Board will send us help as soon as possible," says Miss Wilcox, "but we realize that we are 15,000 miles away, and that candidates are not always available at a few weeks' notice."

India continues to be to Miss Wilcox a land of wonderful interest and opportunity, and she is eager to be in command of the language, and doing full work. "If only more young people at home really could know the joys of a work like this," she says, "I don't believe some of the things which seem hard to give up would count very much in their choice. The year 1916 was an unusually hard and sorrowful one for the Madura Mission, but even so it has been, after all, one of the very happiest and best in my life."
JAPAN.

KYOTO.—Mrs. Learned's kindergarten at Kyoto sends us a description of its celebration of Children's Day. The programme was illustrative of the theme which had been running through the Sunday School lessons, Love that Shines. To the accompaniment of appropriate songs and recitations, the pupils lighted their little candles at the flame of the big candle representing Jesus' love. The parents of the children were present, and, as Mrs. Learned says, "out of the mouths of little children a Gospel message was given."

MATSUYAMA.—Of the schools at Matsuyama Miss Judson writes that both are doing better work than last year. More than half of the members of the graduating classes are baptized Christians. Often pupils desire to be baptized, but meet with opposition at home. "We began the New Year with a very special joy," writes Miss Judson. "One of our best fourth-year girls has for a long time been refused permission by her father to receive baptism. During New Year's week he called on me, and after some conversation and questions said that he had changed his mind, and would allow her to be baptized. She has been an undoubted Christian for more than a year, a strong girl of beautiful character." During the past two years Miss Judson has arranged evangelistic meetings at intervals, and in connection with them she has invited to her house people whom she particularly wished to reach. She has also used vacation time for personal intercourse with old and young. The results of this work are apparent, not only in the number of her pupils who ask for baptism or who seek special instruction, but also in the conversion of older people and in the breaking down of opposition to the baptism of the boys and girls. There is more than a hint, in this, of the valuable work that Miss Judson will do after the desired associate comes to relieve her of the executive duties of the school.
The question is frequently asked, “What has happened to our school in Chihuahua?” Under the wise and devoted leadership of Pastor Valencia and Josefa de Mendoza the school has been carried on most successfully. During the bombardment of the city no serious harm has been done to any of our buildings. “The Mexican teachers tell of gathering the frightened, clinging children about them and comforting and encouraging them with prayers and hymns, during the worst of the cannonading.”

Knowing that it would be impossible to wisely return to Chihuahua for the present, Miss Long has gone to Hermosillo. Under date of January 9th, she writes, “A door is open wide; we are sure that God has work here for us to do, and it is joyful to be among these people again.”

All the Mexican missionaries are planning for a larger work, after the war, in our Congregational field in Northern Mexico, and are expecting us to be ready to support their efforts.

Micronesia.

Both Kusaie, where our Girls’ School is located, and Jaluit, where Miss Hoppin has been obliged to remain since the beginning of the war, are under the Japanese flag. The teaching of Christianity or the continuance of mission work has not been opposed, but an unexplained order from the Government has been that all Gilbert Island girls in our school in Kusaie, should return to their own Island.

Since it has been practically impossible to secure food supplies from beyond the Islands, Miss Hoppin, assisted by the girls staying with her, prepared a shipment of rice for our Girls’ School in Kusaie and sought to increase native supplies. These isolated workers report that everyone treats them kindly and that their needs are met, but we know that in some instances more than a year passed before letters sent were delivered. We can only pray that they may be kept from harm and danger, and in health and strength in their lonely days.

CHINA.

Foochow.—Miss Laura Ward has been overwhelmed with a vision of the needs, the opportunities, and the impossibility, with the small band of workers, of meeting those needs. While pursuing her language study she has been assisting Miss Blanchard at Diong-loh and hopes to be stationed there. Miss Blanchard’s furlough is due in 1917, and Miss Ward writes, “I am looking forward to the prospect of having to superintend the nineteen or twenty day schools and Bible women, besides the Girls’ School and the Woman’s School, and all this at the beginning of my third year!” She expresses her gratitude for our prayers, which she is sure have been answered, as the language has come more easily than she expected, and she has been very happy in her life in China. Miss Brown rejoices over the new plant for the Bible Woman’s Training School, and a Golden Anniversary gift has made enlarged dormitories for the Boarding School possible. Two of the members of last year’s class in the Training School are studying nursing, two are training for kindergarten work and expect to return and help in the Ponasang Kindergarten, eight are teaching in Mission schools or doing evangelistic work.

Miss Garretson has returned to China, but Miss Perkins will continue to serve as Principal of the School. The standards have been raised during the past year, so none below the fourth grade are now admitted. During the year, Miss Paxson, the Y. W. C. A. Secretary, conducted a series of meetings and “thirty-five girls united with the church, and every non-Christian girl made her decision.” A delegation of eleven attended the Y. W. C. A. student conference.

TIENTSIN.—Miss Sewall, the children’s missionary, rejoices that the boys and girls Jubilee gifts will provide a much needed building for the Kindergarten and Primary School, as the number in attendance this year could have been doubled with adequate accommodations. Miss Sewall directs four Primary Schools in addition to the "Look-up-to-the-mountain" School. She says, "It is truly a great privilege and a tremendous trust to work with girls in the foundation laying of the formative, receptive years, in which they come to us." That the foundation has been well laid is shown in the lives of the graduates. One who was married in the summer found that she was the only girl or woman in her village who could read. She taught Bible stories, as she had opportunity. As a result fifteen girls asked for a school. Her letter to Miss Sewall was overflowing with enthusiasm, as she "never thought the Lord would give her such a big thing to do." The $3.00 a month salary was provided, and a school opened. She has already persuaded some to unbind their feet and plan to attend the Tientsin School in the fall.

Another graduate will be a trained kindergartener, when the building is ready. One is preparing to be a nurse; the others are pursuing their studies at Peking that they may be better able to fill the demand for teachers.

The Tientsin "Woman's Missionary Society" had for its slogan, "Every woman in every court for the church of Christ." Twenty-two women give half a day each week to visiting in the homes, and telling the story of Christ's love, in addition to a monthly subscription. Marked proofs of the results of such love and service are seen in the growth and beauty of the characters of the women themselves, as well as in the changed lives of those to whom they carry the message. It is true that the results of evangelistic work can never be tabulated, but the fact remains that many of those who have received, seek to pass on the blessing.

Tungchow.—"An uneventful year is often one of satisfactory progress," the report of the "Richly Instructing School for Girls," tells us. Contrast the simply but neatly dressed girls of the school, with “normal feet and natural color, bright eyes and faces full of promise” with the country girls of equal ages, whose dresses are dingy and unkempt, hobbling along on hoof-like feet, carrying on their backs brothers or sisters half as big as they are, or with the city girls, whose lives are a round of drudgery and idle amusements, and you will be thankful for what the school is accomplishing. Until the new workers for North China have learned the language, the number entering the schools must be limited, but “every child is a fresh opportunity.” Three of the girls went to the Y. W. C. A. Conference last summer and returned with a new zest for Christian work and realization of the meaning of prayer.

The Bible women have made, during the past year, more than three thousand five hundred calls. They teach women to read and learn texts of scripture; they advise in the care of children, and help settle family quarrels. They never go where they are not welcome; hardly a week passes without the opening of some new door. For the first time, the Bible-women went last summer to preach at the two Fairs held near the city. At both, they found ready listeners and a friendly spirit among the women; at one, the priest helped find a suitable site for the mat shed and was generally helpful. It was not a shifting crowd that listened, but the same women came day after day, and many asked the speakers to hold meetings in their homes.

Miss Carter, who received her commission last May, reached Inanda, South Africa, in September. She writes, “I am so pleased with Africa, and happy to be here! I have no doubt this is the place where the Lord wants me.” Although occupied with language study, she has been ready for service wherever opportunity offered. She assures us that after the rainy season the bricks would be made for the new Industrial building for which she feels there is a great need.

The New Haven Branch is proud, and justly so, of its two Jubilee missionaries—not Jubilee in the sense of being young missionaries under appointment, but because they have served the Woman's Board since its organization. Miss Mary E. Andrews has been our representative in North China, and Mrs. Mary K. Edwards in South Africa, these fifty years. They have witnessed changes from open opposition to open doors; from indifference to and neglect of education for their girls, to a desire on the part of many that their daughters should have the best equipment. These changes have transformed the homes, ideals and standards of life. The lessons these women have taught have been of inestimable value, but it has been the self-sacrificing, devoted Christ-like lives they have lived which has left the deepest impress. In both countries the Educational work has been emphasized from the first. Now, in North China we find a Union Theological College, a Union Medical College, a Union Bible Reader's Training School, a Woman's College, and scores of schools in cities and villages alike.

Miss Andrews is now in her seventy-seventh year, and is devoting most of her time to teaching the Bible in the various institutions in Peking. She writes, "There is no work so delightful as the teaching of God's Word, which is, I am sure, really helping these men and women to prepare for their life work." She adds, "I have never regretted that at the parting of the ways, I was led to come to China."

Nothing which we, personally, could say of what Mrs. Edwards has done for South Africa could compare with the testimony of some of the Zulu girls themselves. One writes, "Mrs. M. K. Edwards, the first lady missionary sent out here, is the founder and blessing to this place. So much has been done with regards to the education of the Zulu girls in Natal upon the foundation that she laid! The women of our race were once looked upon as nothing but wealth, for they could be sent off to any man who had ten head of cattle to buy them. Now, through the work of the Woman's Board, there are prominent schools for girls. In these schools the girls are trained to be qualified teachers, so as to educate and spread the light of the Gospel to those who are still in heathenism. They are taught everything pertaining to their lives, and greatest of all they are taught about the love of God."

Another writes, "The changes for better now brought about in Natal speak louder than tongue; changes from dark, dirty and immoral habits of heathen homes, to clean, quiet and comfortable Christian homes, homes spread far and wide, kept by wives and mothers who had moral and religious benefits at a training school. The worker (woman especially) is a great lesson. At first she is a puzzle to the heathen mind, who do not understand why she comes from across the seas at all, why she takes all the trouble to teach, train and preach the Word of salvation with such patience and long-suffering! Then she becomes a study to the better informed, who after knowing the devoted worker better finds and feels that she has not come for money, nor for a better home, as she is always willing to spend and be spent for the sake of the people she has come to serve, and she must have had a better home and friends to love her better where she came from. The lesson does not come home until we come to know and love her Master who gave her the command, 'Go ye, and teach all nations,' whose command she obeyed in coming to us."

Another says, "I believe the words to be true of Mrs. Edwards, I have fought a good fight and kept the faith, there remains for me to see my Master I have so long loved and served faithfully."
