ANNUAL MEETING.

Following upon a preliminary prayer service led by Mrs. Peter Siebert Goertz, the 47th annual meeting of the New Haven Branch began at ten o'clock, May 14, 1918, in Center Church, New Haven.

The theme of the day being "The Conquest of the World for Christ," the Secretaries and Treasurer presented the various aspects of the year's work at home and abroad under titles which suggested the relation of each department to the progress of the Conquest.

The outstanding feature of the morning session was the appearance of Dr. Gurubai Karmarkar, missionary of the New Haven Branch to her native India, who was revisiting the United States after an absence of twenty-five years. Her story of many-sided usefulness was followed by an impressive prayer service led by Mrs. William Horace Day. Necessary business was then transacted, and the meeting adjourned for luncheon, served in the parish houses of Center and United Churches.

The afternoon session was opened at two o'clock with The Battle Hymn of the Republic, sung as a processional by the group of girls known as the McAll Choir. The presence of this choir and its help in leading the singing throughout the afternoon were a pleasant and novel feature of the meeting.

Using the caption, "Light on the Mountain Tops in Turkey," a theme suggested by a snow-capped range visible from the hills of Aintab, the gleaming peaks of which often gave promise of light while the countryside was yet in shadow, Mrs. John E. Merrill made a rarely moving address, pointing out the real gleams of encouragement and promise in the darkness overspreading Turkey.

Mrs. Franklin H. Warner, who accompanied the American Board deputation in its journey around the world, gave a delightfully informal series of impressions of New Haven Branch work and workers as she saw them, including glimpses of Miss Andrews, Miss Judson, Miss Bruce, Miss Wilcox, Mrs. Sibley.

Miss Calder, Home Secretary of the Woman's Board, made the final address of the afternoon, on the subject, "The New Program for the Conquest," treating first the larger aspect of the matter, that is, the need of looking beyond the war and of preparing now for the days that are to come, and then taking up the four definite lines of work proposed in the use of money, intelligence, influence, and prayer.

Rev. Arthur L. Swift, Jr., closed the meeting with prayer and the benediction.

ELIZABETH B. BROWNING.
HOME REPORT.

SENIOR DEPARTMENT.

All honor to the veterans of our Senior Societies! They have stood firm through many a year of service and wrought hopefully and courageously for advance in numbers and interest.

All hail to the newer societies which now round out our number to 140! Two of them are for the first time reported, one of which perhaps may be called our first Conquest Program society.

As aids in maintaining the morale of these home forces we may reckon meetings usual and unusual, visits of missionaries and others, lecture courses here and there, noticeably that of Mrs. Frank J. Goodwin, historic pageants and serious dramas, letters from the field and literature and study books by experts, frequent correspondence and interchange by personal conference in committee work.

The county meetings were assembled at Haddam, Washington, Danbury and Waterbury. It was our good fortune on these occasions to greet our missionaries Mrs. John S. Porter and Miss Clara C. Richmond and listen to inspiring addresses. Other missionaries have visited individual societies. Dr. Gurubai Karmarkar has just made a remarkable tour among our societies beginning April 23 when she left Philadelphia and closing yesterday. In the twenty days she has visited sixteen places and made seventeen addresses. The weather has been most favorable and sunshine has accompanied her wherever she went. Appreciation and gratitude have been accorded her in full measure. Mrs. Goodwin's lecture course was on a high plane and was largely attended. The Bureau of Information has multiplied letters by hundreds of pages and each society having special work abroad has received news of the same if such news has come to hand. The study book has been most attractive and its use adopted by a majority of societies. There remains the interchange of friendly personal letters,—would there were more such, which help to make us all allies in heart and soul.

A questionnaire was sent to every society in April. The answers required some searching of records so that they came in gradually, but the large majority, 118 societies, have replied. The comparatively few who have not been heard from expect without doubt to make returns later. The information received is most interesting and valuable and when tabulated will be passed on at the earliest opportunity. It is very quickly seen, however, that the contrast in numbers between those who are members of our societies and those who might be members among the women in our churches is very great.

Three new vice-presidents have been elected during the year. Mrs. Robert E. Carter, Mrs. William G. Lathrop and Mrs. W. II. Williams on account of retirement from office of Mrs. Fitch, Mrs. Russell and Mrs. Burt. Mrs. Emily L. Curtis has been elected assistant secretary in charge of special work.

We shall greatly miss from our Board of Officers Miss Alice M. Bacon. She was once heard to say that though other matters might seem to absorb her time and thought, missions held for her the first claim. The earthly service, which we knew, is but transferred to the heavenly service.

In the Increase Campaign which celebrated the Jubilee of the Woman’s Board we failed in the achievement of our aim lacking five new societies and we were far behind in new members. Had we but added 596 to our number we should have enabled the Woman’s Board to reach its goal of 25,000. Even then we should have had a regrettable deficit of 1,305. Contributing societies exceeded the number apportioned us by the Board. We cannot refrain from expressing our thanks to the Junior Department for their effort which greatly redeemed the situation. Our delegation to the meeting was full and it was a source of gratification that there was in addition a large representation from all sections of our Branch. A new sense of responsibility has seemed to be awakened and a new spirit of loyalty. We hear of interesting reports having been made by our delegates in different places.

The Jubilee Increase Campaign has given place to the Conquest Program. The Woman's Board, while the Jubilee meeting was still in progress, looked forward and planned for the beginning of its second fifty years. The outline of the plan was presented to the officers of Branches asking for its adoption if approved. A meeting was called in February and representatives of twenty-five societies in and near New Haven assembled to hear the plan explained by experts, Mr. Birge and Miss Preston. The plan was approved and adopted. A letter to all societies soon followed with enclosures of the explanatory leaflet and the prayer card offering them in any number that would be used. The response was general and the approval unanimous. Several hundred prayer cards have been asked for. A general central committee has been organized, with Mrs. Emily L. Curtis as chairman, and it is the expectation that before summer opens a large force will have enlisted for committee work in different sections of our Branch.

World Conquest by Love is the program. I repeat what appeals to me as the best, most concise, most comprehensive statement of the nature of this program, taken from the Congregationalist. The four lines of effort proposed are not new. They include the principal methods of work since missionary societies began. But societies or individuals adopting the Conquest Program agree to work at the task of world conquest in a more statesmanlike and sacrificial way. They agree to work at mission study, not simply listen to interesting papers or lectures; they agree to make a determined effort to win companions in Conquest; they agree to stress the importance of Christian stewardship; and they agree to engage in a vital ministry of intercession.

Do you so agree?

Thera W. Fairchild,
Home Secretary.
HOME REPORT.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT.

In our report last year, the Junior department was able to show a list of nineteen Jubilee organizations, many of them new, and all of them doing active work. During the past year we have not gone ahead so rapidly, but the societies started with Jubilee enthusiasm are with one exception living up to their good beginnings. The Jubilee celebration in Boston, with its banquet for O. J. S. girls and its procession of children with Golden Gifts spurred us on to try a more modest Jubilee party. In the afternoon of February 9, we had a regular birthday party with cakes and candles for the younger children. There were real corn muffins and milk for refreshment but the best part of the afternoon was the lighting of the candles typifying the spread of the work of the Woman’s Board. Mrs. Henry M. Osborn told the story of the past and of the present achievement and finally presented each child with a little unlighted candle to burn as a pledge of work in the future. In the evening we had a very informal O. J. S. basket supper with songs and cheers, followed by an address by Miss Ruth Seabury, our new Board Junior Secretary. Three of the girls of the Grand Avenue Church had been able to be in Boston and they helped very much with the songs. At both meetings the girls of the Church of the Redeemer gave a pretty little play whose scene was laid in the very inadequate building of the Matsuyama girls school. The actresses themselves were so impressed by the difficulty of learning chemistry with imaginary apparatus that they made a special gift to Matsuyama.

The work in the societies has varied considerably in both quantity and quality. We have had a leader write that her society held no meetings, did no work and had no funds but that they hoped to revive sometime next year and still wished to be counted. Others have had excellent programs prepared in advance for the year, though only nine report that they have used the Africa material. A new society in Essex was started and came to us as a free gift much to our surprise and pleasure. A plan which has been successful in the hands of our Middlesex county secretary was the combination of the Mission Band of the Congregational and Episcopal churches for the purpose of study and to raise money. This seems like a very feasible arrangement in a small town where all the children are acquainted and where numbers are needed for the group spirit. A just division of funds should not be difficult. There is one society in Litchfield County, one in Middlesex and two in New Haven County which seem to be resting during the period of the war, but there is only one which has gone entirely out of existence. If the Junior secretaries can make a few visits with the new text book "Jack and Janet in the Philippines," "Here and There Stories" and the Sunday School material in hand we can probably win them back. In Fairfield County the situation is slightly more serious. Two excellent reports were sent in from the home towns of our county vice-presidents, but no other blanks were returned at all. We are sure the young people would respond just as well if they knew more of the work and we are hoping to do more in this county than we have in the past.

We have four new Cradle Rolls this year, but the big Sunday School list of last year has fallen back to its usual size of sixteen. Four of the other eighteen were Primary departments of Schools still contributing, but there is need for immediate effort to get back the other fourteen. Our Christian Endeavor list has lost temporarily, we are almost certain, five of its names. Individual Societies show good work however, notably that done in the Middletown First Church. The cost of postage, free literature, and the Rally has amounted to almost $80.00, of which $40.00 was contributed by the Branch. We are sorry that the results are not more, and feel that they should be, though it takes a number of letters and samples of literature merely to keep societies alive.

The organization of the Junior Committee which was begun at the Annual Meeting last year and carried out especially at the officers' meeting in November has proved convenient and is ready for more work. We are very glad indeed to have Mrs. W. E. Prindle return to us in her important post of New Haven County secretary of Mission Circles. The Chairman of the Junior Committee presents this report with a great deal of regret, since it is to be her last. She wishes however to thank the Branches as a whole, but especially the officers with whom she has worked for more than five years of education in Missions and working Christian fellowship. She feels that the Branch, on the other hand, is to gain a great deal by her resignation, as her successor is bringing both ability and enthusiasm to the task, and will undoubtedly accomplish many of the delayed hopes of the last few years.

The Conquest Program, which has just been launched, promises a great deal for the Junior department. Already in visiting the exceptional churches, which seem to exist in every town in Connecticut, we have found that the leaders are hoping to reach not only the younger old women, the old young women but also the young young women. The Conquest Program will raise up leaders for us. The combination of Home and Foreign interests will make for its success especially with young people and will give a breadth to our appeal which is very satisfying in these days of large terms.

A very vital element in the whole program is the awakening of interest in those previously not interested. It can be done in many ways but in none quite so effectively and pleasantly as by sending a delegate to Northfield or one of the summer conferences. This has been urged again and again but it is of such great importance that some societies feel that the necessary $20.00 is more than repaid by the added gifts alone, not to mention the increased knowledge and earnestness of purpose.
which the church as a whole gains. The New Haven Northfield Association at its Rally on May 3d made a special effort for recruits for the missionary conferences, and the other parts of our territory should do so too. The problem of the indifferent young woman vanishes when she sees her missionary representative in the flesh, when she hears of details and personalities, and when she realizes that hers is a bigger task than she can accomplish. It was easy, though irksome, to remember a dull meeting of a dying society, but it is a pioneer’s job to tell one’s friends of the immense possibilities of winning the world for Christ. It is a glimpse of this possibility which may be gotten at Northfield, and it is the realization of it which is the ultimate task of all the young people at present in our Cradle Rolls, Sunday Schools, Mission Bands, and Christian Endeavor Societies.

Louise W. Farnam,
Junior Secretary.
FOREIGN REPORT.

India, Japan, Mrs. Philip E. Browning.
China, Africa, Mexico, Micronesia, Mrs. Henry J. Prudden.
Turkey, Mrs. Asa G. Dickerman.

India.

War-time delays and uncertainties of the mails have interrupted the usual flow of letters and reports from our mission fields. Of some departments of our work there has been no word at all. Echoes of war-time conditions have reached our ears, particularly the familiar note of the high cost of living. In the Marathi Mission grain is selling at higher than famine prices, and some schools have been forced to shorten their year.

The influence of the war is seen in the rapid growth of the demand for a greater degree of self-government, a demand which has now become so insistent in certain quarters as to have been the subject of careful investigation by the British authorities, and which bids fair to call forth, even in these troubled times, favorable action. The influence of the war is seen also in the acceleration of the movement toward church unity. Union services with the Church of England have been held in Ahmednagar, and with the Church of England and the Presbyterian Church in Bombay. Also the Presbyterian General Assembly has taken action, not, as was expected, in favor of a movement toward the formation of a Western India United Church, on the lines of the South India United Church, but looking toward a United Church of All India. While, therefore, we may be disappointed not to hear definitely from specific items of our own work, as in times of peace, we may instead recognize and follow prayerfully the potent forces set in motion by the war, and destined perhaps to advance the Kingdom of God faster than we now imagine.

BOMBAY.—From one of our missionaries we have had the pleasure of hearing in person. Dr. Karmarkar has given freely of her limited time and strength to bring home to our societies the work of this Branch in Bombay, and particularly the medical work for which she stands. She is authorized to plead for a hospital and dispensary, that will-o'-the-wisp which for years has danced before our eyes, ever retreating as we have moved toward it. Dr. Karmarkar has been spending the winter in Philadelphia, in medical study.

We are glad to know that our school building in Bombay, Bowker Hall, has by grace of the Golden Anniversary Gift received extensive repairs, and also that a way was found to provide for the installation of electricity in place of the costly and inconvenient system of lighting by kerosene lamps.

AHMEDNAGAR.—The school year which has just closed has been on the whole a happy and satisfactory one. Miss Bruce says: “Our new teachers and new matrons have been a tremendous help. Almost all the girls seem really trying to be good, which in itself is a reward for all the hard work which has gone into the school. It even makes the inconveniences of living in the dormitory seem worth while.” The school has been fortunate in having as head mistress of the vernacular day department Malatibai Rahatore, a responsible and capable helper, and it is hoped that she may be able to remain at least another year, until Miss Fairbank’s return. Associated with Miss Bruce are Miss Smiley, to whom the home constituency is indebted for vivid pen pictures of India seen through the eyes of a new missionary, and Mrs. Edith Smith, who has so guided the industrial work that even the little girls are happy in being able to do their bit in the war by making khaki handkerchiefs and buttons for soldiers’ shirts.

A helpful agency in improving the tone of the school has been the organization of the Girls’ Messenger Service Club,
The membership has included the very best of the upper-class girls, and will gradually expand to include girls of lower classes also. The motto of the club is "Be Trustworthy."

Hospital work has again been affected by a protracted visitation of plague. During its course the people so generally deserted the city that work in the hospital and dispensary was for a time lighter than usual. The doctors, however, were more than busy with thousands of inoculations. With each recurrence of plague the demand for preventive treatment increases; but even this year it failed to be as general as the doctors hoped and expected. And so long as rats found dead in the house are disposed of by throwing them into the street, and so long as the municipal authorities fail to clean up the city, so long must plague be expected. Miss Johnson, superintendent of nurses, was welcomed back from furlough early in the year, and found plenty of work awaiting her. With Dr. Proctor's impending leave, Dr. Ruth Hume now faces a year of strenuous service without a colleague.

Wai.—Less than forty years ago the people of Wai petitioned the Government to deliver them from two great evils, liquor shops and missionaries. When a site for a bungalow was desired, the missionary might measure the plot only by driving around two sides of it, counting the revolutions of his tonga wheels as he went. Into that inhospitable city, but six years after the petition for deliverance from their kind, came Mr. and Mrs. Sibley. Soon widowed and left alone at that station, then joined by Miss Gordon, Mrs. Sibley has seen the development of the work, largely her work, almost from the beginning. She has seen the slow change from opposition to tolerance, from tolerance to friendliness. Material evidences of growth begin to be frequent,—only a few years ago the hospital, last year the church building, this year the new station school, already finished and occupied, a beneficence in part of the Golden Anniversary Gift. It is a beautiful, airy building, on a hill which commands a superb view of the mountains.

Of one phase of the Bible women's work, Mrs. Sibley's Bible women and ours, Dr. Rose Beals writes: "The Bible women say they can hardly get away from the hospital when once there. Everyone urges them to stay on and on. You know a hospital is a place of leisure for the patients. And what an opportunity it gives us to teach them of Christ!"

Mrs. Sibley is happy that during the coming year, while her associate, Miss Gordon, is on furlough, Mrs. Hannah Hume Lee will share the work and the home life at Wai.

Madura.—Of Miss Wilcox, our missionary in Madura, we know only that she must by this time have so far progressed in the language as to be doing full work in the school, and that she is "always very busy." She is doubtless looking eagerly forward to Miss Van Allen's participation in the school work, and hoping that her time of preparation may be shortened by her childhood memory of Tamil. One remark of Miss Wilcox, though not recent, is always timely. "If you ever hear people at home," she says, "extolling the virtues of Hinduism, tell them to throw away their books, and come and see it."

The new hospital, the largest single undertaking of the Golden Anniversary Gift, is gradually taking shape. Meanwhile Dr. Parker, just now single-handed, continues to work miracles amid the old, impossible surroundings, with the added present handicap of the noise and dust incident to building operations. "Yet Dr. Parker manages to keep things in a very good condition," writes the Government Medical and Sanitary Officer, "and her patients seem to be as cheerful and comfortable as ever."

One of the chief activities of our Bible women in Madura for the past three years has been in connection with the Women's Evangelistic Campaign, a movement which promises to become permanent, and which calls for united work on the part of all Christian women of all churches. Under the leadership of Miss Swift, a large house, centrally located almost under the eaves of the temple, has now been leased for three years, as a center of evangelistic and social work for women and children. It has been named "The Woman's Exchange." "An Exchange," says Miss Swift in a letter to the Christian women of Madura, "is giving and receiving, and as Christian women, serving Christ, we wish to give our very best; yet in His wonderful way of caring for us, we never give without getting some real good for ourselves. We can give our ideas, our plans, our time, our experiences, and receive much good in exchange by thus sharing with one another." Enlightened imagination has suggested at the very beginning a list of manifold activities for this center. The plan seems full of promise, and it should enlist general sympathy and support.

JAPAN.

KYOTO.—The Imadegawa Kindergarten is occupying a new and more favorably situated building, though it was unable to leave without regret the scene of many happy associations of the past. Fascinating reading is the story of its celebration of Thanksgiving week, which culminated on Thursday with a distribution of supplies to needy families of the neighborhood, and ended next day with a review of proceedings and a school luncheon, many of the preparations for which had been made by the children themselves.

MATSUYAMA.—Miss Judson's service in the Night School is long enough for her to experience not infrequently the satisfaction of seeing graduated from higher institutions of learning, and serving as pastors, evangelists, teachers, or Sunday School workers, young people to whom she opened the door of opportunity. It is not strange that the graduates of the Night School average high in character and ability, for the severe discipline of long years of evening school, each session following a full day of toil, weeds out all but the best.
At the conclusion of some special meetings held this past winter twenty pupils of the Girls' School expressed their determination to become Christians, and never to give up their faith, cost what it might. Miss Judson writes: "Of course the girls have yet to meet the opposition of their parents, and to try to get permission to be baptized; and the ingrained sense of the duty of obedience to parents is very strong in Japanese girls. So it is too soon to tell what the results of these meetings will be. But I am sure that a number of girls have been slowly coming into a deepening faith in Christ for some time back. Please pray for us."

Funds for the new building and equipment are now substantial in amount, though the desired $25,000 has not yet been raised. A most desirable site on Castle Hill seems to be available. If the present plans can be carried out, and a modern building be provided which shall bring under Christian training the most promising girls of Matsuyama, a happy day will have dawned for the Girls' School, and for the community in which it stands.

China.

The work of Miss Andrews in Peking illustrates the obliteration of denominational lines on foreign fields. She is teaching Bible Classes in the Woman's Union College, in the Union Bible Training School, and in the Union Bible Institute for men. In writing of the Jubilee she says, "It was an inspiration to look back over the years to the little beginning which has grown to such marvelous proportions now. I am so thankful to have had the privilege of studying God's word with so many boys and girls, men and women, who are now busy workers for the Lord, as pastors, preachers, Bible women, doctors, nurses and Y. M. C. A. workers."

She writes of the sufferings caused by the flood, pneumatic plague, and civil war, and adds "the outlook on all sides is surely dark enough, and we can only find our hope and joy by looking up. God loves this world of ours, notwithstanding its sorrow and sin. We can only wait for Him."

Miss Margaret Smith, after language study in Peking, has gone to Tungchow to begin work there. As soon as Miss Higgins is able to join her, we shall hope to hear from the school again.

When Miss Sewall, the Children's Missionary, returned from America, she found the city of Tientsin flooded. Instead of reaching the compound by a ricksha, she was obliged to go by boat. As the native houses were practically all destroyed, it was necessary to spend much time in relief work. There was no place for boarding pupils, and day pupils came to the home of one of the native Christians, until the water subsided. Miss Sewall rejoiced over the news of the Jubilee gift for a kindergarten, and the wonderful boxes with gifts for the children.

Foochow.—Miss Brown, head of the Bible Women's Training School at Ponasang, has been obliged to come home for health reasons. During her absence a combination has been made with the Methodist Bible Women's School. Miss Garretson writes: "We hope it will be a benefit to our women to come in contact with those from the other school, as their pupils come from families of better social positions. Spiritually we hope a great blessing will come from contact with those who seem to be live Christians."

The attendance at the station classes at Foochow and Diongloeh has fallen off somewhat this year partly due to the unsettled political condition in the city, and partly to more severe requirements for self-support.

Extensive plans are being made this spring for an evangelistic campaign under the direction of Dr. and Mrs. Sherwood Eddy.

Graduates of our Ponasang School have been teaching in the day schools five hundred little girls gathered from forty or more villages. More attention is being given to day schools, and already the boarding schools are feeling the good results of better foundation-laying in the lower grades.

Miss Ward writes: "The rise of the price of silver and the work of the British and American committees for war relief, are the only reminders of the war, except as we get all too brief news from the home land both through letters and papers."

In Diongloh a new kindergarten has been opened in connection with the Abbie Child School and a plot of land has been given for a public playground, frequented by from 200 to 300 children daily. It is hoped thus to bring more wholesome pleasure and Christian atmosphere to the children of the neighborhood.

AFRICA.

INANDA.—The corner stone of the Industrial building, for which so many of our societies brought their Golden Anniversary gifts, was laid by Mrs. Edwards on August 11, 1917. Mrs. Edwards welcomed the natives who came to the celebration and told them of the American women and children who had provided the buildings and sent the teachers. The tributes paid to Mrs. Edwards were most beautiful, and testified to the love and respect felt for her throughout Natal. Her serving heathen men at her own table, instead of giving them food at her door, had helped to make those same men later say, "We want to learn of Jesus." When asked their reason for this step, they simply said, "Mrs. Edwards." One of the girls testified that Mrs. Edwards had taken her, as she had many others, as her own child, washed her, dressed her, and taught her by word and deed. This same girl, although a grandmother, and living two miles from the school, is still teaching, that she may pass on what she has received. It is impossible to estimate the influence of Mrs. Edwards' long life of service. Miss Phelps arrived in South Africa on February 10. She writes of the hearty welcome she received from the girls and from Mrs. Edwards. Although in her 89th year Miss Phelps writes:
“Mrs. Edwards is just as vigorous mentally as she was two years ago, and has failed but little physically.” With characteristic enthusiasm, Mrs. Edwards although nearly blind has been recently learning to use the typewriter. One of her first efforts was a letter written on March 11th. She tells us that the walls of the Industrial building are being plastered, although the work has been greatly hindered by the rain which has fallen nearly every day since October. She writes of a call from one of the native men and his daughter-in-law to see the daughter who was very lame but walked seventy miles to the nearest R. R. station in order to get to Inanda. Mrs. Edwards has about eight acres enclosed of which she has special care. She employs one man and two boys to assist him. She says: “the boys needed clothes and school books and I needed the work done.” At 12.30 she blows a whistle and the boys come to her room. A portion of Scripture is read and one or more of the boys offer prayer.

No word has come direct from Miss Carter since the letter written in January, 1917, but we are indebted to her mother for allowing us to share the description of the laying of the corner stone of the Industrial building.

Miss Clarke writes that this has been the happiest school year that she has ever spent. “There has been a delightful spirit among the girls,” she says, “and a real work of the Spirit of God going on among them.” The only references we have had in regard to the effects of the war have been the high prices and hindrances in matrimonial ventures. Miss Kielland announced her engagement, but as the young man of German descent is now away from our Mission Station at Adams, interned at a German station, it is uncertain when they can be married.

Mexico.

Although conditions are still unsettled in the country, Dr. Howland says that travel is little, if any, more dangerous than when they first went to Mexico.
Miss Long has been back in Chihuahua since November 1, conducting the school. The high prices of food, service, and all supplies make it necessary to use the appropriation for teachers' salaries and the upkeep of the school, so they are obliged to refuse not a few applicants who cannot pay full tuition. The Board of Education require all kinds of manual training and hand work in all grades; also domestic economy, nursing, school gardens and the latest in gymnastics, games and folk-dancing. Miss Long has a difficult task to reorganize in all the grades with teachers who never saw or heard of this work, but she feels that the authorities will be lenient this year, as the government schools must encounter the same difficulties. Eventually it will mean trained teachers in these departments.

As it is not deemed wise for the missionaries to return to Parral, Miss Prescott is employing her time as social worker and home visitor in connection with the school and church in Chihuahua; and Miss Dunning is again linking home and foreign missions by doing settlement work among the Mexicans in El Paso under the A. M. A. until she can return to Mexico.

All the missionaries are studying the needs of the field under the Cincinnati agreement, and will be prepared to make "large demands for new workers and adequate support from Congregational churches in developing this tremendous field. In Mexico there are states with a million population, where no evangelical missionary works. There are only two hundred ordained Christian missionaries, both foreign and native, to preach the gospel to fifteen million people—a parish for each 75,000 souls."

Mrs. John M. Hanna from Texas in her report to the National Y. W. C. A. wrote: "Who knows how far international relationships with Mexico could be solved if we could speedily touch the lives of these passionate, pleasure-loving girls with the things that count?"

Shall we be ready to do our part to help Mexico teach the eighty per cent illiterate in her population? Adequate support must be back of the reconstruction work which will be needed in Mexico as in other lands.

Micronesia.

It had been a year since any letter had come from Kusaic, but a recent mail brought two, one dated January 7, and another February 20. Our workers have been cut off from receiving or sending mail. A letter written October 28, from Jaluit, reached the Board rooms after four months and informs us that Miss Hoppin, who went from Kusaic with the Gilbert Island girls, was expected at Jaluit in September, but the writer was informed that she was left at Ocean Island. The letter says: "Perhaps as an indirect result of the war, quarrels about the ownership of land are frequent and sometimes bitter. A few months ago one native killed another in a quarrel. This was the first murder in the group during the past thirty years! The natives, when angry, refer to the European war as an excuse for their anger and enmity." The writer adds, that he was told by an official, that "eventually Buddhist temples would be erected throughout the group. It may be that these islands, situated as they are midway between Japan, Australia and Honolulu, will play a more important rôle in the future."

Miss Elizabeth Baldwin writes: "As to the change in the women of these islands, it has been truly very great. If you have ever read the letter that Rev. Hiram Bingham wrote when he and his wife were first left on Abaian, and saw the vessel sailing away, leaving them in what seemed to be, with the roaring of the waves, the moaning of the wind and the yelling of the natives—a veritable pandemonium, and then could have seen the company of lady-like Gilbert Island girls that left us to return to their native islands, you would appreciate the wonderful change that has been wrought by the Gospel. Or could you stop for a short time at one of the Islands to the west, where the darkness of heathenism reigns supreme, which is still waiting for the Gospel message, and see the degraded condition of the women there, and then come on to attend a Christian Endeavor meeting in the church at Kusaic, and see the quiet dignity with which the women preside over, or take part in the meeting, before a mixed congregation of men and women, you would indeed marvel to think that they were ever like their less favored sisters in the West.”

Turkey.

Another year of this terrible World-War has nearly passed, leaving its imprint upon our work in Turkey. Deportations and massacres have necessarily decreased; but poverty and disease, nakedness and starvation,—all these horrors cannot help but increase. The people,—Armenians, Greeks, and even Turks, are in a most pitiable condition.

Some of the missionary force have gone to receive their heavenly reward; some have regretfully returned to this country; and some are still on the field, “glad to belong to a Board that does not call its missionaries away from their work when they are most needed.”

Antab.—A remnant of the Seminary girls, about thirty in number, who in some way escaped deportation themselves, but lost all their relatives, are under the care of the Americans. Some are in families in the city, and others live in the school buildings with a matron and one or two Armenian teachers. These, with the younger girls of the Orphanage, are “mothered” by Miss Norton.

Miss Trowbridge is superintendent of the Military Hospital,—none other than the one-time Missionary Hospital, offered at first to the Red Cross, now occupied entirely by soldiers, and devoted to surgical cases. The Mission pays for medicines, dressings and equipment; while the Government Red Crescent furnishes food, fuel, lights and clothing, and supplies the orderlies, who are supposed to aid the nurses. There is an Armenian physician and the nurses are Armenian, but the responsibility rests upon Miss Trowbridge and Dr. Hamilton. The Conquest Program is being carried on right here, for these earnest women have prayers every day with the patients, and hold a service on Sunday. The men read Bible mottoes on the walls; hear much of "Jesus and his love"; and see that love exemplified in the lives of their attendants,—these Armenian girls caring for the very ones, perhaps, who slew their fathers and brothers, and deported their mothers and sisters. Who can tell how far-reaching may be the results of this work?

The sick and wounded Turkish soldiers beg to be taken to the American hospital, saying "no one ever goes out of a Turkish hospital except on a bier," and they know that in the American hospital there is at least a chance of recovery. One difficulty in this military arrangement is that there is absolutely no place in the city for civilians to receive treatment,—not a place even for Dr. Hamilton's maternity cases.

Miss Trowbridge is very fond and proud of a class of girls graduated from her Nurses' Training School. One of these girls, immediately after receiving her diploma, was put in charge of a Government hospital in the city, seven buildings being under her care. Although she was an Armenian, the Turkish nurses and doctors meekly did her bidding, and she worked wonders in the way of cleanliness, sanitation and isolation. But at the same time her family, including an aged mother, was deported.

Adana.—Last year this school was unmolested, possibly owing to the enrollment of a goodly number of young Turkish girls. The previous year there were several periods of anxiety, but all plots to seize or destroy the buildings were frustrated by the alertness and courage of the missionaries. Now, reading between the lines of the obscure messages that alone can pass the censor's eye, it would seem that the school and hospital have exchanged buildings, that there are no boarding pupils, and that Turkish influence is strong.
Miss Borel had a most uncomfortable journey last summer to her home in Switzerland, being twice detained by military authorities for a period of three weeks each. No wonder that she reached home in a state of physical and nervous exhaustion, and has spent most of the time since her return in trying to regain her normal good health.

Van.—What can be said of this poor, ruined town? If the terms of the recent treaty hold fast, and the Mohammedan hordes press forward again, little indeed will be left of the once populous, happy, industrious center. But "the wrong shall fail, the right prevail" even here, and some day Van and its environs will fall under the Conquest of Love.

Miss Silliman, Miss Rogers, and Miss Hazeltine have all been teaching this year. Miss McLaren's return last fall, after her experiences in Bitlis and Harpoot, was a noteworthy event.

Dr. Raynolds and the band of tireless workers at Erivan are in a position which at this writing seems about the most perilous in the world,—only a few thousand Armenians and Georgians, deserted by the Russians, against the multitude of Turks and Kurds, aided by Germans. We can only trust and pray that the God of Battles may smite his enemies, and keep his beloved in safety.

Dr. Raynolds wrote last fall: "I thought I had graduated from orphanage work twenty years ago, but now I am taking a post-graduate course, some of these orphans being the children of those we had in Van." There are at least 10,000 orphans in this district, and the good Doctor has gathered 100 of these boys under one roof, and is working for their salvation, physical, mental and spiritual.

Bitlis.—A story is told of Mustapha Bey, head of the Turkish hospital in Bitlis, who, at the request of Miss Shane and Miss McLaren, befriended some Armenian women and girls in their time of need. He gave to each a task in the building, and told them to be busy when any inspector appeared. He refused to give them up for massacre or deportation, saying they were necessary for his work. When the Turks in their turn were compelled to flee, Mustapha Bey had no opportunity to escape, but owing to the entreaties of these same women, was spared.

HARFOOT.—Miss Mary Riggs, whose return was chronicled last year, now under the Massachusetts Home Missionary Society, is acting as missionary visitor among Armenians in that state, and winning her way to their hearts by her knowledge of their language and customs.

Mrs. Henry Riggs went to join her little daughter in the Heavenly Home just at the time when, because Turkey and America had severed diplomatic relations, relief work had to be abandoned and the station closed.

MARDIN.—The three devoted women, Miss Graf, Mrs. Dewey and Miss Dewey, are still "staying by the stuff," and are allowed to occupy part of the mission buildings. The school is filled almost entirely with refugee children, including a number of Moslems.

MARSOVAN.—Miss Gage, with her undaunted will and courage, stood firmly at her post until after school closed last June. Then, her constitution weakened by poor food and unsanitary surroundings, she, too, succumbed to the terrible typhus. Her loss was a heavy blow to the station, but one friend wrote: "If our Heavenly Father needs her more than we for the work in Turkey, now or in the future, it is well, and some time we shall understand." Miss Gage had exerted a powerful influence for good upon her associates, upon the people for whom she labored, and even upon the Government officials, who regarded her with great respect and admiration. Her spirit of love and self-sacrifice, mingled with her determination and steadfastness, won the esteem of all.

The school opened in October, but apparently under government regulations. The Governor admitted the children to the building; prayer was offered by the Mufti, a person versed in Mohammedan law, and excellent military music was furnished.
The school is full to overflowing, about 200 in all departments, more than they have room or teachers for. Many of these children must be Moslems, and here again is a rich opportunity for the Conquest of Love.

The missionaries also have the oversight of a Turkish Orphanage located in one of their buildings. The occupants, "although gathered in the streets, are really nice after they have been cleansed and dressed." The King School for the Deaf is continued in safety, and at last accounts Miss Anna Felician was alive and well.

Provisions are scarce and expensive. Even last summer it was said that while barley coffee was excellent, the store of tea would soon be at an end. They were preserving their plums without sugar, and using grapes as sugar for other purposes. Nuts were plentiful, but apples had to be gathered unripe to keep them from thieves.

Sivas.—Miss Graffam, at least one hundred miles from any other missionary, is absorbed in relief work, and is asking for increased appropriations. This one brave woman is all that stands between thousands of starving, exhausted human beings and grim Death. Moslems, Greeks, and a few Armenians, are among those who look to her as their only hope. She commands the respect and confidence of the local authorities by sheer force of personality.

Smyrna.—The school buildings, injured by bombs, have been repaired sufficiently to use for the present. There are a few boarders, and a good number of day pupils, about a hundred altogether. The school is a center of relief work, distributing fuel and clothing to Greeks and Armenians.

Port Said, Egypt.—Mrs. Sewny has continued her many activities in this busy refugee camp. She has had the satisfaction of seeing the number of pellagra patients decrease materially; and of watching the two hundred Sunday School children develop from little wild things into clean, well-mannered human beings. She has gained the confidence of the mothers who leave their little ones at the day nursery, and has added to the self-respect of the people by allowing them to pay a small sum for the garments furnished them. She has been happy in her work; but she says: "It doesn't need a trained nurse to do these things," and at her request she has been transferred to Jerusalem, where she has an appointment as matron of a Boys' Orphanage, and where there are "no comforts of life and food is anything but plentiful." But she is looking forward "to the joy and inspiration of working in the city where our dear Lord suffered and died."

Miss Kinney is successfully conducting a lace-making department, and has charge of the older girls in the Sunday School. This school is learning the joy of giving, having contributed a lira, (nearly $4.50) to the Palestine Relief Fund. The women also are making clothing for the Palestine refugees, the material being provided by the Armenian Red Cross.

Miss Putney, who has been studying and working in Cairo, is now to give all her time to the Camp. She will be a great help in the school, and will exert a splendid influence over the girls.

Recently a party of 173, all that remained of a band numbering several thousand sent out into the desert, appeared in sad plight at Port Said. Many Armenian refugees from Adana have been found in a monastery in Jerusalem, and survivors from the deserts are seeking the protection of the British camps east of the Jordan.

A Red Cross Relief Expedition, composed largely of missionaries, has been sent from this country to follow through Palestine in the wake of the English army, for relief work among the destitute. Some of the Marsovan missionaries are with this expedition, and are hoping that they may possibly find some of their own people among the refugees.

Undismayed by all the terrible events, the American Board recently sent out a bulletin with the heading, "Bright Prospects for Our Work in Turkey," voicing the feeling of many missionaries that just as soon as the War of Force is ended, the Conquest of Love may begin in that land. They feel strongly that many Moslem doors and hearts, hitherto closed, will be opened to receive the Gospel, and they say "whereas we were reaching one-fourth of the population, after the war we shall reach four-fourths." Acting on this conviction, the Boards have issued a call for 175 new missionaries for Turkey and the Balkans, to fit themselves now for the work, so that when the time comes they may be ready to enter upon this great undertaking. Of this number the Woman's Board assumes the responsibility of 35; how many will go from the New Haven Branch?
