FIFTY-THIRD
ANNUAL REPORT

NEW HAVEN BRANCH
WOMAN'S
BOARD OF MISSIONS

Reports for 1924 are sent only to Auxiliary Presidents, Secretaries and Treasurers, who will please make as wide use of them as possible. Extra copies may be obtained from the Home Secretary.
ITEMS OF INFORMATION.

The next annual meeting of the Branch will be held in New Haven, Tuesday, May 12, 1925.

In reporting list of officers, number of members, and subscribers to The Missionary Herald, also in making inquiries concerning matters connected with Branch work not classified, write Mrs. W. H. Fairchild, Home Secretary.

If you wish a missionary speaker for your meeting write to Miss Sarah A. Clark.

For mite boxes and thank-offering, Lenten, and monthly envelopes write to Mrs. Charles W. Merrels.

For literature, maps, and letters from missionaries apply to Miss A. S. Dickerman.

For the same in the Young People's Department write to Mrs. S. Ellsworth Grumman. Also for Cradle Roll and other Junior mite boxes.

Remittances should be made by May 1, if you wish them credited in the annual report of 1925. Make checks payable and send to Mrs. Lansing Lewis, Treasurer.

For addresses see pages 2 and 3.

The observance of the hour from 5 to 6 p. m. in prayer for missions is earnestly commended.

The Missionary Herald, one dollar per year, is the official publication of the Woman's Boards and subscriptions are urgently solicited. Give your name, with this amount, to your Secretary or send to Mr. Harry L. Meekin, 14 Beacon St., Boston.

*FORM OF BEQUEST.

I give and bequeath to the New Haven Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions, incorporated under the laws of Connecticut in the year 1882, the sum of ———— dollars.

Representatives of Executive Committee.
ANNUAL MEETING.

The New Haven Branch of the Woman's Board of Missions held its Fifty-third Annual Meeting on Tuesday, May 13th, in Center Church, New Haven, preceded by a devotional service in the United Church Parish House led by Mrs. Lorin S. Gates. The president, Miss Woolsey, presided. The meeting opened by singing "Jesus Shall Reign," followed by reading the Scriptures by Miss Woolsey, and prayer by Mrs. Lathrop. The Home Secretary, Mrs. Fairchild, as one of "Those Who Bide by the Stuff," summarized the reports of senior societies, reviewed the meetings of the year, noted some changes in methods and in officers and paid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Phipps and Mrs. Prudden.

Miss Sterling, chairman of Young People's Committee, showed that study books, plays, pageants and rallies had contributed to the building up of the work of the different clubs and mission circles. It was voted to accept these reports.

The treasurer's report had been printed and was in the hands of the audience. After some explanatory words by Miss Woolsey it was voted that the report be accepted and adopted as printed. The treasurer, Mrs. Lewis, called attention to a few items of special interest—the budget for expenses which was acted upon one year ago, the disposition of the Scranton legacy, and the increased receipts from societies.

"Opening the Dispatches," by Mrs. Browning, Foreign Corresponding Secretary, vividly portrayed the work of the Branch. From every field came some message which was given in a most fascinating, vivid way.

Miss Alice M. Huggins of Tunghsien, China, in her address, "A Contribution to Internationalism," told of the school started by Mrs. Goodrich after the Boxer uprising and gave a description of the girls, most of them from the countryside, and spoke of the teachers and made a plea for funds for the Junior High School.

Mrs. Hartpence, chairman of the nominating committee, gave the list of officers for the new year. The report was accepted. The president, Miss Edith Woolsey, and the treasurer, Mrs. Lansing Lewis, were elected separately, and the other officers collectively as read. Delegates to the W. B. M. Annual Meeting at Hartford were appointed. Mrs. Elwell offered prayer, which was followed by the commission service for Miss Margaret B. Haskell under appointment to the Balkan Mission. Dr. Oscar E. Maurer presented the commission. Miss Gertrude E. Chandler welcomed Miss Haskell to the mission field. Mrs. William Horace Day of Bridgeport gave the pledge of support from the entire Woman's Board as well as the New Haven Branch and the First Church, Bridgeport, not only in money but in interest. Dr. Maurer offered prayer and the service closed by singing the hymn "Send Thou, O Lord, to Every Place."

Luncheon was served in Center Church House and in the First Methodist Church to four hundred guests, followed by a reception in Center Church House.

The afternoon session opened by singing, "Come Kingdom of our God," followed by prayer by Mrs. Lee of New London, vice-president of Eastern Connecticut Branch.

Miss Evelyn F. Clarke of Inanda, Africa, told of the work "On the Outskirts of Civilization." She gave a vivid description of the start at Inanda, and the many changes since the arrival of Mrs. Edwards. She spoke most sympathetically of Mrs. Edwards' health and of her character and influence. She wished Mrs. Edwards' recollections might be recorded and kept for future generations. The condition of the Zulu people was described. It is the ambition of the school girls after graduating to teach their own country people.
After singing "Ye Servants of God Your Master Proclaims," Miss Gertrude E. Chandler of Madura, India, told of "The Value of Internationalism for India's Women." She said a cultivated Hindu woman was in the faculty of the Union Women's College with women from England, Scotland, America and India who esteemed it a great privilege to live with these Christian women. She described the Chapel at the Woman's Christian College which was built by money from Massachusetts, oriental in style, but most appealing to all with its lamp "Lighted to lighten all," spoke of the contrast between the women seen in a Hindu temple and the students in Capron Hall. "Internationalism is needed for India and for us all."

The offering was taken for the new building at Tunghsien, which amounted to $185.95.

Mrs. Franklin Warner, president of the Board, speaking on "Christian Internationalism at Work," used as an illustration the church and community house given by China to the Christian church on the spot of the Boxer uprising. She told of the starting of a kindergarten and the influence it exerted in the neighborhood and on the people. She said 90% of the nurses in Japan are Christians; that a missionary in trying to start a dispensary, had great help from a Japanese doctor who was not a Christian. Mrs. Warner compared her trip to the East this time with her trip taken seven years ago, the great change being not in mode of travel, but in the feeling of "Christian Internationalism," the neighborliness of all countries.

After singing the hymn "Rise up O Men of God," Rev. Daniel W. Strickland of the Howard Avenue Church, offered prayer closing with the benediction.

The meeting was declared adjourned.

Alice C. S. Sheldon,
Secretary.
HOME REPORT.

SENIOR DEPARTMENT.

The slogan which you read upon the program of to-day is a summons to a great endeavor. We believe that Christian Internationalism has been advanced in no slight measure by operative forces in our New Haven Branch that have been carried on steadily, persistently, courageously, for yet another year. Our loyal friends, who have manned our fifteen missions have given time and unstinted service to their upbuilding and development and we recognize their most important contribution to the same Christian Internationalism.

The treasury comes at once to mind. Last year it was said: "We hope and expect a positive advance" in the year to come. Our expectations have been realized and it is with great satisfaction that we can say to-day that our pledge of $32,500 is more than redeemed. We shall hear that many societies have met that magic challenge of apportionment.

Messages have been received from more than one hundred senior societies. These "news items" are read into the year's history as far as time and space permit, all being kept on file for future reference. Under no amount of discouragement or stress of circumstance does the constituency of any society seem to give up. There are those with persuasive convictions who keep the spirit alive and even if unable to hold meetings, do make it possible to maintain the integrity of the treasury and to pledge loyalty in a substantial way to the great cause. Verily they have their reward.

In most instances schedules of meetings for the year are followed and the text books on Japan have been studied with acknowledged benefit. One pastor gives time and thought in conducting a study class in his church. In Stratford, Mr. Umwoli, a former scholar in Miss Judson’s night school, gave an address. In thinking of the occasion afterward, he wrote to his hostess: “It seemed to me that I had visited the source of a river which grows into a mighty stream of which I know only the lesser part.” In another society of Fairfield County some young women in Japanese costumes gave monologues upon conditions and customs in Japan amid beautiful decorations of wistaria blossoms which they themselves had made. Long lines of Japanese lanterns added to the fine effect. Missionary plays, pageants and the stereopticon have sometimes enlivened the program. The two plays, “Working with India” and “The Old Peabody Pew,” are mentioned by name. The singing has been led by a League double quartette. Acquaintance and sociability have been promoted by a “talent luncheon,” a “get-together dinner,” “silver teas,” a “Japanese Tea” and other like events. “The Day of Prayer for Missions” has been widely observed. In Stamford, Mrs. Warner addressed a Union Meeting of more than two hundred, and in New Haven in Center Church, Prof. D. J. Fleming of Columbia University addressed an audience which filled the body of the church. His address was one of tremendous power and was a summons to that great assembly to become a mighty force in the betterment of the life of the world. Mr. Yamagata, a student in Wesleyan University, gave talks on two chapters of Mr. Fisher’s book at two successive meetings of the First Church Society, Middletown. Mrs. Lorin S. Gates of India has been most helpful in her addresses in different societies of the Branch. We have been able to secure Mrs. Reed of “Yale in China” to meet one of our New Haven societies. In several instances it is reported that the apportionment has been met.
names the largest sum ever. The treasurer no doubt will report others. One small society formed a plan for each member to earn one dollar above her usual contribution in order to ensure its apportionment. The necessary fund has been raised in some instances for expenses of representatives to the Northfield Summer Conference, Aloha Camp having attractions both grave and gay for our girls and young women. Two stars have been added to the service flag of Dwight Place Church, New Haven. Trumbull, June second, Danbury, September twenty-fourth, and Old Saybrook later, are anticipating the observance of the fiftieth anniversary. What a heritage is ours! One of the secretaries writes: "In thinking what of special interest we have to report, two things occur to me. One, the continued pleasant and helpful way in which our auxiliary has been kept in touch with the mission field and workers through letters and through hearing directly from County, Branch and Woman's Board meetings from those privileged to attend them; the other is a sense of thankfulness. This coming summer will bring the fiftieth anniversary of the beginning of our society. Through these years it has held on its course with regular meetings and each year sent its gift to the New Haven Branch treasurer. Surely something to be thankful for with the changes of the years and the passing on of so many of our numbers."

Our four county meetings were held in October and our semi-annual meeting in January, all these worth-while occasions. The societies of Wilton, Meriden, Watertown and Clinton rivalled each other as claimants of the best county meeting. We came in close touch with our missionary friends, Miss Kentfield and Miss Thomas of China, Miss Griswold of Japan, Miss Inglis and Miss Bruce of India, greatly to our pleasure and profit. In Meriden we were privileged to welcome Mr. Galen M. Fisher, author of "Creative Forces in Japan," recommended as our text book for the year. His address was upon subjects introduced by his book. Watertown Society celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on its day and made it truly a festival day. Miss Woolsey, in her new office, was warmly welcomed, as was Miss Kyle, representing the Woman’s Board. The social mid-day hour, when an inviting and ample luncheon was served amid golden decorations, gave opportunity for informal congratulations. The history presented by Miss Baldwin, Secretary, reviewed the early years and gave tribute to Miss Mary P. Hinsdale, to the founders of the society, and the officers down the years, and summarized what had been accomplished by the society as a whole.

Fifteen executive meetings have been held exclusive of the "officers’ meeting," where more general subjects are brought forward for discussion. The story of those wonderful days at Wellesley was told by different persons who were so fortunate as to be in attendance upon the fifty-sixth annual meeting of the Woman’s Board.

Requests for missionaries to address meetings have kept Miss Clark busy in search and correspondence. She has been mostly successful in fitting the supply to the demand.

It is no easy task to follow up and locate those of our Branch who have been made life members of the Woman’s Board as they journey to and fro in the land, but Mrs. Cutting has been diligent and is rewarded in her efforts beyond reasonable expectations.

The responsible duties of hospitality borne by the chairman of the coöperative committee have been carried with the ease born of experience and the faculty of knowing how. Members of her committee afford competent aid and share her willingness and ability to serve.

The Bureau has been kept in order by Miss Dickerman and her co-secretaries. The societies have been regularly informed concerning their specific work in detail so far as information has been received. Leaflets, text-books and letters have been forwarded in answer to requests. "While fruitage from so generous seed-sowing cannot be tabulated, proof is not lacking that the dissemination of knowledge is a stimulus to intelligent missionary interest and effort."

It is a disappointment to have no fuller reports concerning subscriptions to our magazine, "The Missionary Herald." Can there not be an aggressive campaign in its behalf for mutual benefit? We have eminent testimony concerning its standing among periodicals and its contents are thus specifically outlined: "Its abundant illustrations are well chosen and really help interpret the text; its field articles are brightly and authoritatively written; its editorials and official communications are most readable and effective; its wider horizon found in the World Briefs is unique; its combination of woman's work and the regular operations of the parent board is an added attraction; and its carefully prepared book reviews call attention to the outer world of missionary literature." Can any periodical win a finer description or present an appeal more attractive and comprehensive?

The unusual in our year's history is the appointment of two young women, in whom we have a special interest, to the foreign field. Miss Margaret B. Haskell of the third generation of missionaries to the Balkans, is our newest missionary and receives her commission here to-day. She has taken a special course as a kindergartner and will be at Sofia associated with Miss Elizabeth C. Clarke, who is eagerly awaiting her arrival.

Miss Grace Rood, of missionary heritage, is appointed to the Madura Mission. She goes from our own city, New Haven, and will be associated with Dr. Parker in the nursing ministry of Madura Hospital. She receives her commission at the annual meeting of the Berkshire Branch in June.
Never have there been so many changes in the official circle as this year. Mrs. Leighton, Miss Close, Miss Temple and Mrs. Russell have resigned from the Young People's committee, each giving so clear a reason that we could not call in question her judgment. Mrs. Shields of Ridgefield, Miss Jeffrey of Torrington, Mrs. Keith and Mrs. Grumman of New Haven have been appointed to the vacancies. Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Miles, and Mrs. Brown, vice-presidents, have changed their residence. We lose Mrs. Taylor to the Hartford Branch, Mrs. Miles to the New York Branch, and Mrs. Brown to the Woman's Board of the Pacific. To say that they served well, that we shall miss them sorely, is using very common speech, but words fraught with deep meaning. Mrs. Brown has been one of the vice-presidents of New Haven County since 1914. We heard from Mrs. Dinsmore when she was sailing up the Bosphorus to Constantinople. Her card pictured the marvelous ruins of Carthage and she wrote: "We have just had some wonderful days at Athens." Miss Reynolds' message was from Nikko, Japan. She mentioned having been entertained by Miss Denton of the Doshisha, and by Miss DeForest of Kobe College. The associate secretaries, though with assigned duties, give "aid and comfort" along many lines.

We are bereaved in the loss of Mrs. Phipps by death December 2d, 1923. For thirty years she was our "strong staff" upon which we leaned, anticipating her readiness for any kind of service to which she might be called. In this spirit, though handicapped by distance, she consented to serve as president for one year, covering the perplexing interregnum of 1907 and 1908. Every word that has been spoken and written of her devotion, her loyalty, her consecration we wish to make our own. "Hers was the abundant life. Through all the long years, in all life's changing scene—daughter, wife, mother, teacher, leader, friend—increasingly and burning ever with a truer, brighter flame hers was and hers ever is the abundant life.’’

We are sadly missing from our number and presence to-day our beloved corresponding secretary, Mrs. Prudden. We may feel that nowhere is she so needed as just right here—but we are reminded that her interests extended far beyond our narrow circle and that in far-away places there are those who will wait for the inspiration of her sympathetic, cheery letters and the help she loved to give. Our societies of young and old have felt the contagion of her enthusiasm and their own has been enkindled thereby. From the abounding testimony that is at our hand one letter is chosen in which this is particularly mentioned by the writer: ‘‘The great consolation must be that the work is the same though the workers change. How hard it is to realize this just now when Mrs. Prudden’s going is so great a loss to the entire Branch. I always received so much information and inspiration from her reports and I feel that I owe my increasing interest in missions and missionaries in no small degree to her. Her enthusiasm was contagious.’’ ‘‘In speaking of these things,’’ she adds, ‘‘I have held up as an example to all of us, who think ourselves busy women, the lives of Mrs. Prudden and Mrs. Phipps who were so broad in their interests and activities and so deep in their spiritual experience and purpose.’’

‘‘Let us live as they lived,
With unfaltering faith the long years through Ever with eyes unto Him, as who Seeketh only God’s will to do.

‘‘Let us walk as they walked;
From the morning glow ’til the day is done,
With a Form beside we know as One
Like to the form of God’s own Son.
"Let us love as they loved;
With a heart as wide as the summer sky
For the world afar or the kindred nigh
And never a soul not our ally.

"Let us pass as they passed;
Sweetly into the world unseen,
Knowing no pause of death between,
Into the larger life serene."

Thera W. Fairchild,
Home Secretary.
HOME REPORT.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

The Young People’s Department has had both sorrow and joy this year; sorrow because they have lost four of their valued county secretaries and joy because four new ones have come in to fill the ranks.

Two leaders’ conferences have been held in New Haven for both Home and Foreign leaders, and have proved well worth while.

When Miss Mary McClure was expected for the week allotted to the New Haven Branch a careful schedule of rallies was planned for her in the four counties, and everyone was expecting a rare privilege in her visit. Her illness, however, prevented her from coming, and only two rallies were held as scheduled: one at New Milford with Mr. Woodward of the Philippines as speaker, and one at Waterbury with Miss Seabury as the speaker.

On May 12th a girls’ rally for New Haven and vicinity was held at the Church of the Redeemer. Miss Alice Huggins spoke about her school in Tunghsien, China, and Miss Hood told why she was interested in Mission work and her reasons for going to Madura.

The Branch Contest for the best original poster was won this year by Miss Beulah Allen of the Saugatuck Congregational Church of Westport. Half expenses of a trip to Aloha Camp, Northfield, is the reward.

Japan has been the special subject for study this year. One group carried out the Japanese custom of a Doll’s Festival. Another group cut, colored and set up a paper Japanese village. Still another group gave up their usual Christmas party, and made an extra offering for a special missionary need.

The Christian Endeavor Societies have been active, but there is a great opportunity for increased missionary education in their program.

World Service Sunday Schools cannot be emphasized too strongly. Send for the leaflet! Be a World Service School! Missionary education in the Church School reaches all ages! It is the very first place to begin!

Let the Young People become well acquainted with their own young missionaries, and let us make them feel this year that they have an important part in taking responsibility for their share of the work.

Ethel R. Sterling,
Young People's Secretary.

Inanda. The past year has brought one brief letter from Mrs. Edwards, in which she says very little about herself. That is characteristic. She does express great pleasure in the interest and skill with which Mr. James is caring for the fruit trees and the grounds, and adds, "I shall not be ashamed of the place when visitors come." Mrs. Edwards planted many of these trees herself and cares very much for their preservation. At the close of her letter she sends greetings to her friends. But of course we have to depend upon others to really learn about Mrs. Edwards. Miss Phelps gives us an instance of her real humility and utter absence of self-consciousness in connection with her work. It seems that Mrs. Edwards heard of a plan to bring out a good picture of her in the Missionary Herald, with a little account of her life, and expressed decided disapproval. Miss Phelps adds in explanation, "You know she always disclaims having done anything of note; she says she has been just an ordinary school teacher, nothing more." It is good news to us all that "She is wonderfully well, and claims to be as well as ever she was except her leg." Miss Minnie Carter writes of Mrs. Edwards' influence and substantial help in keeping open a branch school where Catholics had encroached, and says, "This is only one bit of the work."
Mrs. Fred Bridgman, writing of the annual meeting of the Zulu Mission in Inanda, says, "Dear Mrs. Edwards' rooms were a shrine where we all went to do her honor. She was wonderfully well and her keen interest in the missionaries and their problems, as well as in the native people, does not seem to flag."

Miss Carter rejoices, as do many other, over the escape of the American Board from a threatened deficit. She seems to have received a strong impression when in this country that the women took the responsibility of making up deficits instead of retrenching. Among the great needs of the School at Inanda, she mentions—money for transportation and installment of a gasoline engine and tank from Umzumbe, to take the place of inefficient windmills for their water supply; new roofing for the cottage, the Stanwood, in which she (Miss Carter) lives; and a new ceiling for the downstairs rooms of the Edwards Industrial Hall to prevent noise that disturbs class work. She asks us to pray for the Sunday Schools which she and some of the local girls have started in different stations; and also for the branch work which needs much prayer, as the people are still so bound by superstition. Her evangelistic class of volunteers from among the students numbers sixteen at present. Inanda Seminary is preparing a student to go out as a foreign missionary. This does not mean leaving Africa; but she is going to a strange country and a strange language, and expects to become the assistant of Miss Minnie Clarke in Portuguese East Africa. The Principal of Inanda Seminary, Miss Evelyn Clarke, has been this year in America on furlough. In her absence Miss Walbridge has taken her place as Principal. We are told, "She is energetic, efficient and young, and the Zulu girls like her very much."
Paotingfu. Miss Andrews' latest letter reports a delightful summer spent in Kalgan where she gave herself entirely to rest. The preceding year had left her very weary, as she herself writes, "quite at the end of my strength. Usually at Kalgan I do some work in my special line—Bible teaching—but this summer I did nothing of the kind." She describes Kalgan as an ideal place for rest, "the air fresh and life-giving, the mountains all around so beautiful," the whole atmosphere so quiet and restful, that as a result she came away feeling physically restored and "ready to take up work again, though, of course, not so strong as when I was younger."

But a great trial awaited her in the autumn. For some years past she has greatly enjoyed her pleasant home with Dr. and Mrs. Goodrich in Peking. During that summer of 1923 Mrs. Goodrich was stricken with a fatal illness and their home was broken up. It proved impossible to find suitable quarters for Miss Andrews in the Mission Compound at Peking where she felt so at home; so, when an urgent request came from Paotingfu that she should take up her Bible teaching in the Girls' School there, it seemed to her to be "the Lord's leading," and she accepted the invitation. As the change seemed likely to be a permanent one, a real moving of furniture, books, pictures and all her personal belongings was necessary, enough to tax heavily her newly found strength; but after the change was completed Miss Andrews wrote of her pleasant, convenient quarters, bright and cheery, and that she already felt "quite at home."

It is a great joy to her to be with Miss Abbie Chapin, a dear and long time friend, who is at the head of the house. Miss Isabel Phelps and Miss Grace Breck are also there.
Miss Andrews writes: "We are a very happy family. I can only thank God that the great change has been so satisfactorily accomplished. So I begin a new life, with new opportunities, new joys, and likely new trials, but as the Lord Jesus makes His home with me here, all must be well. And as I thank Him for all that is past I can surely trust Him for all that is to come. I have written so particularly because I am sure my friends of the New Haven Branch like to know all about my circumstances. I am sure you will pray for me that in my new place and work the Lord's Spirit may be my constant Guide and Helper, so that all my life work may be for the glory of His Name, and that I may be able to help many souls heavenward. Much love to New Haven Branch fellow-workers." Miss Andrews' Bible-teaching is carried on in both the Girls' School and the Woman's School, and she instructs a group of women in the tatting class under Mrs. Hubbard. The three ladies with whom she lives are rejoicing in her coming, and say of her: "She is shedding a benediction on all wherever she goes." A great addition to the working force at Paotingfu is Mrs. Chang Yun Yu, a graduate of the Peking University School of Theology, and a well-trained worker. She has been chosen president of a Social Service organization, and has opened a home for old women. Presbyterian, Congregational and prominent Chinese ladies are cooperating in sustaining the enterprise.

The Woman's School in Paotingfu has a new interest for us now, not only on Miss Andrews' account, but because four hundred dollars, which our Branch took as an additional Woman's Board appropriation, has been allotted to it. It is under the care of Miss Isabelle Phelps, one of our Evangelistic missionaries. Its thirty-five adult students are all married Christian women ambitious to study. Miss Phelps teaches Bible classes twenty-six periods each week.
Fourteen of her pupils helped to teach station classes, or did general evangelistic work during the two weeks after the lunar New Year. They brought back enthusiastic reports of people who tore down their idols that they might worship the true God: many of the women thanking them for bringing them the Gospel. The girls in the boarding schools number eighty-five, and four teachers are giving full time. Altogether Paotingfu seems a very alive place. Perhaps here it is "the blood of the martyrs," Mary Morrill and Annie Gould, that has been the seed producing this large growth.

Miss Mary McClure, one of our own missionaries stationed at Fenchow, is now in this country on furlough. The area of which Fenchow is the center is eight times the size of Massachusetts. There are ninety churches in this field, and one thousand members were added to these churches last year. In her work among the women in the outstations Miss McClure comes in touch with hundreds of women. The increasing share that the Chinese Christians are taking in the work of the mission is one of our greatest encouragements. Mr. Goertz says that while the work is exceedingly interesting to the missionaries, they feel it is the finer and wiser thing to turn it over to the Chinese themselves as quickly as they are ready for it.

Dingloh. Good news comes from the School at Dingloh, very dear to us as the Abbie B. Child Memorial. A year ago they were sadly cramped for lack of a suitable dormitory for the girls. Now the money has been raised, and the new dormitory space as planned will provide for one hundred boarding pupils. It is a great relief.

Miss Laura Ward, the Principal of the School, finds the lack of trained teachers for the country schools one of her greatest difficulties. It takes more than the output of the Abbie B. Child Memorial School to keep thirty-six primary schools supplied, in addition to all the other positions the graduates are called upon to fill. So Miss Ward takes the best material she can find, and carefully supervises the work of each teacher herself. It takes her over a month to get around, travelling as fast as she can by sedan chair and boat. Last November a Teachers' Institute was held for ten days. Twenty-five day school teachers attended. Four normal trained teachers each taught a class of the first grade. Then followed a class for discussion and criticism. The girls went back to their work with a deeper understanding of its importance and better fitted for it in a hundred practical, definite ways. Miss Ward writes an enthusiastic account of a Conference for the Deepening of the Spiritual Life at which Bishop Roots, of the American Episcopal Church, was the chief speaker, and great themes were considered—Evangelism, plans for bringing together the denominations in a reunited church, Moral Welfare Association against gambling, opium-growing, selling of girl babies and other evils. Miss Ward says the life of a missionary is never monotonous, and considers that one of the greatest experiences of this year, if not of her life, was the rescue of a widow who was planning to express her devotion to her husband by being publicly hanged by her own father and brothers. To be sure, the rescue was really only temporary, as the widow succeeded some months later in hanging herself, but the strongly encouraging feature of the experience was the sympathetic cooperation, and even military aid, of the Chinese in preventing the horrid public deed. Miss Ward writes: "We feel this is largely due to the quiet influence of Christian ideals. Every one seemed to be wondering what it was that made us go to all this trouble to save the life of a foolish woman. What a glorious opportunity to show how the loving Heavenly Father is seeking His wandering children."
In a later letter Miss Ward tells of an intrepid Chinese Christian woman who dared to remonstrate with soldiers who came to collect unfairly heavy fines for opium growing by a village woman. She succeeded in persuading the leader, by her Christian appeals, to levy a much smaller fine. She gave all the credit of her success to the fact that the man had known the true God and His mission of love. She herself is now preaching every Sunday to many who crowd to hear her, and want to know the God whom she serves. In many events and directions a great change in the attitude of the people can be seen. In spite of stormy conditions in the Foochow region, caused by the war between Northern and Southern armies, yet "it has been a good year for the Kingdom."

Miss Thomas, of the Wenshan Girls' School, says, "The threatened dangers never came near us. We were constantly told what to do if—— but we never had to do it. There were continual rumors of large armies approaching, but we have not been alarmed. Students came in as usual and work went on regularly. It has been a time of knitting together of Chinese and foreign Christians that we shall never forget."

MEXICO.

Guadalajara. Miss Gladys Thompson, our newest missionary of the Woman's Board to Mexico, is the successor of Mrs. Barbara Howland Barber.

She reached Mexico early in last September and writes enthusiastically about the Country, the City of Guadalajara, and the School—The Instituto Colon. She teaches English in the first, second, fifth and sixth grades of the School; two grades in the preparatory School, and has one class in French, making eight classes a day, which she says she enjoys immensely.
The School Enrollment of the past year has broken all previous records, one hundred and eighty-five against one hundred and twenty-five. Thirty-nine of this number are boarding pupils. They are alert and eager, and the spirit of coöperation is really impressive. Different groups have joined together in raising money for interesting purposes. In May they saved and raised thirty-five dollars for the Smyrna refugees in Athens.

Miss Marquita Wright is Principal of the School; Miss Burdorf is in charge of the Kindergarten, and Miss Julia Wagner of California is now at the School getting preparation for work at the Marquillo School next year. Each one of the girls has some regular work assigned to her, and they go about it vigorously; "busy as bees and humming too."

The spirit of truth and clean sportsmanship is inculcated, and the hearty response of the girls to calls for service and sacrifice shows that they are beginning to grasp the essentials of Christianity.

Czecho-Slovakia.

A letter from Rev. John S. Porter tells us of "thirty churches, three thousand two hundred and fifty communicants, one hundred and ten out-stations, one hundred and forty places of regular preaching, and seven churches entirely self-supporting in little Czecho-Slovakia." The people of this country have given fifteen thousand dollars for Gospel work in their own land; just twice what the Board appropriated for it. There has been growth all along the line. New churches can be organized as soon as pastors are ready to take them. There are now sixty nurses in the growing Deaconess work, and two are going to the State Training School supported by American women. The Deaconesses go to the sick without regard to church. Orphanage work here, too, is accomplishing great things. Mr. Porter wrote in February last that at the next meeting of the Prague Church Conference they were going to consider seriously the question of becoming absolutely self-supporting and independent in 1932, the sixtieth anniversary of the work of the American Board in that part of Europe.

Micronesia.

Miss Baldwin writes that the Kusaiens still plead with God for His blessing on the American Board and the Woman’s Boards.

There is such a demand in the Islands for the Christian Endeavor and Sunday School Lesson topics in different languages that the printing of the Bible has had to be laid aside for a time. But the work is now all prepared and waiting for the mail steamer. Protestant Christians in the Mortlock Islands are having great trouble with Spanish Catholic priests. It amounts to real persecution in some cases, and they ask to be remembered in prayers.

The mail steamer bringing Christmas cheer arrived December twenty-third, and gave a joyful day to all of the girls and boys, with a victrola adding to the pleasure of the Christmas tree, it being heard for the first time.

The Kusaiens rejoiced greatly that the American Board had ended its year without a deficit and made their own gift to the Board larger than ever before. The boys here printed a small edition of Pilgrim’s Progress for the people of Truk. They are greatly in need of books—singing books, Bible Stories, Catechisms, Arithmetics, etc. Miss Baldwin says they could run two printing presses if there were time in addition to school duties to oversee the work. There is so much loss of food shipment that if it were not for bread fruit they would all fare poorly. On the Island of Truk a seven years’ famine of this fruit has caused much distress. There is a splendid religious spirit among the girls in the school. The church members meet together at daybreak for prayer, and are making earnest efforts to lead the younger girls to Christ.

They were planning for a day of prayer before they begin the great work of printing the Bible in the Kusaien language.

Spain.

Miss Bigelow, acting principal (Directora) of the Colegio Internacional in Barcelona, charming and efficient, creating a happy, loving Christian spirit, is universally beloved. On October twenty-fourth, she inaugurated Founder’s Day, in honor of Mrs. Gulick, to whom the school is a living memorial.

About one hundred girls, internas (boarders) and externas (day pupils) are now in attendance,—Spanish, English and American. Most of the classes are taught in English, some in Spanish, and some in French. All grades are included, from Kindergarten through High School. It is a democratic household, girls from the wealthiest families side by side with those from the poorest. Many of them are learning to teach, so that they may go back to teach the little children in their own pueblos. The teachers feel that they belong to us, for they say, “We can do nothing without the help of our home people. We need your love, sympathy and hearty prayers in order to make our work successful.”

The Philippines.

Twice during the past year have the hearts of Miss Anna and Miss Florence Fox been made to leap and sing for joy! Once in the summer, when the glad news reached them that their sister Evelyn was to join them in their work, and also that an extra $315 had been granted them, which would supply their much-needed furniture for classrooms and bedrooms; and again at Thanksgiving time, when came the joyful tidings that their prayers were answered, and that the money was on hand for the new dormitory of the Cayagan Bible School! They were overwhelmed with delight and gratitude, and "went about with their feet hardly touching the earth."

In this dormitory, which will be far more convenient and commodious than the old one, will be girls from the Bible School, and also many from the country districts, who come to the city to attend the public schools. The missionaries give them a good home, with proper care and chaperonage. They strive to implant a true home ideal and an earnest Christian character. The girls are very responsive, and several have confessed Christ. In February they held their first Commencement, sending out three fine girls to spread Christianity among their own people.

They occasionally come into contact with the Moros, whom they find most interesting, and who will be a wonderful people when they are won to Christ.

Turkey.

Aintab. The work at Aintab this past year has had its mountain tops of hope and its valleys of discouragement. In September the hospital opened with a rush,—clinics, wards, consultations and operations filled the days to overflowing. But in October Dr. Shepard, not having the required Government license, was forbidden to practice, and the hospital was closed. This latter order was soon revoked, and upon the arrival of Dr. Piper, an English physician with a former license, wards and clinics were again reopened.
Dr. Hamilton has continued her clinics for women and her city work throughout the year. She is most welcome in the homes of the wealthiest and the poorest alike, and successfully handles very serious cases.

In August the missionaries held a farewell reception for their Armenian druggist, who had faithfully discharged his duties for over thirty years, and whose father had worked in the hospital with Miss Trowbridge’s father. His three sons have now grown up and come to America, and he, with his wife, is joining the young men in Chicago.

In the late summer, Miss Trowbridge and Dr. Hamilton took a fortnight’s vacation among the vineyards and fig orchards, holding evening prayers with all who chanced to come that way. A rough young boy came a few times, and afterward was heard singing to himself, ‘‘I’m a pilgrim and I’m a stranger.’’ His father later said, ‘‘Something has made the boy better!’’

Miss Trowbridge has spent many hours in the hospital wards and in Dr. Hamilton’s clinics, telling over and over again ‘‘the old, old story of Jesus and His love.’’ This story, new to many of her listeners, is nearly always received with gladness, by those of varying creeds and nationalities. She writes, ‘‘What a joy it is to give the Lord’s message of salvation and cleansing, and to have the poor suffering people willing to take it in, even a little.’’

She has told the same ‘‘old story’’ in many a city home, thereby bringing a ray of hope and comfort to the sorrowing; she has told it on her ‘‘villaging’’ tours, visiting friends and relatives of returned hospital patients; she has told it in quiet, inconspicuous gatherings, and in the Sunday School held for the children on the Compound,—and always she has lived the same wonderful ‘‘old story.’’

The Bible women, also telling the same ‘‘old story,’’ find their way into many more homes, and waken a new interest in those monotonous lives.
Miss Clark, the enthusiastic young nurse, is coming home on furlough this summer, and her place as Hospital Superintendent is filled by Miss Phelps of Marash.

Adana. Miss Borel, with others of the Adana group, spent a quiet, restful vacation in the country, with trees and nightingales for neighbors. The school opened happily, and now numbers well over one hundred. Miss Borel is enjoying her classes in French, music and singing, and is continually striving to implant high ideals in the minds of these girls. Forbidden to teach religion, there seems to be all the more necessity for living it.

The girls are very responsive, keen and alert in games as well as study, and are well worth while, but many will have to leave when the transfer of population with Greece takes place. On Sunday Miss Borel meets a group of girls—Jewish, Greek, Turkish, Czecho-Slovak—all using French as an intermediary language, and all eager to learn. They discuss such subjects as—Helen Keller's life and optimism; the poison and the cure of fear; the duty and privilege of cheerfulness; the blessedness of possessing without owning; whether we are triangular or round (i. e., have we few or many interests to keep us from friction and to help us in our contact with others). She always endeavors to leave with them some main thought which will serve for the week. She says, "I know nothing better or more satisfying than to live with young girls anxious to learn and to grow."

On a recent holiday the teachers took forty-five of the big girls out in the fields where they had a joyous time, gathering cyclamens and hyacinths, lunching under a big rock (the trees were all used for fuel during the war), and playing baseball. They are, for the first time in the history of the school, taking a keen interest in organized games—a great step forward,—for fair play, and play without quarrels has hitherto been unknown.
Dr. Haas has now been able to reopen his pharmacy, with restrictions, but this means the practical recognition of the hospital, which still exists though without an actual permit.

Aleppo. "The American High School for Girls," as it is now called, was opened in charge of Miss Foreman and Miss Norton for former Aintab pupils. Later many refugees from Marash also wished to attend, making necessary a larger building and an increase in the American staff.

The W. B. M. I., which was responsible for the Marash school, agreed to coöperate with funds and a teacher. Miss Foreman secured a large, commodious building in a more healthful location, and the school reopened last September with over one hundred girls. The number has since increased, and it might be still larger if they could take Arabic-speaking children, but that does not seem practicable.

A day school for lower grades, enrolling over two hundred, is still carried on in the Armenian camp.

Constantinople. The school at Scutari, under Miss Kinney’s skilful guidance, is filling a large place. Permission was delayed; but, following the Government regulations, securing two Turkish teachers, and making Turkish obligatory for the seven-year course, the school opened in the fall, and soon enrolled one hundred boarders and one hundred and fifty day pupils.

Children are admitted to all grades from kindergarten through the four years of high school, including boys up to the fourth grade. One important feature is a training class for kindergarten teachers.

English is taught as a lesson in the first three grades, and above that is used for all subjects. Turkish is taught by Turks to all. Armenian is taught as a lesson by Armenians to Armenians only.

The high school girls have a Y. W. C. A., opening up many ways of service. The grammar grades enjoy a Good Cheer Club, and the smallest girls are Bluebirds. Saturday evenings are enlivened with debates, concerts, plays, lectures and games.

The atmosphere of the whole school is one of friendliness, helpfulness and development.

Marsovan. This name seems to have dropped out of existence, the Turkish Merzifoum having superseded it. Miss Willard and Miss Noyes have been joined by Miss Morley and Miss Zbinden, all feeling it well worth while, even before receiving permission to open school, just to be there and make friends and win the confidence of the people.

During Christmas week, they gave a party for the children of their workers, kept the Day itself in peace and quietness, gave another party for the children of their neighbors, and entertained over one hundred and fifty callers. Then came the desired permission, and the school was joyfully opened, with Miss Morley as Principal. Only eight children appeared, but more are coming soon, and even that number is encouraging. It is interesting to find that there were exactly eight pupils when the school first opened, sixty years ago. May its influence and service in the uplift of woman be even greater in this, its second half-century, than in its first!

Miss Willard is giving English lessons, out of sheer good will, to a group of eighteen lads, and to some others for compensation. Many young men of the city are anxious to learn English for business purposes, and there are many inquiries about the opening of the long-closed College.

Pompish Propion, the Bible-woman, is very happy and successful in her work. Her meetings are well attended, and all the people of the city hold her in high esteem.

Miss Morley says, "It gives us strength of heart when we think that there are many who are praying earnestly for the upbuilding of the Kingdom here, and for us who are trying to be instruments in that upbuilding. We pray for you, as you do for us."

Talas. Last May, Mrs. Sewny was transferred to Thassos, another Grecian island, and put in charge of several hundred tubercular children. She found the work of absorbing interest; but in the fall, after a few weeks’ vacation, armed with the necessary permission, she again returned to Talas. Such a different Talas it is from the once flourishing city,—a large part still in ruins, and the Compound, once alive with merry girls, now quiet and lonely. Dr. Clark opened the hospital, and his clinics were crowded, but later he was refused permission to practice.

Mrs. Sewny took great pleasure in a Sunday School class, and also in a group of girls to whom she taught nursing and first aid. There is still a small Protestant church in Talas, but the exchange of population with Greece, soon to take effect, will leave few, if any, Protestants in the place.

On April 5th, the date of her last letter, Mrs. Sewny was at Nirzidere, a village four miles from Talas, aiding Mr. and Mrs. Compton in the care of a Turkish orphanage, a work which she always enjoys.

Finding its services not desired, the N. E. R. is about to withdraw entirely from Turkey. Then Mrs. Sewny is planning to enter upon orphanage work in Beirut.

Caesarea. The kindergarten building had been used by the government for returning Moslem refugees; but when Miss Richmond returned, entering the country with Mrs. Sewny, it was given back. Miss Richmond divided her time between Caesarea and Talas, finding many opportunities to get in touch with the women in their homes.

She interviewed the Director of Schools on the subject of opening a kindergarten. He was quite willing, but it would be necessary to have a Turkish teacher from Constantinople, and to follow all the government restrictions, including these: "Foreigners are not to hang picture texts or anything of a religious nature on the walls of the school or corridors; no Moslem child, either voluntarily or by persuasion, is to attend any Christian service; a strict watch will be kept, and if it is found that any disobey this law, the school will be closed immediately." Miss Richmond, knowing how thoroughly the kindergarten songs and programs are permeated with Christian atmosphere, is really wondering whether she ought to make the attempt.

Athens. The uplift work among the refugees in Athens is most enthusiastically reported by Miss Shane. She herself has the oversight of two village schools, each numbering over two hundred, and of the general relief work. The newcomers need the most aid, those who have been there longer having become more nearly, if not quite, self-supporting. Their hardships and privations have been grievous, but they have met them with unusual courage, knowing that they were in a free and safe land.

In October a school for girls opened with great promise, sixty pupils, equally divided between Greeks and Armenians, speedily enrolling. Some of these came from Constantinople, some from Smyrna, and others from Marsovan. Their school paper is called "Sunny Days," a name indicative of the children's appreciation of their new surroundings.

The people themselves are organizing Christian Endeavor Societies, and night schools for those employed during the day. There are signs of a wide religious awakening. One worker writes, "It may be the greatest blessing that these people ever had,—being uprooted from their old life of fear in Turkey, and thrown in contact with another nation and with their own people from so many different sections. There is bound to be an awakening,—new ideas, new visions."
Alexandropol. Last summer Miss Silliman spent a few weeks in America, and told something of her work in that immense orphanage, sheltering from sixteen to eighteen thousand homeless wanderers. She holds the important position of School Superintendent for the five thousand five hundred boys, and is very happy and successful in her work. She is now rejoicing over the transfer of a large building from the Hospital to the Educational Department, giving her twenty-five classrooms, and concentrating her work. A six-inch fall of snow in February was most timely, as the water supply was so low, that the little boys had to go to school with dirty hands and faces, and watch their chance for a drink in the shower bath, before the soap was added. A novel experience has been afforded by a succession of earthquakes, none very severe, but somewhat disconcerting.

They are about to start for the boys a small model village farm; enough like those of the country to be practicable, but sufficiently advanced to give them some good new ideas. There is to be a small compound, containing a house, stable, dairy, etc., a wagon-shed and workshop, and a garden. The boys, under supervision, are to do all the constructive work, and to care for the animals and garden. One hundred boys are being sent to a large Agricultural School,—the best thing that the Near East has done for the children.

India.

The story of organized Christian work in India, in its larger aspects, is one of steadily increasing responsibility, both financial and administrative, borne by Indians themselves. Foreign missions in that country are in process of merging themselves in the general Christian movement. It is easy to foresee the day when the evangelization of India will be in the hands of Indians.
The individual items of New Haven Branch work in the Marathi, the Madura, and the Ceylon missions are so numerous that many of them cannot even be mentioned in the brief compass of the annual report. On file in our Bureau of Information is many a story of the fruitful efforts of Bible women, of the widespread, fundamental work of day schools, of the fascinating activities of kindergartens. Contributors to these lines of work are referred to the Bureau for information. The printed report is necessarily restricted, for the greater part, to material concerning the missionaries and the larger institutions.

Bombay. Our Bombay High School, with its boarding department, is under the care of an Indian principal, and the satisfaction of the Government inspector testifies to the character of the work done. Organizations of Boy Scouts and Girl Guides are in existence here, as in our other mission schools, and are of great interest and benefit to the pupils. Miss Simpson supervises the girls and women teachers in Bowker Hall, where an excellent spirit prevails. A system of self-government is in force among the girls.

There has been a strong conviction for some years that community service should be undertaken in Bombay, and the work has now been inaugurated in a small way. Lincoln House, in which Dr. Karmarkar for many years had her dispensary, has been taken over for the men’s work, and Bowker Hall, which is unnecessarily large for the girls’ boarding home, has been rearranged to accommodate also, at least temporarily, the new community service for women, under Mrs. Katherine Gates, and the medical work.

We are glad to have on our list of workers Dr. Karmarkar’s successor, Dr. Ranadive, a young, well-trained Indian woman, whose work during her first year in Bombay has been chiefly in her dispensary and among the children of the mission schools. She plans to hold baby clinics in connection with the community service. Dr. Karmarkar in her retirement is experiencing disappointment that her health does not permit her, at present, to do any work. She writes that she can only pray; and she asks our prayers that she may be worthy to suffer and yet praise God for all His goodness, which never fails.

Ahmednagar. It has been one of the privileges of the past year to have Miss Bruce twice in our territory during her brief furlough. Those who met her or heard her speak need no assurance that the Girls’ School at Ahmednagar is in the care of a wise and consecrated leader. She was saddened to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Edith Smith, a loyal friend and associate, whom the seriously depleted mission can ill spare. The school is being steadily developed along the best lines of English education, and is training those who are to be the well-educated women leaders of the Christian community. In order that it may carry out this purpose more fully, certain vernacular standards will probably be discontinued at this school. The pupils are working earnestly to raise the relatively large amount of money, 1,000 rupees, which they have pledged toward the needed new building for the Bible Women’s Training School. Miss Bruce makes a strong plea for the same object, for which contributions from this Branch have amounted to nearly one thousand dollars during the year.

The Ahmednagar hospital has been strengthened by the return of Dr. Ruth Hume after a prolonged furlough, and by the arrival of a new nurse, Miss Holland, who writes an enthusiastic account of her first impressions. A recent renovation of the interior of the hospital building and the installation of electricity add much to comfort and efficiency. The hospital’s opportunity for service is almost unlimited. Last year Dr. Clark and her assistants cared for nearly one thousand in-patients and eight thousand out-patients. Eleven Bible women work in the hospital and among the former patients in their homes.

Madura. Miss Katie Wilcox returned about a year ago to Madura and the overcrowded Capron Hall School, and a few months later this Branch was able to notify her of its appropriation of $12,000 from the Scranton legacy for a new recitation building, a like amount to be obtained, presumably, through a Government grant. The cheering effect of this message was evident in the acknowledgments that came from teachers and pupils. Miss Wilcox had returned from furlough eager to put into practice ideas gathered during her term of study at Teachers College; and it was most disappointing to her to fall ill in December with an affection of the heart which demanded a considerable period of rest. Her chief concern was for her colleagues, who must try to provide for her work in addition to carrying their own very full programs. It has been a difficult period for Miss Noyes and Miss VanAllen; but encouragement for the future is found in the appointment of two new workers for the school, Miss Swan and Miss Lila Wyman. Miss Wilcox has steadily improved in health, and has now gone to the hills for the hot season.

The school has not grown in numbers in recent years, because, as Miss Wilcox says, "We cannot get bigger without cracking our shell." The school girls work hard, for the rigid requirements of government inspectors must be met. The normal students assist the Indian teachers in volunteer work at a community center, and not only bring relief to the needy at that place, but themselves receive training which will help them to conduct similar work in the villages in which they will teach.

Relief has come to the hospital through the temporary help of Dr. Schmotin, a Russian, who proved herself a capable associate for Dr. Parker. She is now absent in Europe, but is expected to return in the fall for a three-year term of service. The long-desired American nurse has also been found, and is under appointment. Miss Grace Kennett is happy to be assisting Dr. Parker, the only mother whom she remembers. She writes that the daily average of inpatients is 75, and of patients in the dispensary 165. Already at times the wards of this new hospital building are overtaxed, and patients must be placed on the floors or verandahs.

Ceylon. This past year, for the first time, we have had an interest, and a considerable one, in the school at Uduvil, Ceylon. It is one of the oldest and best of mission schools, and it has a large body of loyal alumnae who are a source of strength. In all departments, from kindergarten through high school, there are over 600 students, half of whom are boarding pupils. Music is emphasized in the curriculum, and there is great interest in the wholesome activities of the Girl Guides. Many of the pupils come from Christian homes, but among the thirty-six girls who united with the church last year, eleven were from Hindu families. A group consisting of thirteen members looks forward to definite Christian service.

JAPAN.

Kobe. A new name on our list of workers for the past year is that of Miss Florella Pedley, a young missionary who has returned to the land of her childhood to act as secretary to Miss DeForest, President of Kobe College, and to assist with the teaching. For a short time in September, when Kobe was a center of work for earthquake refugees, all the missionaries devoted their energies to this special work, and the college did its share in feeding, housing, and caring for a group of one hundred unfortunates, mostly Russians. Miss Pedley finds that during her years in America a considerable measure of western freedom has come to the young women of Japan, who, however, through limitations due both to inheritance and to long tradition, are in danger of being unable to make the wisest use of their new opportunities. It is here that she sees the enormous value of the Christian schools and colleges, with their training in initiative and self-reliance, and above all with their emphasis on character.

Matsuyama. The year has brought much of definite encouragement to our Girls' School at Matsuyama. Alterations of the old buildings and purchase of equipment have been made possible through the use of funds received from the sale of part of the former site. A new gymnasium, which seemed to be the first and most imperative need in the carrying out of the comprehensive plan for development, has been assured by the appropriation of $12,000 by this Branch, again from the Scranton legacy. With these improvements made or definitely in sight, application can now be made for Government recognition of the school.

For much of the time during the past four years Miss Hoyt has been without a colleague, though in addition to the responsibility of conducting the school she has had on her hands the development of a scheme for alteration of existing buildings and for construction of new; and she has written wistfully of her inability to give time to the things that she considers most important of all, namely, helping the teachers to do better work, and bringing inspirational and character-building material into the life of the girls. Of no less encouragement, therefore, than the progress in the building program is the appointment of Miss Morrill as associate to Miss Hoyt, on a three-year term, and that of Miss Rosamund Clark on a life tenure. For more than one-third of the pupils this school means practically their first contact with Christianity; for nearly all of them it means their first real training in Christian ideals and religious habits of thought and conduct.

Our other school in Matsuyama, the Night School, also continues to develop. Miss Judson has recently arranged the purchase of two small pieces of property adjoining the school grounds, in one case to provide a sunny, healthful home for the family of a teacher, in the other case to insure protection from undesirable neighbors. The courses of study are also being extended. A morning class, first established last year, has been attended by fifty pupils. These continue, and a new morning class enters. A fourth year has been added to the evening high school course. It is only strong, earnest, persevering young people who are able to pursue their studies at the close of long days spent in industry. Once having accepted Christianity, as many of them do, such young people become tireless workers in school, home, church or Sunday School; and those who go on to higher, professional schools become noteworthy leaders in the Christian community. A recent gift of 1,000 yen, for endowment, from a Matsuyama manufacturer is of interest and significance. A flourishing kindergarten, with its mothers’ meetings, and a morning and an evening Sunday School are other activities carried on under Miss Judson’s supervision in the night school building.

Appreciation of Miss Judson’s educational work for struggling young people was publicly expressed in February, when the Prince Regent, on the occasion of his marriage, bestowed honors upon some 250 people throughout the empire, who had distinguished themselves in public service. Miss Judson and her right-hand man, Mr. Nishimura, were included in the small group from their province. They were banqueted, given silver cups, and 200 yen each in money, together with a testimonial describing their services. The schools, the kindergarten, the church and the foreign community of the city took occasion the same day to recognize further, with congratulations and gifts, Miss Judson's long and valued service. While such well-deserved recognition cannot fail to be grateful to her, yet Miss Judson's real crown of rejoicing is the large group of those to whom, when they were working boys and girls, she opened the door of opportunity, and who, under her guidance, have become strong workers for the extension of the Kingdom of God in Japan.
