NINETEENTH ANNUAL ASSEMBLY.

The Nineteenth Annual Assembly of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia, was held in the West Walnut St. Church, Philadelphia, Pa., April 24th and 25th, 1889.

It was a matter for devout thanksgiving that perfect days came for the meeting. Always a blessing, fine weather was the more so on this occasion because we lunched in a separate building two squares away.

Mrs. W. E. Schenck presided. Reports were read as usual. We regret to say the Treasurer's record shows a falling off of about $6,000, from last year.

The greatest blessing to a missionary meeting is a missionary. We felt this in the presence of ten ladies, eight of whom addressed the meeting.

Mrs. Shedd, with thirty years' experience in Persia, spoke with peculiar power on some "Proofs of the Grace of God in Persia," and Mrs. Tracy, of Etawah, India, on the "Realities of Mission Work," as she had found them. Mrs. Lyenberger, of the Northwest Board, brought a touching "Message from China," and, for the time it took, more missionary intelligence was elicited from the "Missionary Symposium" than from any one hour and a half in mission annals. Those who took part in this were:

Mrs. Tracy, India; Miss Fullerton, India; Miss Davis, Japan; Mrs. Reading, Africa; Mrs. Shedd, Persia; Mrs. Potter, Persia; Miss Everett, Syria; Mrs. Lyenberger, China; besides these Miss Scott, of India, and Mrs. Landes, of South America, were present.

The thanks of the Society are due to Mrs. McMillan, of Wooster, Ohio, to Mrs. Thos. Carter, of Boonton, N. J., and to Mrs. S. C. Perkins, for excellent, timely and suggestive papers.

Dr. S. W. Dana presided over the evening service, assisted by Dr. H. C. McCook. An address by Rev. Geo. A. Seeley, of Futteli-gurh, India, and an impressive appeal for Siam, by Rev. E. P. Dunlap, brought the cause of Foreign Missions vividly before an immense audience.

Mrs. Bailey, of Harrisburg, closed the Assembly on Thursday afternoon, devoutly pointing out that Foreign Missions is the work of the Holy Spirit, and we went out assured that from first to last He had been with us, to "endue with power."
Christian womanhood exalts itself in the contemplation of so great a theme as that of Foreign Missions, and it is with pleasure and some degree of satisfaction we present the record of another year in this world-wide enterprise.

The Nineteenth Annual Report is commended to an earnest and thoughtful perusal, with the hope that it may furnish many a Band, auxiliary and individual, with information indispensable to the best interests of the work.

We acknowledge the care of our Heavenly Father in preserving, for the most part, the lives of those who serve Him through many perils and frequent exposures; yet we note with sorrow three deaths during the year.

Mrs. J. H. Morrison died of fever at Sabathu; Mrs. M. C. Perry, in Liberia, and our dear young friend, Mrs. Clara Linton Hamilton (Mrs. W. B.) having gone from her home in Belle vernon, Pa., to Chenganfoo, China, only this year. Her whole missionary life thus bounded by a twelvemonth; it was a life full of promise, allowed only to bud here, to become the perfect flower in the heavenly gardens.

The work of the year, to say the least, is satisfactory; faith and works have been rewarded in countless ways, and throughout there is "a shining track and trail of splendor" in our Heavenly Father's love and acceptance of us. We may only state the general fact, that inestimably precious souls have seen the Great Light and have come to worship Him; rapt spirits have flown from the presence of teachers and friends with songs and everlasting joy upon their lips, who but for these teachers would have died hopeless.

Schools have reached unprecedented place and power. Larger grants have been made than ever before for their support and equipment. Alien Government officials have become friendly and exhibited their friendliness by sending their children to our schools. Our zenana visitors and evangelists are not only welcomed but implored to visit women in their homes. "Behold how beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of Him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace." This is the spirit that leads those who hear the missionary is coming to go out and over the mountains to meet him.

Woman's work among the women has never had the ascendancy it has to-day. Everywhere those on the field are in demand. Not a Mission but sends a call for more help from single ladies; scarcely a school but needs one more teacher. Children in schools abroad are everywhere responding liberally by contributing to missionary undertakings, both Home and Foreign; so that we number great hosts being trained in the missionary spirit whose influence is incalculable.

It has been a year of helpful, hopeful progress, yet not without discipline. We have been disappointed in the breaking down of health, in enforced absence from work, in the growing frequency of the return home; in the marriage of numbers of our single ladies. We have felt a steady drain upon our sympathies in being unable to send out workers as fast as called for. Sixteen places call for as many single women—now,—and have called for months.

One station (Muzzaffanagur) in India, formerly occupied by us, has been vacated. Our medical interests are represented by seven students in college and one graduate this year, Mrs. Okami, the Japanese lady, who has returned to work among her people in Tokio.

In material things we have seen the fair walls of the Kolhapur Girls' Boarding School and Home complete this year; a building for Miss Porter's school in Kanazawna, Japan; and the year is a notable one in Persia, that it sees the finished building for the Girls' Seminary in Oromiah. A house has been built also for our ladies in Yokohama, and we take our share of the eight thousand dollars ($8,000) granted to the Bancho school in Tokio; as also in buildings in Merida and Mexico City Girls' School. A house in Kangwe, Africa, completes the list and welds another chain around the world. No good influence that has ever accompanied boxes has been allowed to lapse, for that way of "keeping up our interest" waxes wider each year. Foreign Missions is based upon immutable law and has for its inspiring motive obedience to one who has the right to demand it. It is presided over by Him whose are the ends of the earth. Shall we measure its progress by human standards? Let it suffice us that the opportunity lies so vividly plain before us; and strong in a new courage, let us go forward into another year, looking into the past only to learn its lessons and improve upon it.

LODIANA MISSION.

Lodiana Christian Boys' School is under the care of Rev. and Mrs. McComb and despite severe retrenchment and discouragement they have kept on, until now they are able to report the school gaining ground as an established institution. Some of the best Christian families send their boys. To a certain extent, distinctions of caste are eliminated and manual labor is now looked upon favorably. Certain industries are taught. In the academic department the character of feeder to the Theological Seminary at Saharanpore has been well sustained—the aim of the school being to provide a perpetual succession of consecrated men for the evangelistic and pastoral work of the native church.

The Heathen Boys' Schools are filled with pupils who go out to prominent positions throughout the country. They are, in the main, less hostile to the truth than graduates of Government Schools and carry away some truths which they cannot forget.

Mrs. C. B. Newton, who will return to America the coming year, writes of severe illness; recovery and intense desire to make up lost time.

Miss Alice E. Bird who was sent out to teach in the Boys' School, has become the wife of Rev. Henry Forman. The need in the Boys' School remains urgent as ever, while she takes up work among wives of Theological students in Saharanpur.

Mrs. E. P. Newton writes that "the Ladies of the Lodiana Mission have formed themselves into a Committee for mutual help and co-operation. They met during annual meetings of the Mission to report progress and discuss methods of work. As a good beginning, they write to us to second the Mission's call for sixteen ladies for this one Mission, all for evangelistic work but one who is wanted for the Dehra School.

FEROZEPORE.—Mrs. F. J. Newton writes of the pleasant Christian congregation, in which as pastor’s wife she has a place in Mission work. There is a small hospital here where Dr. Newton has the sick, and among these or visiting the sick in their homes Mrs. Newton, more by example than by actual work, spreads abroad the knowledge of His name.

Mrs. J. H. Morrison was identified much more with Ferozepore than Sabathu, for in this place she spent years of noble service. A few months previous to her death, she was transferred to the care of the Leper Asylum at SARATHU and had but just entered upon this work, when she was stricken with fever and died in the late summer.

LAHORE.—Mrs. Forman’s work is chiefly in this city in connection with our schools and zenanas. “I wish I could tell you of many in these schools and zenanas coming out from amongst the heathen, but alas I cannot; nevertheless there is progress in many directions. The women are more eager to learn and to listen and we are hopeful of the children, who number five hundred. We ought to push our work amongst the women and girls—it seems harder to overcome their prejudices than the men’s.

A dispensary for women has just been opened in the heart of the city; it was crowded. The wife of the native doctor had charge. There were such numbers (4343 in seven and a half months) that it was found necessary to appoint a Bible woman to help her. One of the Dehra girls was invited to this responsibility.

She writes that the Government is just awakening to the fact that they have neglected the women and children. “Oh! we want no curtailment among the women; it is when they are reached that a bright day will dawn upon India.”

Miss Rosa Harris has 140 pupils on her roll in six schools. She notes a greater appreciation of education on the part of the mothers. More care is taken to see that the children are kept in school.

Miss Emma Harris has charge of five schools and is gratified to see progress in the systematic teaching they now have. Life, death, sickness, hope in Jesus, fear to tell it to their friends, more willingness to be self-sacrificing; these are the phases of life out of which is wrought, by these faithful teachers, the lesson and example of the life that is hid with Christ in God.

Mrs. Anderson, another zenana visitor, has 160 on her rolls. She joyfully records the experience of one who was raised up from the verge of the grave to be a witness to the power of prayer.

Mrs. Ewing has been stationed at LAHORE since her return, but has not been able to report work done, owing to her brief residence there.

VAGLI.—Here, by God’s grace and blessing, Miss Theide has spent another year of fruitful service. Her eyesight restored, her health more firm than ever, she begins her twenty-fifth year of service full of praise for her mercies. Unable to work for four months, she yet made 84 visits to the villages, where she met and instructed inquirers. In the girls’ school, two women were baptized and three more are waiting for baptism. Thirty-three hundred persons received medicine during the year.
DEHRA.—Early in the year Miss Pendleton left for America, and the entire care of this school fell upon Miss Wherry. There are on the roll 102 names, 88 boarders, 14 day scholars. There were eight native teachers. The object in school is to find steady and persistent occupation for the little folk.

Hindi is taught, that the girls may afterward do zenana work, and, if possible, some experience is given to the older girls by sending them out with a zenana worker. Seven girls went out as workers this year, making twenty-four in the last five years. Prayer-meetings, instituted by the girls themselves, proved a blessing; there was some sickness which developed an unexpected degree of self-denial in patients and pupils. There is a missionary society called the “Cheerful Givers,” who help support a Bible woman in Dehra. Miss Wherry rightfully says their “work must be one of interest, because their object is an interesting one to make the women of India better.” Miss H. A. Savage joined Miss Wherry at Dehra during the year. Mrs. Thackwell is occupied with domestic cares and a Sabbath-school numbering 53 scholars.

MUZAFFARNAGAR, where Mrs. Calderwood has worked so long, is abandoned for the present; Mr. and Mrs. Calderwood were called to Lodiana to have charge of Rev. C. B. Newton’s work while he comes to America. Here Mrs. C. is gratified by comparisons with the work as it was thirteen years ago.

AMBALA CITY.—Mrs. Wyckoff was transferred to this city with her husband from Sabathu. Household cares and an early flight to the hills, made necessary by the reason of ill-health, limit Mrs. Wyckoff’s outside labors. Yet she is able to instruct native Christian mothers in necessary domestic knowledge. Dr. Jessica Carleton is reported as having made a good start in practice here, and Miss Janvier has joined her, with a view of giving religious instruction to the patients.

WOODSTOCK SCHOOL has been Miss Susan Hutchison’s home for the past year, her health not being robust she was obliged to rest a while among the hills, where she has been improving with each day. The school has been full to its utmost and prosperous.

SAHARANPUR.—In the Boys’ Orphanage they “are all well and happy,” few cases of discipline, and some real conversions to encourage and sustain their faith. While Mrs. Wherry is in this country, the School for Wives and Children of the Theological Students is under Mrs. Kelso’s care. This school varies each year with the number of married men in the Seminary. Mrs. Kelso kindly reports this work where we have had interest but no representative, for which we send grateful thanks, and hereafter shall hope to hear from Mrs. Henry Forman, who will relieve Mrs. Kelso, by reporting to us.

FURRUKHABAD.—Miss Mary Forman succeeded Miss Seeley
in this city and entered in her first year into the care of about 86 zenanas. With a Bible Woman she was guided through the streets to the houses where she tells the story, illustrates with a colored picture, answers innumerable questions, politely declines spending her time to teach the women to knit, and like the sower with his seed knows not which shall prosper, this or that, but knows the great husbandman watches all.

There was also a Sunday School established in Puppiapore in which Miss Forman taught.

Miss Blunt began the new year with three teachers but closed it with two. She speaks of the satisfactory work they have done, and "prays God will send four suitable sanctified workers" to her. She proposes to open 100 houses for reading and expounding the Bible, giving up teaching and only "tell the story to speak his beauty, and thus let Christ's flock enter in."

Mainpuri.—Mrs. Inglis writes of family cares limiting her work. A faithful woman has had charge of the Hindi Girls' Schools and Zenana. There are 12 girls' schools, the difficulty is to find suitable teachers. 127 girls are under instruction.

The zenanas number 48 with 130 women and girls who learn to read, keep accounts and do useful fancy work. Religious instruction is never omitted.

Etawah.—Mrs. Tracy is at home this year. Miss Belz carries on the work with the faithfulness born of a score of years in the service. "In eleven months," she writes, "I have paid 309 visits to villages, have been in 106 zenanas, in towns and villages have superintended a number of zenana schools, attended 12 melas, and 107 days I devoted to work in the city itself."

In her schools taught by poor native women there are 112 pupils who learn to read, who are of high caste. Miss Belz supplements and reviews the religious instruction.

Jhansi.—Mrs. Holcomb, after no inconsiderable opposition gathered a school of 35 mainly from high class families. Christmas was celebrated, and gifts for next year are bespoken for the tree, also all sorts of school furnishings.

The zenana work grows despite discouragements. In the zenanas 28 pupils are learning to read, five have discontinued their lessons. A crowd encircles the teacher in every house but only regular pupils are counted. One man said "India will never be other than it is until the women are elevated." A good beginning has been made in Sunday School work for non-Christian children which will increase as the working force is increased.

Allahabad.—Over the Jumna Girls' High School in this city Mrs. John Newton has assumed control. She returned to work in India after an absence of many years and to the heavy responsibility of superintending a girls' school, with enthusiasm and thankfulness.
Miss Susan Hutchison who expected to teach here all last year was present the first six weeks and opened the school with forty pupils, "all ages and sizes," in the new building, and gathered from everywhere. Mrs. J. M. Alexander has opened a school for girls at Kutra from which she hopes for such results as shall commend it to your prayers and assistance.

KOLHAPUR.—Mrs. Goheen writes the very latest news of the boarding school for girls that "they are at home in the new buildings." The school is going on comfortably with twenty-five pupils, "a small school but as full of grades as if it were larger." A matron cares for the boarding pupils. English is taught only as an incentive to progress in other things. The sewing class in the school is expected to do all the necessary making and mending of the pupils' clothing and to make plain garments to sell at a profit. Now that we have the new buildings, we take new courage. "We cannot but be thankful for the past." "We cannot but be hopeful for the future."

Mrs. Hull says of the school for Hindi and Mohammedan girls: "I have noticed within a year or two a marked increase of interest in the education of girls." Once parents asked, "What can a girl learn?" Now they say, "My child must be taught," and not infrequently say what she shall learn. The school larger than ever before numbers 46. The girls attend faithfully to religious instruction although four left to attend government school because of greater advantages and no religion.

The zenana pupils taught by Sumatabai number six in four houses. We have much encouragement among these and do not attempt to visit many houses; it is better to strengthen those who are drawn towards the truth. There is a crowded Sabbath School, a more general interest, not always friendly; but opposition is more friendly than indifference, and thus little by little the truth is entering and finding lodgement. Mrs. Seiler has taught one hour a day in the Christian Girls' School, has kept up a large Sunday School, has visited women in their homes when she could, has taught some of the servants and given special instructions to a former pupil from the Mang Wadi of Kolhapur.* Besides these daily duties she made a tour through many villages talking and singing as she went up to Ratnigiri where she formerly lived.

RATNIGIRI.—Our work here has been abandoned and Mrs. Seiler says her heart ached for those who remembered her and thought she had come to stay. Miss M. L. Ewalt went to Kolhapur late in the year.

PANHALA.—In addition to regular classes in special studies

and regular meetings Mrs. Ferris has visited 60 new houses. She determined to preach the gospel to those who would hear, omitting from her list the houses that have been visited for fifteen years without any sign of yielding to her importunity. In all these she has been cordially received. Mr. Ferris is not well and they will return to America in May.

JAPAN.

In Japan there have been twelve months of hard work, of peculiar trial, and yet, in the words of one sorely tried, "the year has been crowned with many mercies and blessings." Miss Alexander, of Yokohama, came home for needed rest early in the year.

Miss Davis, of Tokio, will be at home this summer, and the venerable Mrs. Hepburn, of Yokohama, is expecting to return to close her days in her native land.

Miss Emma Hay was sent out to be our first representative in Graham Seminary, and Mrs. H. M. Landis has recently been added to our workers in this field.

Miss E. A. Light has married a resident of Tokio, and is no longer connected with us as a missionary.

Tokio.—Miss West writes that her longing for a door with a good lock has been gratified. "I could write you whole chapters on the comforts and blessings of the new house," she says: "It adds two or three hours to my day, by freeing me from interruptions." It gives a more commodious place for the young ladies who come to consult their books, play games and spend a pleasant evening once a week.

Miss West and Miss Alexander have four schools under their care. One of these in Yokohama was last year over-crowded, and the building was enlarged. The government approves the management, and, after seeing one examination, ordered the general examination of the upper classes of all the private schools in Yokohama to be held there. A majority of the eight teachers are Christians. A Sabbath-school and the employment of four Bible women; through the agency of these women a number who have been taught have been received into the church and others are preparing for baptism. From this city it is only a brief ride by rail to Tokio, and "Shoi Jo Gakko" is the name of the Young Ladies' Seminary established by Mr. Okami, and in which Miss West and Miss Alexander teach. Here the pupils are of high-class families; are older than at many schools, are anxious to learn, and full of the right kind of enthusiasm.

Out of an average attendance of 45, seven have been received into the church. The desire of parents that daughters shall be married young, reduces the 70 enrolled to nearly half that number; yet, those who go out to their own homes go as messengers in His name, and must still be considered as enrolled in the great schoolmaster’s list. These young ladies contributed ten dollars during the year, which went to the Board of Home Missions in Japan. There is a primary department with a regular attendance of 185 pupils.

Shinagawa is the name of another school under Miss West’s care. Its pupils number 35, and are taught by a thoroughly competent Christian teacher. In all their schools Miss Case, who went out two years ago, assists in teaching English and singing. With what interest might any of us watch a class of young ladies of nobility of this ancient country while they progress in learning English, and not only receive but give blessings in a social way as only a missionary can fully appreciate. Such a class is one of the assumed responsibilities of these ardent teachers.

There is also in Tokio the well-known boarding-school for girls, Bancho. Here the pressure of admittance became so great it was found necessary to fix a limit, which was done, and even with this the register shows a few more than the 300 allowed. Many have accepted the Saviour as their own, and all have been faithful in study and in trying to develop character.

The Industrial Class, four years old, has, out of the original six, three left. The plan is to fill up scholarships out of this class. These girls, by their earnestness and ability, have been tested and prepared to enter the regular courses in the school. It aims to help poor girls to earn their education and already has a list to be proud of, of those who have gone to take honorable positions in life.

Mrs. Kats, a Christian woman of wealth, has become so interested in this class that she has entered the school and devotes her whole time teaching economy and practical Christian homemaking. The class numbers 31, but there have been three times that number of applications. There is a Sunday-school attended by some day and all boarding pupils, and another kept up throughout the year at the home of a Bible woman at Komagome, with an average attendance of 40. It is estimated that no less than 24 persons have been brought into the Church through the work in this place. In addition to these, the teachers of Bancho help in three other Sunday-schools. It was found to be necessary to recommend the discontinuance of the class for Training Nurses.

Before this action could reach Tokio, however, another class had been taken and engagements entered into for two years; the class will therefore be continued until the expiration of that time.

In Takata a Christian girls’ school was begun in April, and the sixty pupils have been faithful in attendance. Seven are Christians. Two of its teachers are former pupils of Bancho.
All this work is under Mrs. True's careful supervision, and goes forward with systematic regularity and many indications of the Divine blessing. Estimates have been made and money granted for new buildings for Bancho, which will be erected during the year. A small house to be used as a summer resort among the mountains, will be built where the ladies of the Japanese Mission who desire may be comfortable during vacation time.

Miss Milliken wrote of Bancho and some notable women's meetings held in Tokio. Calling to a gentleman who was passing one day as she went into a meeting of Japanese women, she said, "Don't you want a glimpse of one of our women's meetings?" The traveller paused, looked in, tears filled his eyes, as he said, "It is a beautiful sight." "Yes, it is the most wonderful thing in the world; only sixteen years ago the first church was organized here." Truly "a nation shall be born in a day;" and yet there is not one Christian in a thousand in Japan.

Miss Ballagh laboriously, yet lovingly, divides her time about equally between Meiji-Gaku-in and Bancho.

Mrs. Davidson gives her time to the school, and Miss Ballagh devotes herself to the industrial class in Bancho. In this class orders are taken for work, and some members have become very skillful. These girls are poor and are happy to have a way open for an education. Three were Christians; five have been baptized and united with the church. It would be pleasant to include here Miss Ballagh's delightful report of her work in Meiji-Gaku-in, and of her class of twenty-five men and boys in singing every Monday evening; but it would take too much space.

We may speak of a Sunday-School with an average attendance of over 90, in which she teaches every Sunday and from which 50 girls have united with the Church this year. The work Miss Ballagh does, whatever its character, is the one nearest to her heart, and her report is most stimulating throughout.

From Hiroshima Miss Cuthbert wrote her first letter; a later one described a day in which she engaged a native teacher, and went out to open a school, expecting six or seven and wanting sixty or seventy. Her impressions of the unreliability of the Japanese children were deepened, as she had neither teacher or pupil. However, she improved the occasion by taking some picture cards; and going to the children in the street, soon had a school gathered about her.

Mrs. Bryan has a flourishing school in this city, and it is said these are the only schools of the kind in this part of Japan.

Osaka is represented by Mrs. T. T. Alexander, who is at home this year for rest, and writes from her retreat in Tennessee, "It is hard to be away now; we are in the midst of wonderful times in Japan. We are impatient to get back. It is the most encouraging field in the world, in most respects."
Kanazawa is the station known to us as the scene of Miss Porter's labors, where she has taught a fine school unaided for years, and whence she has called three years for an assistant. A new lot has been purchased and a new building put up for her school. The highest officials patronize her school, which numbers 40 children. Miss Porter teaches also in the boys' school, and writes of great encouragement there; that two have confessed their love for the Saviour, and that the Young Men's Prayer-Meetings at her house on Sabbath afternoons are well attended (about 20 each Sabbath), and of a deeply spiritual character.

Mrs. Curtis is in Hiroshima; is not yet equal to a fluent command of the language. She writes that schools are kept up and doing well; that one is taught by an earnest teacher of another day-school who does very nicely. Mrs. Curtis will spend the summer in Kobe.

China.

Canton Mission.—After an absence of two years, Miss Harriet Noyes returns to her work in this city. This mission is in need of reinforcements, which we hope will be sent out this year. This, however, is the case with all our missions in China, and active measures are to be taken to fill the vacancies and equip the new places.

Canton Female Seminary, under Miss Lewis, Miss Butler and Miss Preston's care, reports that it has four departments: Training School for Young Women, Advanced Department for older girls, the Primary Department, and Kindergarten.

In the Training School 33 are enrolled; all but eight are Christians. Of the eight, six are now pupils. One woman united with the church. Forty-three are enrolled in the Advance Class; all but 16 are Christians. Seven of the 16 are new scholars; two have united with the church. In the Primary Department 30 have been enrolled. Only four of these little girls were here last year.

In the Kindergarten 23 were enrolled; they recite in the First and Second Readers; Bible stories are taught, calisthenics, singing and arithmetic. A Missionary Society has been organized in the school. A Sunday-school is conducted by these teachers; a Bible Class for native teachers is held every Saturday from 5 to 6 P.M. Besides all this Miss Butler has charge with Miss Preston and Miss Lewis of 4 day schools numbering 118 pupils whom they visit once a week; five Bible Women, two of whom are blind, and Miss Preston has made weekly visits to a dispensary and talked to the women who came for treatment.

Mrs. Henry has a school of fair promise, 13 orphans from one to fifteen years old. Nearly all have been saved from slavery.
Some are very delicate owing to ill treatment in infancy, and yet are studious and apt.

Of the Boys' Boarding School Miss Wisner kindly writes us: "There are about 50 boys, bright, just like boys at home." She teaches these and had charge of several of them throughout the long vacation. Although they do not become Christians they lose their reverence for idols, and shocked the neighbors one day by using an idol for a plaything upon which to try their knives and hatchets.

Dr. Mary Fulton's frequent letters have told of some of her experiences in practicing medicine in the dispensaries in Canton. All she does and sees would fill a volume; for as she says: "The more one does the more there is to do and love for the work correspondingly increases." In October Miss Fulton went with her brother to her former field of Kwong Sal.

The people breathed out threatenings and slaughter, but undaunted they went on and established a Boys' School in a place called Cheung Chau, interested the women to be taught, gave medicine in many cases and regulated the crowd by asking a half cent fee.

Miss Preston writes only a little about her first eleven months work and says she has been but a "stop gap." She has visited and talked with many of Dr. Fulton's patients, has taught in the Kindergarten and has a Sunday-school class in the hospital. This class changes every Sabbath, yet she loves to sow beside all waters.

Miss Baird, who has identified herself with missions in Canton through five years faithful service, severs her connection with us to become a member of the Canadian Presbyterian Mission and the wife of Rev. Wm. McClure.

Mrs. Swan writes of the encouraging work of the year in Sabbath-school, in study of language and among women and girls in hospital wards. She has seen some souls born into the kingdom and many signs of God's grace operating in the heart. The hospital school of which Mrs. Kerr writes delightfully had 137 pupils enrolled. Of these 34 were boys, 40 women and 43 girls. The teacher gave four hours a day to them. In a few words Mrs. Kerr sums up the "outcome of this school. 137 have heard something of the gospel; each has committed to memory at least some gospel truth; books have been carried into almost every family represented by these scholars. Eight have received baptism," and then follows that most common, most convincing illustrative recital of the story of faith, beautiful life and triumphant death of some who have accepted the truth. That incontrovertible argument that "their labor is not in vain."

NINGPO MISSION.—Mrs. Smith kindly informs us of the Shanghai Boarding School which has 32 boarders and four day scholars. Household cares make heavy demand, and Mrs. Smith says they must have two single women there this year. "With as much propriety might a mother write a report of her own family for the past year," writes Mrs. Butler, "as for me to write an account of my work at Ningpo," and then follows as fine a report as it is possible to write:

"To give these children Christian homes, to teach them to make pure homes for themselves, how to live as Christian children, sisters, wives, mothers and neighbors is our aim. The school is a home and the one in charge is Father, Mother, Superintendent and Teacher. The children enter at the age of 8; remain 8 years and go out to be married at once. The inheritance of centuries must be undone and the entire education must be couched within these years. Mrs. Butler particularly writes that it is not accomplishment, not intellect, not numbers so much as it is growth of the individual's inner life, which shows itself in fidelity to duty, in bearing and forbearing, in unselfishness that fills our mouth with praises to God."

As a matter of fact that school opened with 28 scholars. The whole number enrolled was 37. One girl completed her time and returned as pupil teacher. The parents of five deprived them of the privilege of school rather than unbind the feet. The opposition to this is hard to bear, and seems to hold on with intense pertinacity, but it is understood that if a child enters the school it means free feet.

There is evidence of a higher religious life, 8 having united with the church, and pupils have been the means of bringing parents to confess the Saviour before men. Mrs. Butler concludes her admirable report: "We are laboring to hasten on the day when the education of women will be a necessity.

The Industrial Class for Heathen Women.—The purpose of this class is to give heathen women more religious instruction than they would receive in ordinary ways. There are several inquirers among them; Mrs. Lu, the Bible Woman, goes to their houses and follows up those who are interested. They number 57, average 17.

The Christian Women's Class.—The object of this class is to give the Christian women of the out stations knowledge sufficient to read the Bible for themselves. Mrs. Dzao assists in this. The class was in session three months.

The Fuzin Girls' Day School numbers 27, with an average attendance of 15. It is under the very capable management of Mrs. Lee, and a good work is being done by this faithful servant of God among her own people. No one who reads this chronicle of Mrs. Butler's work at Ningpo will be surprised to hear that she makes an urgent call for one or two ladies to teach.

Mrs. Leaman calls loudly for help for Nanking. Miss Lattimore was sent there this year, and another lady to be with her is an imperative necessity. Of the work in the Girls and Women's School, she writes, "There were 24 girls in the Boarding School; three left during the year, one of the three dying of fever. The general health has been good." This school is not so much an institution of learning "as an evangelizing agency," the aim being to give a Christian education. Many older girls of the day pupils leave to earn money in weaving-shops, and it takes months to make their places good by the smaller girls, who fill them at once.

The same care is given to day and boarding pupils, but the boarders grow faster in moral and spiritual things. There were 21 in the day school: these, with the boarders and some women, bring the number under instruction up to 46.

A class of women, ten in number, has been taught in the Romanization. The object is to teach them so they can read the Bible. They learn the Romanization easier than their own character. We have made some advance in unbinding the feet. We do not accept the child of an inquirer unless the feet are unbound.

Pupils now provide their own clothes more generally than ever before, but Yellow River refugees had to be clothed entirely.

Mrs. Leaman gives special credit to Mrs. Zia, the wife of a native clergyman, who not only wished to, but did "help all she could" in the school. Miss E. S. Lane has been appointed to Nanking.

Shanghai is the station from which Mrs. Fitch writes this year. Recently moved there, she makes no report of work.

Hangchow, where we have an interest in a school for boys, is Mrs. Judson's station. Mr. Judson reports the examination of the school as quite satisfactory. Outsiders came in and took part in examining the Boys. Experiments of a scientific nature caused great wonderment to the outsiders, but their knowledge of science and love of it, only saddens by contrast their deep aversion to "things spiritual."

Shantung Mission.—When the name Shantung is read, visions of thousands of half-starved, half-clothed Chinese rise before the eye. But we are happy to record that large sums were sent for their relief through the hands of this Society as outside gifts. The strain upon the sympathies of our missionaries has been quite as exhaustive as upon their resources, and the love of God and brotherhood of man exhibited in the gifts of the nations in this national affliction will go far to counteract the feeling of hatred the Chinese government entreats for America, and may open the door to the Gospel as it did once before in the history of Missions. Tung Chow has been in close sympathy with Philadelphia by means of many delightful letters.
Mrs. Mateer has suffered with ill-health and was obliged to take a month's rest at Chefoo. She has since taught four classes in the school. Women came from the country to study the Bible, and one class in school had to give way to them. She has an interesting Sunday-school class, increasing in numbers, and one visit was made to a village; interesting and profitable as it was, ill-health allowed no more.

The Tung Chow Boys' School averaged about 90. Seven boys and the cook were baptized, and a baptized child was admitted to the communion. Three promising young men graduated,—all Christians—and two of them return as teachers. The life of the school is patent in the growing and wide-awake Missionary Society, and God's blessing was vouchsafed in preserving the health of the school.

There are pressing calls from the women in the country, and as Mrs. Mateer expects to return to America this year, she will devote herself up to that time to them.

Mrs. G. S. Hays will take Mrs. Mateer's work in the school during her absence. Mrs. W. M. Hays assists in the school, but her health is not robust and interferes with her work.

Tung Chow Girls' School, of which Mrs. Neal has the care, averages 26 pupils; as in every school they leave for various reasons, and the character of the school will be perceptibly changed when one influential and devoted pupil leaves.

There have been severe illnesses but no death. The girls are inclining more to unbinding the feet, but parents object. The Far Away Band, like bands at home, suffers from the loss of the leading spirits, and proves once more that no machinery will work without some power to work it; it will not go of itself. The Band still prospers, but Mrs. Neal finds its momentum considerably lessened.

The religious state of the school has been hopeful, and pupils have asked for baptism. Days filled to the full, with a little more added on the Sabbath, "Toiling, rejoicing, sorrowing," glad to be of service and patiently hopeful that results are only waiting time to be declared, represents life as it is in this school.

Mrs. G. S. Hays, with heavy family cares, thanks God that He has given her work among "those people in early life." She is hard at the language, inspired by that best of inspirations,—a grand motive. For six weeks she took charge of Miss Wright's school in Chefoo. After the meeting of Synod she was with Mr. Hays appointed to Tung Chow, and will send us word from there henceforth.

Miss Seward, after three months on the field, married out of the Presbyterian Church, and severed her connection with it. Wei Hien, since the death of our representative there, has not been heard from until this year. Mrs. Chalfant writes that she has taken up work with her husband, and is glad "she does not live in a port city, that the interior is the place in which to work, and that it is very promising." All letters from China contain importunate appeals for reinforcements, and it is hoped several will be sent out this year.

CHEFOO.—Mrs. Nevius is unable to do much in teaching or visiting. A chronic throat affection renders the speaking of Chinese difficult, she therefore confines her labors mostly to writing of books, aiming to instruct and encourage native Christians.

SYRIA.

BEIRUT.—Always identified with this city is the Seminary bearing its name, and superintended by Miss Barber and Miss Thomson. Miss Everett’s resignation and departure for America left “the whole responsibility, spiritually, mentally and financially upon us two women; but our God did not forsake us, and made the load lighter by bringing the people to pay tuition promptly and pleasantly.” The whole number of pupils in the upper department has been 75, of whom 57 are boarders. Two-thirds of the number have paid in full. Greatest number of boarders at any one time was 44; present number 33. Eight sects have been represented.

The entire number in attendance at the day school has been 75. The work is hampered somewhat by retrenchment, which compelled them to engage younger women as teachers than they wished to have, but with care and wise management the Seminary has passed another year in sound financial condition and with a hopeful spiritual life. Miss Barber teaches and struggles with the language with a view of teaching arithmetic. The summer was spent in the mountains and in touring in the Sidon field with the Misses Brown. A feature of these tours is to find, perhaps in unexpected places, an old pupil or a small company of believers calling themselves a church; to have a little visit, to partake of the communion together, to say “God bless you,” and pass on, perhaps not to meet again in this world. Pleasant features, yet fraught with responsibility and solemnity.

Mrs. Dale visits among the women in the hospitals and interests herself in general church work in BEIRUT.

Mrs. W. W. Eddy writes of her life, domestic cares, the wedding of Miss Harriet Eddy, a trip she took, and entertainment of visitors, making a busy life and one of untold influence in Christian character. Of work among the women in BEIRUT, Mrs. Eddy writes that much is being done. A class of 70 meet each Thursday to be instructed in the Bible. In another section of the city two native women conduct another class of women.
These influence the men to put themselves in the way of instruction, and the power of these two women becomes very great. In the outskirts of the city there is still another class which meets weekly and every Thursday afternoon there is a voluntary meeting, a sort of Sunday-school in one large class, entirely of Syrian women, who meet because prompted by living enthusiasm kept up now for several years. There is a society of young workers, "The Helping Hand," who meet every Tuesday to sew for the poor. Added to this account of unwearyed activity is an impressive history of the life and death of a woman who entered the first Syrian school for girls, who became a sincere Christian, married a wealthy man, and who, after a life hid with Christ, but radiant with the influence of such a life, died in triumph, sending this message to her former teacher still living in America, "I have given myself into the hand of my Saviour, He will keep that which I have committed unto Him."

Miss Everett, although not under our care, is so identified with Beirut it gives us pleasure to record that she expects to return to her work this year.

Miss Brown reports 43 boarders, 15 of whom are new girls; two gentlemen teachers, 6 ladies and 25 pupils in the upper day school and 43 in the lower; some of the larger girls learn by teaching. An occasion of thankfulness and rejoicing was the removal of the day school to "three good rooms near the church, vacated by the boys when they entered their new building." Since the change the school has grown in numbers. Sickness and death among pupils and their relatives have tended to make the entire school "walk softly before God" and to develop a gentle Christian spirit. A box from America made the Christmas festival possible.

A difficulty in this work is to keep the girls, too small to sew, occupied without the aid of the kindergarten, and suggestions from readers of this will not be unwelcome. Mrs. W. K. Eddy sends some money, contributed by native Christian women who meet with her for prayer, for investment in some special object which is to enlist their prayers and interest. By such acts does all the world become kin.

Zahleh.—Since the death of Mr. Dale not great work has been accomplished in this field. We shall be represented hereafter by Mrs. Hoskins, who made an honorable career for herself in Sidon Seminary as Miss Harriette Eddy. Reports from those living in Zahleh speak of the difficulties of the work, opposition of enemies and that nothing must be expected from them just now.

Suk-el-Ghurb.—Mr. Ford sends an interesting account of the fifty day schools, any regular notice of which would be too long for this report. They meet with opposition, yet sustain themselves and number 749 pupils, with an average attendance of 567. The Training School has about 100 in the family, 62 pupils board there; they have 10 day scholars. From having no day school they now have one of 90 pupils, taught by two former pupils of the Training School, who are doing a splendid work.

These young men also conduct night schools, described as a real power for good. In the advanced class 9 united with the church. Another new feature is a Sunday Afternoon Bible Class for adults, largely attended and interesting. A very vigorous and most blessed work is done at this station; but Mrs. Pond's lies mainly in domestic cares and teaching her children; she has been out 21 years, and well deserves the furlough they will all take to America this summer.

Tripoli.—Miss LaGrange kindly reports to us of the school which opened with 26 boarders and over 100 day pupils. The majority of the boarders were new and some were "unwashed, uncombed and in a sense unclothed," suits of clothing to be made and winter coming early kept them busy night and day for a time but with brides and mothers in the school who come to learn and pass at once into their own homes there comes a stimulation to work which Miss LaGrange describes as "delightful." The spirit of the school is good and in a quiet way houses of character are being built arounded her.

Some pupils pay board, others pay a part and some do not even pay for their clothes.

Mrs. W. S. Nelson has become one of us in Tripoli. She is at home there already and only lamenting the tediousness of learning Arabic and that because of it she must put a rein on her impatience to begin real work.

Mexico.

Our school work in Mexico has been subjected to interruptions during the year, but only such as may be told with pleasure for they will bring, eventually, added comfort, enlargement and progress.

Mexico City.—Miss Bartlett admitted 52 scholars into the Girls' School at its opening, twenty-five of these were boarders. It required ingenuity to accommodate all; but with the promise of an additional story for new, airy dormitories and of enlarged and improved school rooms, they could afford crowding until the building season should come. Miss Bartlett reports progress made in all studies and that several scholars have shown ability in teaching and in managing the primary classes; "but better than that is the development of true Christian character." Truthfulness and a sense of honor that does not belong to the ordinary Mexican woman, is growing among the girls. The school is now in temporary quarters with expectation of reoccupying the improved school building in May. Many of the girls have gone to their homes, but not to an idle vacation. Letters to their teachers tell of home classes with younger brothers and sisters, or the children of the neighborhood gathered into a little school, and others speak of Sunday School classes as the occupation of the enforced holiday.

This Mexico City Girls' School has a reputation for making good Christian teachers, and report reaches us of "golden opinions won" by one and another of its graduates who are teaching through the country and filling the heart of the former school-mother, Mrs. Hamilton, with gladness.

Zacatecas.—The school in Zacatecas is in charge of native teachers and a Supervising Committee composed of the native pastor and several church members. On its roll of scholars are 21 boys and 16 girls.

Dona Celestina, Bible Reader, or Deaconess of the church in Zacatecas, continues her good work and has increased the number of her daily visits through a small additional salary, which enables her to use the street cars, as she could not before. Many accessions to the church, wanderers among the membership brought back, non-church goers reached with the gospel, and many sick and afflicted comforted, are counted as some of the results of her loving, faithful service.

Monterey.—The Girls' School of this place is about to be moved to Saltillo, where the climate is more salubrious than at Monterey. This change, it is hoped, will add greatly to the efficiency of the school. The depressing influences of a malarious location and the continued inconvenience and hampering of an old and poorly planned building, will be enemies no longer in its history. A good building to accommodate twenty-five boarding scholars is about to be secured in Saltillo.

Saltillo.—The influence of the priesthood so interfered with the Boys' School in Saltillo that in January, 1888, it was removed to Patos, about 50 miles further West. Here it has flourished with about 30 scholars.

Mrs. Boyce, who was formerly stationed at Monterey and is now in Saltillo, occupied with the care of her family (while her husband is much from home looking after the out-stations), is watching with great interest the changes in the schools and it is her faithful pen that keeps us informed of their changes.

Africa.

Liberia. Glima.—Mrs. Roberts reports the Glima School—11 boys and 3 girls are persevering in their studies and give encouragement to their teachers, while two or three others after a short battle with books retreated to their homes. For many weeks Mrs. Roberts had entire charge of the school owing to ill-health and absence of her husband. Mr. Roberts has now resumed the work and they have gladly welcomed an assistant teacher in Mr. King, a Lincoln University graduate. "Still the work is difficult and the way seems dark," and Mrs. Roberts pleads, "remember us in your prayers."

Mt. Tabor.—The little school under the care of Mrs. Nourse has had special interest in its Sunday-school, prayer-meetings and Temperance Society, and general encouragement in spite of opposition from the outside natives.

Monrovia.—Mrs Perry went with her husband from Charlotte, N. C. to Monrovia early in the year, and in the autumn was called from this field to heavenly service, leaving a motherless babe.

Benita.—Mrs. Gault and Mrs. DeHeer are both in this country for recuperation. Mrs. DeHeer tells us how hard it was to leave "our people," to know that they must look in vain for the friend and comforter who would bring them spiritual succor and often bodily healing as well. "Together on the bench we sang, 'Say, brothers, will you meet us?' And the response came, albeit with trembling voice, 'By the grace of God we'll meet you, on Canaan's happy shore.'"

The Girls' School is still disbanded until the Station shall have reinforcement. The Native Woman's Missionary Society hold their meetings, but miss their leader, Mrs. Gault.

Angom.—At this centre of a wide and comparatively new field Mrs. Ogden has been stationed, living in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Marling. French restrictions have stopped all school work among these benighted people; but little naked girls come individually to the ladies to be instructed and the souls of the women in the villages are often reached through ministrations to their needy or suffering bodies.

Kangwe.—Three teachers sent out by the French Evangelical Foreign Missionary Society have made possible the reopening of the Boys' School at Kangwe and 50 scholars have been received. Mrs. Good has found her hands full "mothering" this large household. "Some days poultices were my mission, and on Sabbaths I have tried to have every boy read in the native language his verses for Sunday-school." One little girl has been in her care, the betrothed of the eldest school boy. Mrs. Good looks forward to taking others into her family when they shall move into the new little cottage on Kangwe Hill. She longs for a Girls' School. Many girls apply to live with her and be taught. Some coming again and again with their request, willing to sleep on the veranda if they might but be received.

During the first 8 years of the Kangwe Church only 8 women were baptized. Now there are 63 in its membership. These contribute the salary of a Bible-reader, one of their own number whom they all know and respect.

Talaguga.—"With heart and hands filled with work among the Fangwe," Miss Nassau "hopes there is never an hour when I do not feel blest beyond expression in being permitted to work for the winning of souls to Christ in Africa." On one of her itinerating boat journeys two boys asked to come with her to Talaguga "that they might learn of God." Afterwards four others followed. At the end of five months of teaching and example there was evidence of the Spirit's work in the hearts of two of these boys. Three years ago none of these boys could be induced to live in the Missionary's home.

Miss Nassau and her little Model Press have added the "Gospel of Luke" to "the Primer" in the Fangwe.

The cry from Talaguga is the same as from each African station: "We are very few and feeble and the urgency of the work great. Send us reinforcements and pray for us."

THE CHINESE IN CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco.—The first decade in the history of the Occidental School is complete, and Miss Baskin remains its first and only principal. It opened with 12 Chinese boys and not one girl. Now it has a monthly enrollment of 40 to 45 girls and boys. English and Chinese are taught and both languages used in memorizing the Scriptures, catechism and hymns. The school instruction is followed up by visitation to the children's homes, in which, with few exceptions, idolatry, ancestral worship and superstitious practices reign supreme.

The passage of the Exclusion Bill has given a more permanent element to the population, and good effects are felt in the school and in the children's homes. The habits of neatness and cleanliness enforced in the school have extended their influence to the homes. Where the dust of years had been allowed to accumulate, cleansing is going on, and darkened windows are being washed and opened to admit sunshine and fresh air.

The Chinese Mission Home is a refuge for the women and girls who desire to escape from their cruel bondage. In all 229 persons have found protection here from all parts of the Pacific coast. At present there are 34 inmates. Twenty-one have been admitted during the year. Most of these are from eight to sixteen years of age, and each has her sad story of shame and wrong. Scarcely are they within the Home before writs of habeas corpus are issued by their owners to regain them. Since the Exclusion Act, Chinese girls have rapidly advanced in price. Their brutal masters offer six hundred dollars to a Chinaman if he will kidnap one as she goes to and from church, or eight hun-hundred dollars to an attorney if he is successful in winning one in court.

The instruction given is such as will best fit the girls to be good Christian wives and mothers, and make them capable of making comfortable homes. They have supported for six years a Bible-reader in Canton. Their contributions for the past year were $78.10, all earned by their own needlework. Two of the inmates died during the year, entering into the heavenly home through a faith learned in this earthly one. An out-growth of this work is a number of Christian Chinese homes in the city, through the State and some in China.

A monthly Missionary Meeting is held in a room in one of these Christian homes. The contributions of the Society support a Bible woman in China.

House-to-House Visitation.—Miss Cable reports: "There never was a better field for hopeful missionary work than among the little children of the Chinese quarter of San Francisco." More than one hundred little girls, from four to twelve years of age, are being taught in their heathen homes. Among these are ten little-footed girls. Sixty families are reached by this visitation, and an influence showing itself in increased cleanliness and comfort is one result. During the seven years of Miss Cable's work, about 70 of her pupils have returned to China. It would be discouraging to lose sight of her little girls did not her faith trust the good seed sown will yet bring forth fruit.

Los Angeles.—Mrs. Condit, after a short resting-time among her Eastern home-folk, comes back fresh to her loving work among the poor Chinese women in their forlorn homes in Los Angeles. Two of the women have united with the church. One of these has a heathen husband, and she has still much to learn of practical Christianity. "Line upon line" she is being patiently taught. Mrs. Condit mourns the state of the secluded, painfully dark lives of the wives of the Chinese merchants, and longs to have access to them, that she may show them the light and lead them to a brighter, holier state. Entering such doors as are open to her, even those of many brothels, rescuing where possible the enslaved and watching patiently over the sown seed, Mrs. Condit feels that "the work is slow—but not hopeless."

THE JAPANESE IN SAN FRANCISCO.

The work among these people has been very encouraging during the past year. The religious services have been better attended than ever before, and 19 have been added to the church.

Mrs. Sturge teaches evening classes and aids in all services with her music.

KOREA.—Mrs. Heron is our only representative in Korea, as Mrs. Allen is still in America. Two little daughters brighten her home and fill the mother's hands; but we hear of her teaching the boys in the Orphanage, and the interpreters of the King; also she meets with a class of women who study the Bible.

Four of these women have been baptized and one has been sent out as a Bible-reader; one of whom it is said she is "good and true."

Mr. Underwood's Orphanage and Boys' School has in its care 38 "nice bright boys."

PERSIA.

OROMIAH.—The Seminary for Girls in Oromiah with its new commodious building is to be known hereafter as the "Fiske Seminary." The school closed earlier than usual last Spring that Miss Dean might be free to oversee the erection of the new Seminary. In the fall it was a question if the freshly plastered walls were sufficiently dry to admit of the reassembling of the scholars; also the teaching force was crippled. Most earnest entreaties to be permitted to return were received from the girls, and the importance of the work was so impressed upon Miss Dean's heart that she decided to reopen the school. As a safeguard, wood-fires were kept constantly burning and no one suffered ill from damp walls, unless it was the devoted principal herself through her constant watchfulness and anxiety for the health of those in her care.

The primary classes were closed as the rooms designed for their use will not be completed until next summer.

There have been during the year 58 boarders and 8 day scholars enrolled. These are divided into 5 families, each in charge of a teacher. This has simplified discipline and given an added home feeling to the girls. The school sustained a great loss last summer in the death of Rabi Khoshbo who has for many years been a faithful and valuable assistant teacher.

Mrs. Shedd impresses upon us the importance of, and the encouragement in the work among the mountain-Nestorian women. She considers it a privilege to have spent some time in Bible study with Laya, the faithful Bible-reader, and "our good Sarah" as a preparation for their work in the mountains. "They were hungry for the word of God." These women are welcomed and courteously treated in villages where preachers are not received. In Laya's report of a tour in the plain of Oromiah is light and shade. "A pastor's wife has a school of 20 little girls in a room of her own house. Having but one stove she is under the necessity of moving it daily between the school-room and her living-room. The mothers are often brought under the power of the Gospel through the children. Against this she tells of two other women who were found assuming the roll of prophets and large numbers in ignorance and superstition resorting to them.

The hopeful out-look for work among the Jews is also reported.
by Mrs. Shedd as one of the good things in the signs of the times. Mrs. Shedd is in this country for a year’s rest.

Mrs. McDowell writes from the Missionary Home at Seir, six miles out of Oroomiah and 1000 ft. higher, where she was sent early as a new-comer. This retreat where they can escape some of the stifling, bad air of the city and yet not entirely leave the work in mid-summer, has doubtless prolonged life in the mission. Should a new station be opened among the mountain-Nestorians it is Mrs. McD’s. hope that she and her husband may be sent to preach and teach Christ there. Instructing a child-wife from this district has opened her heart to the needs of its people.

Salmas.—A native company to dinner celebrated the closing of a year at Salmas for Mrs. Mechlin. Her year’s study of the language made enjoyment of the occasion a possibility. The language and home cares must still fill her time; but she longs that Christianity shall make the miserable homes around her the happy spot she finds her own to be.

Teheran.—“A new earnestness in spiritual things among the girls is manifest” is the best word from the Girls’ School at Teheran. Cooking and care of the house has been added to the scholars’ tasks, making more complete their training. Even “the babies” have their duties and these little ones trained early become in time the best scholars. It is discouraging that advanced pupils are taken away for early marriages just when most helpful in the school and best able to profit by instruction; but comforting that so many take Christ with them into their new homes.

Self-support is growing to be a feature of this school. During the year 66 scholars have been enrolled.

Last October Miss Dale was transferred from the Teheran School to the Girls’ School at Tabriz at the urgent request and need of the latter.

This leaves Miss Schenck and Miss Bartlett only with the entire care of this important school, praying and watching anxiously for another helper to come to their aid. Of Miss Dale they say, “She is missed everywhere” in the school and in the homes where she was “never too tired, or too busy to go with aid.”

The Jewish Boys’ School was discontinued on account of prosecutions. Some of the more promising boys were taken into the Boarding School when it entered its new building.

Saturday afternoon meetings for women have been held, when possible, in the Jewish quarter, where men and boys occasionally strayed in, and all were attentive listeners.

Mrs. Potter left her work among the Armenian women most regretfully, for a much-needed rest in the home-land. Many more houses are open to visitation than formerly, but the depleted force of ladies at Teheran leaves no one free to do this work in her absence.
TABRIZ.—Miss Dale finds plenty of work ready for her in the Tabriz Girls' School, as well as a new language to acquire, which she enters upon with zeal. The graduating class of four girls, all Christians, interest her deeply, and she finds them helpful in many ways.

SIAM.

BANKOK.—In the Wang Lang Girls' School 40 pupils have been enrolled; the average number in the school at one time is 27. The new building which was granted to the school has been delayed by the tardiness of the Government in consigning a promised, desirable site. "A spirit of earnestness pervades the school, and some of the girls are truly endeavoring to lead lives in accordance with the teachings of the Master."

Miss Van Eman has had charge of the Industrial class and given diligent study to the language. She has already learned to love the Siamese, and hopes for years of usefulness among them. On January 3d, during the meeting of Presbytery in Wang Lang chapel, Miss Van Eman was married to Rev. C. A. Berger, receiving the congratulations of the mission. She will continue to assist in the school, as Mr. Berger has been appointed to Wang Lang.

Miss Stokes has gone out quite recently and will take up duties as a teacher in the Christian Academy at Bankok.

The Fetchaburee Boys' School has been entirely in charge of native teachers, except for such supervision as Dr. Thompson's other labors permitted him to give it. This necessity arose from the insufficient number of workers in the mission.

Dr. and Mrs. Thompson are under appointment to go to Ratburee as soon as a property can be secured there.

LAOS.

The Laos Mission has been afflicted with sickness among its missionaries. Mrs. Collins is the only one of our representatives who has been able to retain her post throughout the year. Yet the work has advanced, and the number of inquirers is greater at the close of the year than ever before.

The work of translating has progressed only slowly, owing to the necessary absence and domestic cares of Mrs. McGilrary. Nevertheless, the Book of Acts is now completed in the Laos dialect.

The Girls' School at Chieng Mai was not opened until June, when Miss Westervelt was so far recruited in health as to be able to return to its superintendence. Forty-seven pupils were received, some to be boarded in Christian families near by, as the dormitories accommodate only twenty-five. In September, after a vacation to allow the girls to go home for rice-planting, the new building was occupied, and 52 boarders and 24 day pupils entered. Six of these boarders are professing Christians, and most come from Christian families.

The new school building is not entirely finished, on account of the breaking of the saw-mill. Temporary bamboo partitions are used; but even in its unfinished state it is proving to be convenient and comfortable. The course of study has been rearranged, and now covers four years, with a supplementary Bible-study course of two years.

The Industrial Department supplied the usual garments for school use and also has contributed towards the support of the school by sale of garments and fancy articles made by the pupils. Miss Belle Eakin has conducted this department. Miss Eakin experienced some missionary trials and disappointments before reaching her post of service, in the long, tedious, debilitating journey. The "strange, thoughtful faces and open hearts of the Laos" inspire her with eagerness to acquire the language and hopefulness for future efforts in their behalf. Additional ladies are greatly needed in this school.

SOUTH AMERICA.

BRAZIL.—The Collegio Americano, of Sao Paulo, keeps its number of boarders at 30, simply because no more can be accommodated in its dormitories. Many applicants are turned away. The older Christian girls, most of whom are preparing to be teachers, have a most valuable influence, not only among the boarders, but also in the large day school, which has 250 pupils. A new wing is asked for the school building. Miss Kuhl has returned after a year at home. Her resting time was not without labor for her beloved school. At every opportunity she told of the work it is accomplishing, of its bright outlook, and pleaded its needs.

The Kindergarten has had an attendance of about 30 children. It was found necessary to dismiss some of the older pupils, as Miss Thomas has been unable to teach lately, owing to a serious bronchial affection. Miss Mary Lenington and a Brazilian teacher have carried on the school. Miss Thomas aims to make the school self-supporting, and progress has been made towards this end. She is satisfied that in her kindergarten are made indelible impressions on the souls of the little children, and that its lessons not only help the pupils in daily Christian living, but their influence reaches oftentimes the parents as well.

Mrs. Emerson has extended the field of her house-to-house visitation by two trips into the interior. Here she found manifested interest in the Gospel, "from the most degraded up to the statesmen of the great Empire." The hospital and asylum have been visited whenever opportunity offered. In all she has made 1595 visits, has sold hymn books and Bibles, distributed all the tracts and leaflets she could obtain, and collected ten dollars per month for the church at Agra Branea. Forty persons have been prevailed upon by her to attend church services.

BOGOTA.—Miss Franks is again in Bogota, greatly refreshed by her home visit. She finds much that needs attention in the school, and is thankful for the restored health and strength that enable her to enter into the work heartily and hopefully.

BARRANQUILLA.—Mr. and Mrs. Candor have been in Barranquilla for one year, finding an open door for the work. They first settled on the outskirts of the town, and it was the common people who heard the Gospel gladly. Later they moved to a more central part of the city. A little experiment in a school of three pupils, started by Mrs. Candor at the first point, has grown to one of 25 pupils in the second home. These are “well-dressed pleasant, even pretty children, but not perfect.” Little by little the seed is being sown. They are becoming acquainted with the Bible and catechism, and manifest an interest in their studies. Several girls have committed the Ten Commandments to memory. Already the work has outgrown the house rented by Mr. Candor. As rents are very high, it is hoped sometime in the near future a suitable building may be erected for this station.

Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Landes and Miss Dascomb are in this country.

CHILI.—Mr. and Mrs. Robinson have been in Quillota sustaining a branch of the Valparaiso Church. The “Week of Prayer” was observed with meetings every night. Mrs. Robinson’s special work has been in the Sabbath-School and in visiting the people, especially among the poor. The distribution of tracts is one means used to show this mistaught people their error and lead them into the true light. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are under appointment to go north to Copiaapo.

NORTH AMERICAN INDIANS.

SENeca MISSION.—Mrs. Trippe gives the Christian Indian women the credit for raising the first funds for the new church at Jamesontown. For two years they have met weekly, and have raised $200 by their sewing and entertainments. She “is surprised at the unity in spirit among these women and at the readiness of all to help.”

Dakota MISSION.—Miss Dickson and Miss M’Creight have entered upon a new work at Wounded Knee in the Pine Ridge Agency, and find this a “hopeful field.” Their log house, of one story with shingle roof, was so poorly built that their first efforts need be spent in making it tight before the blizzards should come. Mud plastering outside and muslin and paper linings inside, for both walls and floor, and a rag carpet sent from Beverly, N. Jersey, completed the work. Eight miles from any post-office, and fifty miles from household supplies, with only Indians for carriers, these good sisters have faith to labor and endure hardships for Christ's sake.

The young Indian men are eager to learn and asked, before it could be ready, for a school. "One begged, as a great favor, that he might ring the chapel bell every Sunday and is trying to do it just right, so God will be pleased."

Nez Perces.—Miss S. L. McBeth, at Mt. Idaho, is in her fifteenth year of faithful, fruitful work of training Indian young men for preachers and missionaries. In this industrious and moral community of Nez Perces Indians none stand higher than Miss McBeth's pupils.

Miss Kate McBeth, at the Lapwai station, while giving her especial attention to a class of 11 women, also a small class of men, keeps a watchful care over all the interests of the church.
The Government school has withdrawn its children from the Sunday-school.

Yankton Agency.—Miss Nancy Hunter has had 52 children in her day school, with an average attendance of 18. Some live too far away to be regular in attendance, and some fail from carelessness. This is a primary school, and the lessons are in both English and Dakota. On Wednesday afternoons a woman's meeting is held. Twenty-five women are regularly organized with officers chosen from among themselves. At each meeting the president appoints one to lead the following meeting, and, although the appointee may not be able to read, she does not fail to accept the duty, asking another to read for her. Part of the afternoon is spent in sewing. The work is sold, often to one another, and the proceeds given to the Missionary Society and native pastor. Last year these earnings amounted to $125.00.

A Sunday-school of 70 here, includes the children from the Government School.

Mrs. C. N. Thorpe,
Mrs. C. E. Morris,

Foreign Secretaries.
HOME DEPARTMENT.

The year whose story we tell to-day has brought some change to our Board of Directors and officers, taking valued workers to other fields of labor and laying aside some from active duty, while new helpers have stepped into vacant places to take up the burdens and pleasures of the work.

One whom we miss to-day, Mrs. J. H. Munro, has finished the earthly ministry and rests in the midst of the heavenly service that brings no weariness, leaving behind her memories of generous acts and constant faithfulness that won the love of all her associates.

In our new Recording Secretary we are glad to welcome the daughter of one of our vice-presidents, who has taken her place by her mother's side during the past winter, performing her duties with such accuracy and efficiency that we forget that she is new. That the other needs of our work may soon be as satisfactorily supplied is the best that we can wish.

A new office has been constituted within the past month to which it is proposed to give the descriptive title Secretary for Missionary Letters. The necessity for such a Secretary is explained by the statement that 2370 copies of letters have been made during the year. To prepare letters for the type-writer and to secure that they shall be sent promptly to the supporters of the work that they describe, is no small task. In addition to the letters, 902 copies of circulars have been made at the Rooms, to give necessary announcements.

TREASURY.

We hope that it is not an undue "love of money" that turns our thoughts so quickly to the Treasury Department. Failing quite to reach the mark aimed at a year ago, we hoped for advance this year, but month by month have been made anxious by the word that we were behind our record of the same time last year. That the deficiency reported to-day, is no greater is principally due to the receipt of a legacy of $5000 and others of smaller amounts. Most of the churches are still behind in their contributions and we leave the figures to speak for themselves to each individual conscience.

The demand upon the treasury of the Board of Foreign Missions is continuous through the year. This fact, as well as the wish to avoid the pressure of work at the close of the year, leads us to repeat the request that money collected shall not be retained in tho treasuries, but forwarded promptly. Certainly it is not too much to ask that all should be in the Treasurer's hands before the first of April, even if this necessitates the holding of annual meetings at an earlier date than has been the custom.

SPECIAL OBJECTS AND BOXES.

Special Objects are still in demand and it has been suggested that the point where every one will contribute just as readily to the General Fund will be the last milestone to pass before the Millenium. These same Special Objects, however, form a very strong link between the workers at home and abroad, and personal attachments thus formed have kept a missionary society alive and vigorous when other forms of church work have flagged. When such objects are assumed the responsibility of loving sympathy toward the supported missionary or school cannot be too deeply felt. In more than one Presbyterial Society arrangements are made to send a monthly letter from different writers to the missionary, not requiring an answer, but carrying sisterly messages and news from the home land. A book or magazine that has been enjoyed might sometimes be sent also, and at no greater expense for postage than in America.

The Bands are found even more ready to contribute to the General Fund than the Auxiliaries and the following from an essay by a little girl in New Jersey is as fine a specimen of loyalty as we can ask:

"When we send our money our secretary does not write a letter telling just what country we want to help with it, or whether we want it used to help build a church or school-house; for we feel sure that the gentlemen who are studying the matter all the time know just where the little we can give to Jesus will do the most good."

Something has been done in the way of boxes during the year. Busy fingers have dressed dolls and fashioned dainty work bags, as well as more substantial articles, which carried Christmas cheer to school-girls in Syria, India, China, Japan and among the North American Indians, while bags of marbles and other suitable gifts showed that the boys were not forgotten. This is a pleasant way of helping and must often be a relief to overburdened missionaries who like to make "the feast of the birth of Christ" a glad time; but care should always be taken that no money raised for regular missionary purposes should be diverted to this extra work. A gaily decked Christmas tree will not compensate for an unpaid salary or scholarship, and in some cases the money required for freight could be expended to better advantage on the ground.
There is little that is new to report from Presbyterial Societies and Auxiliaries. Tokens of growing interest and deepening spirituality may be read between the lines in some of the letters, and 47 new Auxiliaries have been enrolled. One of these had its foundation in the offering of one dollar from a cripple, unable often to attend the services of the church, but wishing to do something, out of a small income, for the missionary cause. The letter that accompanied the gift was an inspiration to the ladies of the church, and a society was soon formed to which her name was given. Reports have come of praise and thank-offering meetings in various places, and especially of organized effort for such services through the Presbyteries of Northumberland and Washington, Pa. In the former the movement was under the charge of a committee of Presbytery, general meetings as well as women's meetings were held and evidence was seen of "an earnest missionary spirit." In the Presbytery of Washington, Pa., these meetings were held during the Week of Prayer, in response to a circular sent out by the Presbyterial officers. The hearts of the women were stirred in a remarkable manner and their love found utterance in gifts amounting to $1200.*

Among the devices to stimulate interest specimens of tasteful ribbon-tied cards have been received from more than one church. These bear the subjects for the monthly meetings, with appropriate texts or mottoes, and hanging by desk or dressing-table will frequently remind the owner of her obligations.

The interest of pastors in the work of the Auxiliaries is an encouragement that cannot be appreciated too highly. In country districts the workers find difficulties very different from those that perplex their sisters in the city. One of these reports that, having overcome one obstacle after another, she was confronted by the apparently insurmountable one that the women had no horses that they could drive themselves. Really in earnest, however, she was not baffled, and extended a cordial invitation to the farmers to come with their wives and listen to the missionary news. In another place it is found inconvenient to gather the mothers and children on different days, so one of the ladies generously relinquishes the privilege of attending the meeting of the Auxiliary and meets with the little people in an adjoining room.

OCCIDENTAL BOARD.

Within the past six months correspondence has been in progress between this Society, the Board of Foreign Missions and the Occidental Board, with reference to the formation of the latter into a separate Board. The time seems to have come when it is better for these workers to assume the responsibilities implied in such a change. The word has just been received that at their Annual Meeting, held at Los Angeles April 4th and 5th, the final action was taken and as soon as possible the work will be re-adjusted to suit the new relations. Very tender regret is expressed at the severing of the ties which have bound the societies on the Pacific Coast to the Parent Society; but, while we would rather diminish than increase the number of Woman's Boards, we recognize the wisdom of this step, and in giving our consent, are glad to add a cordial and affectionate blessing.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S WORK.

While in Presbyterial Societies and Auxiliaries we hope for increasing strength and earnestness, it is to the Young People's Department that we look for growth in numbers. The last annual report gave the names of 1360 organizations of young people; 184 new names have been sent to us during the year, a number a little less than the addition reported last year. We are sorry to state that some Bands have withdrawn, either growing weary of the work or having their interest turned to other objects. Not questioning for a moment the importance or the claim of other branches of Christian work, we do feel that loyalty to our appointed leaders and, still more, conscientious fidelity to pledges made, are among the first lessons to be taught to young workers. Nor can they be taught better than by the example of their elders, for it is not only among the Bands that such delinquency is reported.

The amount of ingenuity that is called into play to prepare attractive programs and devise means of enlarging the gifts, is a frequent source of surprise. Conversation meetings and item matches are making the boys and girls familiar with the facts of the work, while Band treasurers bring the results of Bazaars of Days, Festivals of the Seasons, Chinese Tea Feasts and penny investments that represent much hard work and skillful financiering. But underneath all that shows on the outside are being laid deep foundations for future work,—foundations of broader intelligence, and, we trust, of purer consecration. That the aim of all our Band workers may be something more than money or numbers, that the result of their work may be the giving of youthful lives to Christ's service, whenever and wherever He may call, is our constant prayer. A stranger, at one of our meetings recently, remarked that she was engaged in the "thankless work among the young." Thankless work? Well, we are not working for thanks, but does not this work of leading little feet in the steps of Him who "went about doing good," of helping little hands to bear another's burdens, of teaching little hearts to love, "as Christ also loved us," come in for a share of the "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these?" Does our highest ambition grasp any better thanks than that?
PUBLICATIONS.

WOMAN’S WORK FOR WOMAN AND OUR MISSION FIELD

comes to us this year from a new printer with new type and paper, giving it, at first, an unfamiliar aspect. The changes are voted improvements by the majority already heard from, especially as they give about three additional pages of reading matter, and a smaller bill to pay each month. In the December number an appeal was inserted calling for effort to increase the circulation. As a result of this and other efforts, an increase of more than 1400 on the mailing list is reported, and a present edition of 16,000. Some who, at the General Assembly meeting in May, pledged themselves to secure a definite number of subscribers, have fulfilled their promise; by others it seems to have been forgotten as quickly as made. Are any of the forgetful ones here, with their work undone? This part of the work cannot be asked of the editor. Her head and hand and heart are occupied with more important things. Letters must be written, items culled, editorials prepared, long looks forward taken to see that just the right material shall be at hand for the demands of each month. The editorial committee cannot do it without your help. Coming in direct contact with the interest and the ignorance in your own churches, you know where the magazine will be welcome and where it is needed, and the burden rests upon you. A gentleman subscribed for 40 copies to be sent to as many young ladies whose names he furnished. The request from the editor that special prayer should follow the sending forth of those magazines, shows that something beside head and hand is busy at that desk at 53 Fifth Ave.

The request made last year for practical suggestions from the experience of societies has been responded to to a considerable extent, and it is hoped that this feature of the magazine has proved valuable.

Of CHILDREN’S WORK FOR CHILDREN

there are only pleasant things to report and pleasanter to promise. The loving heart that speaks in every number meets a loving response from young readers and ready pens and skillful pencils “kept for the Master’s use” have been glad to lend their aid to the editor. An earnest Band leader recently testified that she found nothing else so helpful as Children’s Work and an eight year old correspondent evidently intended no disrespect to the larger magazine, when, out of her wide experience, she wrote to the editor of the Church at Home and Abroad: “I just think the Children’s Work is the nicest magazine I ever read.”
Of the quarterly exercises provided last year Missionary Ships was perhaps the most popular. Two, at least, of such exercises are promised for the present year, as well as some new hymns and tunes. The plans for the year keep in mind the fact that new little workers are coming into homes and bands who need the elementary lessons of missionary life and work which their older brothers and sisters learned long ago. A Missionary Book Shelf with notices of books and references to current juvenile missionary literature will be found from month to month and the "Corner," already so popular, is always open for suggestions and inquiries.

The year opened with the generous offer to send the magazine free for three months to persons not already subscribers. Kind notice of this offer was given in religious papers and large numbers applied for its fulfilment. As a direct result nearly 800 new subscribers have been obtained with many pleasant words of appreciation.

A yearly gift of $100 offered in a time of need is generously continued now, to be used for the improvement of the magazine.

The economy with which the business matters of this magazine are conducted reflects great credit upon those in charge. Sceptical mathematicians wonder where the balance reported comes from, when about four-fifths of the subscriptions are in clubs, upon which the low rate of twenty-five cents a year allows but small profit and free copies are sent to all Presbyterian Missionaries. But there is a balance and an increasing one each year. That it may increase still more furnishing a basis for larger and better plans, but most of all that the help which the magazine carries may reach a greater number of readers, your co-operation is again solicited. In one primary Sabbath-school the birthday of each child is marked by the gift of a year's subscription to Children's Work and the offer of a single copy to pass from one to another, in a class of children too poor to pay for it, has given great pleasure.

Leaflets.

A year ago we reported with great satisfaction that the proceeds from the sale of our publications had covered all expenses of this department of the work and left a considerable balance in the treasury. This year we cannot give as good a report. This is partly accounted for by the fact that it has been best to publish large editions of a number of important leaflets, involving a present outlay of money which will come back as the stock on hand is disposed of. The fact remains, however, that not so many orders as usual have been received. It is again urged with emphasis that the responsibility of circulating missionary literature be laid upon some individual in each Presbyterial Society and Auxiliary, that all may be made aware of available helps for their work.

The meeting at Asbury Park furnished two new leaflets, Loyalty with no "uncertain sound" calling Presbyterian women to "keep rank" and How to Awaken Deeper Interest in our Auxiliaries, full of practical suggestions. The History of a Day appeared at about the same time, and its touching story has been found an appropriate accompaniment for thank-offering envelopes. That Missionary Baby was read first in Woman's Work, as well as the more recent story leaflet Why Our Society Did not Disband.
Mrs. Douglass' paper presented at the May meeting, Rise and Progress of Woman's Work, thrilled all her hearers, and we should be glad to have our workers familiar with it. In addition to the last two mentioned we have received from the Board of the Northwest The Mother at Home and Eleven Good Reasons for not Attending a Missionary Meeting, both of which have been found useful before, and from the New York Board What Saith the Scriptures, a collection of Scripture passages, and two exercises, Light and Darkness and The Influence of the Cross, the latter intended particularly for the young. The leaflet Build Ye, issued for free circulation in the fall as an appeal for the building funds sanctioned by the Board, has passed through two editions. The last new leaflet to be mentioned is Questions and Answers on the Foreign Missionary Work of the Presbyterian Church, the eight pages of which contain much valuable information. The Quest-tion Books on Persia, China, India and Japan have been reprinted, with such revision as was necessary to bring the missionary facts down to the present date, and questions on Korea added to the latter. A number of leaflets whose names are familiar have been reprinted, making a total of 62,800 copies. Constitutions, manuals, questions for medical candidates, envelopes and mite boxes have been required. In addition to the old boxes one is now offered, more attractive in appearance and more durable, representing a little house or church. These are more expensive, but have this advantage, that while they cannot be opened at the pleasure of curious little fingers, if carefully cut, when necessary, they can be sealed again for further use.

No Missionary Calendar was prepared for this year, but assurances of the helpfulness of the one issued last year have come from many directions. The mention of a particular name or department of work each day increased intelligence and gave stimulus to prayer in the closet and at the family altar, while, on the other side, watching by a sick-bed, alone in a strange city, or exposed to the dangers of mountain travel in the midst of a wild storm, there has been comfort in the thought that the prayers of Christian friends were encompassing the missionary.
CONCLUSION.

These gathered items, with all that they suggest of encouragement or of needed effort, make up our story. Leaning upon the promise, "Certainly, I will be with thee," we set forth to meet the experiences of the year. Has the staff proved strong enough for the journey? The year is over, and looking back we see failures and mistakes of our own, but His strength has never failed. Precious testimony comes that the watch-word has been a helpful one, and to-day, waiting again our marching orders, we raise our Ebenezer with this song of praise, "Certainly, He has been with us."
