ANNIVERSARY.

The American Seamen's Friend Society celebrated its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary in the Metropolitan Hall, New York, on Monday evening, May 9th 1853.

The President, P. Perit, Esq., in the chair.

After the singing of a Hymn prepared for the occasion, the Rev. J. W. Chickering, of Portland, Me., led the congregation in prayer.

An abstract of the Annual Report was then presented by Rev. J. Spaulding, one of the Secretaries, and the meeting was addressed by Capt. N. Briggs of Sippican, Mass., Rev. A. S. Porter of Williamsburgh, N. Y., Rev. A. W. Mc Clure of Jersey City, N. J., and Capt. A. H. Foot, U. S. Navy.

A Song—"The Ship on Fire," by H. Russell, was most impressively sung by Mr. M. Colburn of New York, accompanied by Mr. Geo. H. Curtis on the Piano.

The audience was large and evinced the deepest interest to the close.

After a doxology had been sung, and the benediction had been pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Field, the Society was called to order, and elected Trustees for the ensuing year.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNUAL REPORT,
OF THE
AMERICAN SEAMEN'S FRIEND SOCIETY,

Presented May 9th, 1853.

God has instituted such relations in the great human family that no nation which is purely agricultural, and lives for itself alone, can become permanently prosperous and powerful. He has made the commercial element essential to its prosperity. History shows that every great movement for the elevation of man has commenced not in the centre of continents and extended outward, but on the sea coast and extended inward. The first lights of European civilization were kindled on the three great peninsulas, which indent the Northern shores of the Mediterranean, and for 2000 years the commercial ports of that sea where the centre of the world's civilization. While the land has fed and sheltered mankind, the sea has civilized and regulated them. The sea has ever been pacific in principle and policy; and whenever swept by storms of war, those storms have generally gathered in the interior. The laws which regulate international justice and humanity are the offspring of maritime commerce. Art and science and civilization have flourished as the spirit of commerce has been free to range the ocean. It is a significant fact at the present time that two-thirds of the World's commerce is in the hands of the Anglo-Saxon race and is the most potent agency known to human governments.

Hence the legitimate and commanding inference, that whatever tends to purify the principles and practice, and elevate the agents of commerce is of the highest importance to the whole human family. That the purification of the great fountain of power—the conversion of the abundance of the sea—for the sake of its own millions of men, and for the sake of the other millions over which it has influence, is a work worthy of the ablest minds, and the best hearts.

This is the work to which the American Seamen's Friend Society is pledged, and in which it has labored a quarter of a century. The Directors who have fostered this enterprize from the beginning as well as those who from time to time have joined them in counsel and effort, cannot but express their grateful acknowledgements to Him who has crowned their labors with such signal success. During this time, vantage ground has been gained; foundations have been laid and consolidated; a general confidence in the practicability of the work and its ultimate success has been secured, while the moral phenomena of the sea have ranked among the most striking wonders of the present age.

A history of the past year embraces the Society's labors at home and abroad.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS.

A glance at these shows that instead of attempting to illuminate the sea by one great central light, its policy is to multiply and scatter them as God lights up the evening sky; and keep them burning on every dark and dangerous coast and island till the sun of righteousness shall enlighten every land and sea.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

Allusion was made in the last report to Mr. Damon's visit to the United States. On the 11th of February last year, after a short and pleasant passage of two months from New York, he returned to his station to mark the favorable changes which had taken place in his absence, and to recommence his labors with new vigor. The cause of education and temperance had received a new impulse; the Sabbath-school and attendance on public worship had been well sustained; while measures had been taken to organize a new religious society, composed of foreign residents, to be under the pastoral care of the Rev. T. E. Taylor, who had ministered in the Seamen's Chapel during his absence. Under date of August and December last Mr. Damon writes: "The number of ships and seamen have exceeded that of any previous year. My duties as Chaplain have never been more onerous. I have issued the Friend semi-monthly, and our weekly meetings have been more frequent; besides the number of visitors at my study has been such as to occupy no small proportion of my time." Again he says, "We have other indications that the spirit's influence is felt among us. Our last communion at the Bethel was the most interesting that I ever attended. Some united by profession and others by letter." Mr. Damon is availing himself of all the facilities within his reach of scattering a religious literature over the Pacific, and speaks of the Mission Stations just commenced in Micronesia, as "emphatically two new Seamen's Chaplaincies." Says another Chaplain at a later date: "While at Honolulu, I had the pleasure of meeting some of the officers and men of the 'Helen Augusta.' The good work of the spirit, it appeared, had continued on board of that ship during their last cruise, and several had been hopefully converted. In Brother Damon's study, we had a very interesting interview with three of these young men. Young L. in particular I would mention, as he had been peculiarly active among his shipmates, and a prominent instrument in the work of grace among them. On the Sabbath before my departure four of these young men were baptised, and admitted to the Bethel Church. So it is not in vain that mothers pray at home, or ministers labor abroad for the conversion of the wanderers."

The number of whale ships in Honolulu the last season was 200; in Lahaina 102, and in Hilo 38; total 339, valued at $11,000,000, and with cargoes valued at eight and a half millions. The Ladies in Honolulu have recently, with a most commendable spirit, raised upwards of $2,000 for the relief of sick Foreign sailors who have been employed in American ships, and for whom the U. S. Government makes no provision.

LAHAINA.—REV. S. E. BISHOP, Chaplain.

On the 24th of June last Mr. Bishop with his wife, sailed from New York in the ship Defiance, Capt. McCerren, to take charge of the Chaplaincy at this station, vacated by the honorable release of Mr. Taylor, with a view to his acceptance of a pastoral charge at Honolulu. Advices of their safe arrival at Lahaina, on the 8th of February, have been received, and also of the great necessity and desire for their labors in a port visited by more than 40 whale-ships in the month of October last; and where they may expect to gather many gems from the ocean to adorn the crown of the Redeemer. Their social and religious influence during the passage out will be long and gratefully remembered by the seamen.

HILO.—REV. TITUS COAN, Missionary of the American Board.

This faithful Missionary continues the ministrations of the gospel to seamen who visit Hilo for supplies. In years past, numbers have been reported as spiritually benefitted here, and we doubt not the last day will reveal many more.

PACIFIC COAST.

SAN FRANCISCO.

It was announced in the last report that the Rev. E. Corwin, commissioned to this station, found on his arrival the ground well occupied by the Rev. Mr. Taylor. Just at that time an important field for his ministerial and pastoral labors was opened at San Jose, and the index of duty pointed in that direction. Accordingly he asked and received an honorable discharge from the American Seamen's Friend Society; and while the Board of Directors regretted the unexpected and unintentional thwarting of their plans, they rejoiced that they had been instrumental in adding another to the faithful band of Ministers who are laying the moral foundations of future generations in the land of gold, and that meanwhile the gospel is preached to Seamen there by an able, and efficient Chaplain.

PANAMA.—REV. J. ROWELL, Chaplain.

The labors of a Chaplain at this station are divided between the sailors in port and at the Island Taboga ten miles distant; the sick sailors in the Hospital, and about one thousand foreign residents who speak the English language. Of his ocean field Mr. Rowell says, "There are now in this port about sixty vessels of all kinds, some of them fine clipper ships of the largest size, perhaps one-half of them manned by sailors who speak the English language. But when the Railroad is completed, and trade has had time to centre here, I see not how Panama can fail to be a city thronged with Sailors."

The importance of his labors in this chief city of New Grenada, in this thoroughfare of the nations, is enhanced by the two fold consideration that the government has recently broken the power of Papal exclusiveness, and he is the only Protestant Minister to preach deliverance to the captives, and proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord.

During the year he has had occasion to be absent a few weeks, and return with a wife. The cordiality of their reception, and the generosity manifested in providing for their comfort, sufficiently indicate the citizen's estimate of their labors in that important field.

CALLAO.

This is the port of Lima the Capital of Peru. Its present population is about 15,000, and is fast increasing. The number of vessels which entered this port last year, was 825, measuring 249,550 tons, and manned by 13,023 Seamen. Ninety-three of these were British and U. States' vessels. A Boston merchant now on the ground and expecting to reside there, in making an appeal to the American Seamen's Friend Society for a Chaplain, under date of Lima, Feb. 19th 1853, says, "That ships here will increase, there is no doubt, for Guano is daily increasing in use, and that mostly in England and the U. States. One thing is certain that we and England are bound to look after our poor Sailors, and stray subjects in this country, where the associations with the natives are perhaps beneficial to neither party." The subject of establishing a chaplaincy there, is under consideration. Its midway position between Valparaiso and Panama, as also its being a great and effectual door opened for the introduction of a spiritual christianity into Peru, enhances its importance.

Like other South American ports, our chaplain finds this a difficult field to cultivate, owing chiefly to the multiplied temptations which beset seamen going on shore. Yet he continues his important services in preaching the gospel, visiting the sick in the Hospital, and in disseminating a religious literature. He speaks particularly of the increase of pious masters, officers and sailors, both in the naval and merchant service. Mr. Trumbull also represents the American Christian Union.

BRAZIL.

RIO DE JANEIRO.—REV. J. C. FLETCHER, Chaplain.

What the prominent ports of the Pacific are, as avenues for the introduction of the gospel along the 8000 miles of that coast, Rio de Janeiro is to the three and a half millions of souls in Brazil. In this city, the third in population on the American continent, the Rev. Mr. Fletcher labors under a joint commission from the Christian Union and the Seamen's Friend Society. At times there are not less than fifty American vessels in port. During the last year the yellow fever has been fearfully fatal. "Dear Brethren," says the Chaplain, "I am now daily in the midst of scenes that would make your hearts sad. Some ships have had half of their crews taken away; of other crews, nearly all now sleep the sleep which knows no awakening." To the sick and dying as well as to the last offices of kindness for the dead, the Chaplain has devoted his most assiduous attentions. Many Seamen who have survived, as well as the friends of many of the deceased will long remember his acts of mercy: and doubtless many who shall sing and shine in glory, will recognize his instrumentality in directing them to Christ. From the Brazilian officers as well as from those of our own government, and from citizens and foreign residents, Mr. Fletcher has received the most kind attentions. Whether he preaches the gospel on shipboard or on shore, his message is gladly received, and several are giving pleasing evidence that the gospel is to them the power of God unto salvation. Under date of January 1st, he says, "My services are now quite well attended, and Captains are beginning to take a great interest in the Bethel cause. Some who have been here for weeks and months are as regularly found in their places as the steady "go to meeting" people at home. I have met too with a number of pious Captains, and it does one good to see them coming up to the place of worship with their cleanly dressed crews."

WEST INDIES.

ST. THOMAS.

Two causes have contributed to vacate this chaplaincy for the present—the prevalence of the yellow fever during the last season, and the impaired health of the Chaplain. Mr. Newton has been honorably discharged from the service of the Society, has measurably regained his health, and will probably accept an invitation to labor among the Sailors of the western Lakes.

ST. HELENA.

REV. JAMES MCGREGOR BERTRAM, Chaplain

Mr. Bertram has unexpectedly been delayed in his return to his rock bound home in the ocean, on account of the difficulty of obtaining a passage direct for his family and freight. He has been successful in raising the means necessary for erecting the contemplated Chapels, and it is expected that his voice will soon be heard again proclaiming the gospel to the 7000 inhabitants as well as to the numerous Seamen who visit this Island.

CHINA.

CANTON.—REV. E. H. HARLOW, Chaplain.

Owing chiefly to certain restrictions annoying to foreigners, the population and trade of this port have been held in check the past year; while the magical rise of Shanghai have diminished both the number of ships and seamen visiting Canton. At one time some entertained fears that the place would be deserted. But Commerce, like a pent up stream, soon returns and flows on in its natural channels; and while Canton will probably no more be the great mart of the foreign tea trade, it must remain a city of much mercantile importance. Mr. Harlow, with improved health, has continued his visits, Social and Spiritual, among the shipping, and the ministrations of the gospel in the floating Bethel. Among the evidences of good accomplished, Mr. Harlow reports a delightful hour spent with a pious shipmaster, who ascribed his conversion to a sermon heard in that Bethel soon after it was opened, and whose conversion was soon followed by that of his two sons who were on board the same ship with him.

SHANGHAI.

Allusion has been made to the rising importance of this most northern port of the Chinese Empire open for trade. It is situated near the mouth of one of the largest rivers of Asia, navigable for the largest junks, more than 2,000 miles, like the Crescent city on the father of American waters, having Nanking, Suchan, and other cities answering to St. Louis, Louisville and Cincinnati, and a vast interior to pour an uninterrupted stream of products into its bosom.

The report of the harbor master, (Mr. Nicholas Baylies,) shows that from January 1, to December 31, 1852, the American tonnage exceeded that of any other nation. The number of British vessels was one hundred and two, with a tonnage of thirty-two thousand seven hundred; of American vessels seventy-one, with a tonnage of 40,365. The whole amount of tonnage was 76,900 and the number of vessels one hundred and eighty-seven; the remainder, besides English and American, being almost equally divided between French, Danish, Hamburg, Hawaiian, and Dutch.

It will be necessary ere long to station a Seamen's Chaplain there to perform duties now performed as emergencies require at irregular intervals by the overtaxed missionaries.

FRANCE.

BORDEAUX.—REV. J. L. SCHIER, Moravian Chaplain.

The Board has continued a small appropriation to the Chaplain at this station, and has also appointed a Chaplain with a small appropriation at MARSEILLES.—REV. M. JOHN MAYERS, Chaplain.

Not because the number of American seamen annually in either of these ports is large, but with a view of acting in concert with others in blessing those who navigate the ocean of every nation.

In a recent communication, Mr. Mayers speaks of his labors having been specially blessed to a sailor in the Hospital from Boston, and to some of the officers on board one of our vessels of war. The former "regards it as the happiest event that could have occurred to him to be so afflicted as to be drawn thereby to Jesus."

HAVRE—REV. E. E. ADAMS, Chaplain.

The reports from this station, indicate a decided gain within the past year;— in a better attendance of masters and officers at the chapel, thus encouraging the attendance of sailors; in an increased desire for good looks and tracts; in desires and determinations repeatedly expressed by sea-faring men to live better lives, and the manifest spiritual change experienced by some of them.

The field, like any other with so many avenues to ruin, is a hard one; yet with God's blessing on the appliances of his own appointment on shipboard, in the Hospital, in the boarding house, in the Cafe, in the street, as well as in the sanctuary, fruit is gathered unto eternal life. From shipmasters and others he has often received testimonials of esteem, and recently a similar expression in a donation of $100 from the citizens. Enlarged accommodations have recently been made for sick sailors.

DENMARK.

COPENHAGEN.—REV. F. O. NELSON, Chaplain.

This Chaplain has found, as was anticipated, a wide field of usefulness opened among the Danish and other northern seamen; wider than in Sweden. For in addition to his labors on shipboard, along the wharves, and in the sailor boarding houses, he has twice on each Sabbath, and two or three times during the week, ministered to good congregations of seamen and others, in a commodious hall, "Preaching the Kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him." As in former years he has been eminently successful in directing sinners to Christ.

SWEDEN.

GOTTLAND.—J. LINDALIUS, Missionary.

This missionary was himself led to Christ, at sea, by Richard Baxter's "Call to the Unconverted;" and like Andrew of Bethsaida, on finding such a Saviour, he immediately went out to bring in his brother-sailors. With sailor-like zeal and perseverance he prosecutes his work in his native Island. In a recent report he speaks of some three hundred persons who have been spiritually benefitted under his labors.

STOCKHOLM.—A. M. LJUNGBERG, Missionary.

On account of impaired health, this devoted sailor-missionary has prosecuted his labors only a part of the past year, and has finally been compelled to resign. The Bibles, and tracts, and words, fitly spoken among seamen, still remain; scattered, it is true over every sea, but none the less sure of blessed results in the great harvest day.

GOTTENBURG.—E. ERICKSON, Missionary.

This missionary is the successor of F. O. Nelson, banished for the crime of worshipping God in a way, not in itself objectionable, but not according to the prescribed forms of a State Church. Of late the same spirit of intolerance has been manifested by imposing severe fines on those who do not present their children for baptism, and in other ways, the effect of which has been to determine a large number to emigrate to this country. With these brethren persecuted for righteousness sake, our missionary may also come, notwithstanding the frequent evidences he has that his labors there are not in vain in the Lord. During the last year he circulated 1598 Bibles and Testaments among seamen and emigrants to America.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

ST. JOHNS.—REV. E. N. HARRIS, Chaplain.

The number of seamen who annually visit this port is about sixteen thousand, and must increase, particularly the American portion, with a growing trade. Until recently, these sailors were left by the good to the tender mercies of the wicked. But since the American Seamen's Friend Society commissioned Mr. Harris to labor for their welfare, the citizens of St. Johns, with a commendable promptness, have organized a Seamen's Friend Society, and adopted measures to establish a good Sailor's Home. Thus, by a concert of effort, it is proposed to gather this portion of the harvest of the sea.

DOMESTIC OPERATIONS.

While the American Seamen's Friend Society leaves all kindred local societies to the sole management of their own affairs, it is often called upon variously to aid them by pecuniary grants, by counsel, or by the services of its Secretaries; so that a considerable portion of its labors is blended with theirs. For the sake, therefore, of giving a full report of its own acts, as well as spreading before the world a summary view of what is done by others in the United States for the benefit of seamen, it has been customary to glance at the prominent points and facts bearing on this subject.

PORTLAND.—REV. J. R. FRENCH, Chaplain.

It is gratifying to note a growing interest in the seamen's cause, in a State which builds more ships and furnishes more seamen than any state in the Union. Under date of April 8, Mr. French writes from Portland:—"God still blesses us with occasional manifestations of the work of the Spirit—an increase of interest during the last two or three weeks. Many sailors, many more than heretofore, attend on the means of grace, and last week 28 signed the Total Abstinence Pledge." Within the year several have given pleasing evidence of having passed from death unto life; while the correct deportment of large numbers illustrates both the importance of labors in their behalf, and the encouragement to persevere therein.

BOSTON.—REV. T. E. TAYLOR, REV. G. W. BOURNE, REV. P. STOW, REV. J. P. ROBINSON, REV. C. WILTBERGER, Chaplains, and CAPT. SULLIVAN, Marine Missionary.

Very few changes are reported as having taken place, in efforts to benefit Seamen in this city the past year, except the opening of a new Chapel and a new Sailor's Home, by the Boston Seamen's Friend Society. These edifices take the place of those destroyed by fire in July last; the Chapel, standing on the corner of Sea and Summer streets, being superior to the old one, both in its location and attractive appearance; while the Home, with its reading-room and Library of 600 Volumes; its spacious dining room and well furnished tables; its ninety-four airy sleeping rooms; its morning and evening family devotions; its protective and elevating influences, stands a monument of christian enterprise, and care for the Sailor. About $30,000, including the fitting up of 80 of its rooms by churches, individuals, and benevolent associations at an expense of $4,000, have been invested in this institution; and although it is not expected to yield one dollar's profit to its projectors and patrons, it is believed that no stock company in the land will be able to declare richer or more satisfactory results. It is under the superintendence of Mr. John O. Chany.

All the efforts for the benefit of Seamen in Boston are happily accomplishing the end in view.

Within the past year the American and Boston Seamen's Friend Societies, have effected an arrangement by which they employ the Rev. S. W. Hanks as their joint Secretary and Agent for the State of Massachusetts; while the Rev. William Bushnell who has faithfully promoted the cause in this field for several years, now acts in the same capacity in behalf of the parent Society in Maine and New Hampshire.

NEW-YORK.—REV. HENRY CHASE, REV. B. C. C. PARKER, REV. JAMES PERRY, REV. I. STEWARD, REV. D. V. M. JOHNSON, REV. O. G. HEDSTROM, and REV. MR. REMSEN, Chaplains.

In less than a single generation the tonnage of this city has trebled, and within half of that time the number of sea-going Steamers connecting this port with California, the West Indies, Southern and trans-Atlantic ports has increased to 76, with a tonnage (129,010) nearly equal to that of Great Britain with all its dependencies, (142,080.)

In the mean time the mercantile marine of sailing vessels is so increased as to cheat a visitor who has been absent a few years into the belief that the forests of the north and south have been converted into fleets and planted as a hedge-row around this commercial metropolis.

The number of Seamen annually in this port exceeds 50,000; to meet whose spiritual necessities, in addition to the ministrations of the above named Chaplains, a number of laymen, including Mr. J. S. Pearson, Mr. L. P. Hubbard, and Mr. J. Harris, are employed respectively by the New York Bible, Port, and Tract Societies in the distribution of the Scriptures, and evangelical books, and the various means adapted to improve the condition and character of sea-faring men. Notwithstanding the scarcity of Seamen in port during a considerable portion of the past year, their aggregate attendance in the several Bethels has been well sustained; while the number of boarders at the Society's

SAILORS HOME, IN CHERRY STREET,

The last year has been 3,069:—making the total number of its boarders since the house was opened, in eleven years, to be 36,596

Whatever of doubt at first existed as to the expediency of these prominent temperance boarding houses for Seamen, has been removed by undeniable facts, manifested in the general improvement of the mass, and in numerous individual cases of reform; in the provident use of their money, and the additional thrift and comfort of themselves and families, as well as the greatly needed and compelled improvement of other Sailor boarding houses. The number of shipwrecked and destitute men and boys at the Home, within the last year, was 200 who were relieved in board and clothing to the amount of $654 46 besides various articles of clothing gratuitously furnished by friends in the country and city. Captain Mathew Sayre, on account of protracted illness in his family, has resigned his post as Superintendent, and has been tendered the unanimous thanks of the Board for his important three years services. Mr Daniel Tracy, of Boston, who has had a long and varied experience on the ocean, tending to qualify him for the important trust, has been appointed as his successor. The Home is now undergoing extensive repairs both to preserve the property, and to render it a neat and attractive Home to the Mariner. Here the weak will find protection; the wayward good counsel fortified by good example; the social, good associates; the thinking, a well furnished Reading Room; the curious, a large Museum; the well disposed, new motives for patient continuance in well doing; the wrecked and destitute, the needed relief; while all will be reminded by the occurrence of the morning and evening family worship of their duties to God and each other, and be pointed to the path in which they should walk. While the doors of the Home must of necessity be guarded against impostors—no worthy sea-faring man or boy, will ever be knowingly turned away because he is destitute.

The other Temperance Sailor boarding houses in the city continue to have our commendation, and share in our best wishes for their greatest success; while to one of them especially, the Board has felt constrained to lend a helping hand, viz. the

HOME FOR COLORED SEAMEN,

Under the superintendence of Mr. Albro Lyon. Between Sept. 22, 1850, and March 1, 1853, this house has accommodated 664 colored Seamen, 71 of whom were destitute and relieved.

Recently it has been found necessary to change the location from Pearl to Oliver St., where Mr. Lyon will continue to keep a well regulated house, and exert his influence to save his boarders from drifting away to destruction.

It is very desirable that all the Homes, like the crew of a ship, should act with the utmost harmony; pulling strongly together, and alternately making fast what the others gain. We are happy to know that such is generally the case, and that Seamen are rallying around the institutions which have contributed so largely to their social and moral improvement.

PHILADELPHIA.—REV. CHARLES ROCKWELL, AND REV. R. S. TRAPIER, Chaplains.

The Rev. Mr. Rockwell succeeds the late lamented Douglass as Pastor of the Mariner's Church. He reports an average attendance of 200 to 300 on the Sabbath—a flourishing Sabbath School and 11 admissions to the church within the past year. The number of boarders at the Sailor's Home, under the control of the Pa. Seamen's Friend Society, and the immediate superintendence of Mr. John H. Cassidy, has been within the year ending April 1, 1853, 1,200; a gain of more than 150 over any previous year. Among those spiritually benefitted in this institution is a Spanish Catholic, from South America. Here he found the first Bible he ever saw. He eagerly read it, was hopefully converted, and bought six Bibles and six Testaments for his friends at home; one of them being for his Catholic Priest.

The Floating Bethel in which the Rev. Mr. Trapier has ministered, has recently been sold, and the Churchmen's Missionary Association has in contemplation the erection of a church on shore, to accommodate his congregation now worshipping in a Hall. The last Report of this Association speaks of the Seamen's Mission as second to none, and assigns as a reason, "That the conversion of Seamen must precede the success of Foreign Missions, because there are more than 1000 seamen for every christain Missionary who is sent forth; and 1000 evil examples would be much more powerful than one good example, even if human nature were more inclined to good than to evil."

Reports of the Pa. and Female Seamen's Friend Societies for 1853, have not been received.

BALTIMORE.—REV. E. E. ALLEN, AND REV. ——— Chaplains.

The Attendance on divine worship in the two Bethels on Fell's Point, and Lee Street, compares favorably with that of the other city churches.

At the Union Bethel a protracted meeting of four weeks has recently closed. It was a season of great interest. Among a considerable number savingly benefitted, is mentioned an old sailor of sixty years. He has sailed over the world and visited almost every Sea, seeking good, but has never found the true riches till he brought up in the Baltimore Bethel.

THE SAILOR'S HOME,

Which is also a Shipping Office, at 65 Thames St., Capt. J. B. Corner Superintendent and Shipping Master, has accommodated 500 boarders within a year, and shipped 2500 Seamen. In their temperate habits and provident use of their money, there is a gradual improvement. A flourishing Sabbath School is connected with the Bethel. Says the Chaplain, "Our prospects are very encouraging. Indeed the blessed Master does not let us labor in vain."

NORFOLK.

The ministers of the different evangelical churches in Norfolk have alternately preached the gospel in a temporary Bethel, while the Seamen's Friend Society is actively engaged in rebuilding the Mariner's Church lately destroyed by fire. They express their hearty thanks to the American Seamen's Friend Society, and to the citizens of New York, New Haven and Troy, who have generously aided them in this work.

WILMINGTON, N. C.

A Seamen's Friend Society, has recently been formed in this port, and the Rev. W. J. Langdon appointed their Agent. Including the Charleston and Cape Fear Steamers, there are about 2100 arrivals of vessels a year: and for the accommodation of the sailors belonging to them, there is neither a Sailor's Home, a Mariner's Church, nor a Hospital in Wilmington. Its commerce is increasing about 10 per cent, annually. Liberal subscriptions have just been made—one gentleman giving $1000, and three others $500 each, for a Mariner's Church. When this is completed a Sailor's Home will claim their attention.

CHARLESTON.—REV. W. B. YATES, Chaplain.

Says the Chaplain, in a recent letter, "During the past year we have had about ten conversions; and many more have left under serious impressions. About 600 have boarded at the Home now under the superintendence of Capt. and Mrs. White. It is well conducted, and its influence has been very salutary. We number our Temperance Pledge Book, 6493; and large amounts of money saved by those who have taken the pledge." Through the influence of temperance efforts, a magistrate of Charleston testifies, that for 8 or 9 years the criminal Prosecutions against Seamen, have been diminished two thirds or more.

SAVANNAH.—REV. THOMAS HUTCHINS, Chaplain.

The Chaplain reports 75 Members connected with the Seamen's Church; 240 members of the Temperance Society, the greater part of whom have signed the pledge the past year; and during this time he has preached to about 3500 Seamen belonging to different nations. Some conversions also.

MOBILE.—REV. ALEXANDER MCGLASHAN, Chaplain.

The Mobile Bethel Society has, within the last year, repaired their Bethel Church, and sustained their Chaplain. It has repaired the Sailor's Home, which has had within the year, 1246 Sailor-boarders, and would have accommodated more but for want of room. Under the judicious management of Mr. Lawson the Home continues to do incalculable good.

For a long time the necessity has been felt of having a Bethel ship anchored amidst the large fleet of ships 25 or 30 miles below the city in the Bay; and last fall a concurrence of providences aided in the accomplishment of this object. A gale was commissioned to wreck a large British ship, and Roger Stuart, Esq., a merchant, was disposed to purchase her at auction for the double purpose of a Bethel and a temporary Hospital. She cost over $2000. The Mobile Bethel Society, and the American Seamen's Friend Society have refunded to Mr. Stuart $500 each, and the ship, put in the possession of the former Society, is being fitted up for its purpose; while the Parent Society has appointed the Rev. John Gridley of Kenosha, Wisconsin, as Seamen's Chaplain and Physician. Mr. Gridley has accepted his appointment, and having had a long and successful experience in both departments, will enter upon the performance of his duties among the 20,000 seamen annually in that Bay, with the most favorable auspices.

May his memorial be like that engraved on the tomb stone of one of New England's early and most useful ministers :—

“Well skilled in two important arts;
Nobly he filled the double station,
Both of Preacher and Physician;
And strove to make his patients whole
Throughout, in body and in soul.”

Speaking of his labors the past year in Mobile, Mr. McGlashan says :—

“Most gratefully do I acknowledge the goodness of God in giving point and power to his own truth in the awakening and conversion of sinners. More seamen have been in attendance this year than usual; especially at night our congregations have been good and a deep solemnity has often characterized our meetings. Several, we trust, have been savingly converted to God; five of whom made a profession of their faith, in Christ, and became members of the Bethel Church. Others who could not remain long enough on shore for this purpose, went on their way rejoicing, and some of them to unite with churches at the north where their families belong.”

NEW ORLEANS.

The arrivals of vessels in the Crescent City for the year ending with August last, was 2,351, and of steamboats 2,778; being a considerable advance on the preceding year, and showing a growing commerce. Whether the efforts for the benefit of the men navigating these vessels have been commensurate with their spiritual necessities we are unable to say, having received no answer to our inquiries on the subject.

OTHER PORTS.

Several other ports South and North for the want of recent definite information in respect to their efforts for seamen are necessarily omitted in this rapid sketch.

SAVING'S BANKS.

When the Seamen's Bank for Savings in Wall-st., New York, was first opened, twenty four years ago, it was with some difficulty that sailors were persuaded to leave their money on deposit. They had been robbed so much by professed friends, and had their confidence so often abused that they were naturally and necessarily reluctant to trust anybody. But their confidence has been so far gained by their true friends as to induce them to deposit about a million and a half of dollars in this Bank alone; about $375,000 in the Saving's Bank in Boston, and a large aggregate amount in other similar institutions where their money is safe, yields them a good interest, and is an important guaranty to their good conduct and character. Their Banking House is one of the most imposing in Wall-st., affording, besides its own spacious accommodations, a revenue from rent of offices equal to the interest on the amount invested.

SEAMEN'S CEMETERIES.

The Trustees of the Greenwood Cemetery, a few months since generously gave the American Seamen's Friend Society a plot of ground on Ocean Hill. The Society has ornamented by enclosing it with an arbor vite hedge, and an iron gate between two granite posts. Its first sleeping occupant is the blind sailor, so often seen in the streets of New York with his box of cigars under his arm for sale, being led by his trusty dog. These accommodations not being sufficient, several of the merchants and underwriters of New York, acting in concert with the officers of the American Seamen's Friend Society, petitioned Congress for an appropriation sufficient to purchase in the Cemetery of the Evergreens ample accommodations for the burial of seamen dying in the New York Hospital, boarding houses, or other residences.

A grant of $5000 was made for this object, the ground has been purchased, and placed in charge of a Board of Trustees. The sailor now has no more occasion for objection to going to the New York Hospital lest he should there die, and his body be carted off for burial in the Potter's Field. The Cemetery is beautifully ornamented with trees, shrubbery and monuments, and commands a fine view of the ocean and Sandy Hook. Different plots of ground have been allotted to sailors of different nations, and each grave is registered so as to be recognized by relatives and friends. We congratulate seamen and their friends on the successful completion of these humane arrangements.

SEAMEN'S ADVANCE.

The practice of paying advance wages to seamen is of long standing, and is so incorporated with the mode of shipping men as to become one of the unyielding laws of custom. It has however been demonstrated to be injurious to all concerned; to shipowners and masters, as it often imposes on them incompetent men, and occasions frequent desertions; and more especially injurious to seamen themselves, as it promotes dishonesty by putting into their hands a premium to desertion; as it promotes degradation by furnishing them the means of dissipation and vice; as it promotes idleness and insubordination at sea by making them feel that they are paying for a dead horse rather than earning a live one; and as it promotes extortion and fraud by placing them in the power of unprincipled landlords and crimps.

To remedy these evils a Committee of the American Seamen's Friend Society has addressed a circular letter to shipowners, underwriters, merchants and others interested in the elevation of seamen in our principal ports, soliciting their counsel and co-operation.

As it is important to act in concert in this matter their replies are earnestly awaited.

LIBRARIES AND BOOKS FOR SEAMEN.

More than usual attention the past year has been directed to furnishing ships with Libraries, and useful books. Twenty one vessels have been supplied with libraries averaging 50 vols. each, and six including vessels of war averaging 117 each; besides many miscellaneous volumes, magazines and papers, making more than 2000 volumes which have gone with the exploring expedition to Japan, with the coast survey, with the whale ships to the Pacific, and the merchant vessels over the globe. Some of these books were presented to the Society for this purpose. The whole cost of the balance to the Society was $418.33. Not a few ship owners, as John B. Kitching, Esq., of New York, the enterprising conductor of the first caloric ship, masters and others are interesting themselves in supplying a healthful literature for the sea. Mr. J. S. Pierson, Agent of the New York Bible Society, is also doing much in this department.

SAILOR'S MAGAZINE.

The monthly issues of this work are now 6,250 copies, and the demand will require a speedy increase of the number. Its aim is to elevate seamen, by awakening a general interest in their behalf, and by promoting their own self respect, and meritorious conduct. Its aim is to be a moral manual of the sea; sufficiently miscellaneous to be read; sufficiently learned to command respect, and so simple in style that any intelligent child may comprehend and enjoy its pages. Its aim is to purify the literature of the sea, and create a taste for books which shall improve both the mind and heart. Good contributions from seamen are doubly welcome in the pages of their own Magazine.

INLAND SAILORS.

The American Bethel-Society, the Western Seamen's Friend Society, and the Western Boatmen's Union, whose offices respectively are at Buffalo, Cleveland and St. Louis; and whose Secretaries are Rev. T. Stillman, Rev. R. H. Leonard, and Rev. Chas. J. Jones, are energetically prosecuting their various operations for the benefit of the inland sailors. Their recent statistics are not at hand.

NEW FIELDS OF LABOR.

Allusion has already been made to Shanghai, in China, and Callao, in Peru, as important fields of labor among the seamen. So also, is Calcutta, in India. A Committee of the Calcutta Seamen's Friend Society says, "We have for some years past, endeavored to obtain help from the Seamen's Friend Societies in the U. S., but without success. The account of the number of shipping for the past year will show our friends in America that we have a strong claim upon them for help, for during the year 121 vessels belonging to the States have visited Calcutta, and we hope, therefore, a new application to America will not be in vain." An application for a small amount of aid is also before the Board from Batavia. Not to mention other important fields abroad, as in Australia and several ports in South America there is a growing conviction that more ought to be done in the open fields at home.

FINANCES.

The total Receipts for the year ending May 1, were $25,283 62; being an increase of $1,622 98 over those of 1852, and the expenditures $23,732 10. This amount does not include large sums which have passed through the Treasuries of Auxilliary and Branch Societies. A minute statement is presented in the Treasurer's report.

SUMMARY REVIEW.

A review of the past establishes the fact of a great and decided improvement in progress among seamen. It is seen

1. In the general disuse of Intoxicating liquors on board American vessels, and in the thousands of total-abstinence seamen on shore. The Marine Temperance Society of New York, numbers over 27,000 members. Sober men going to sea were not long since the exceptions of their class; now the drunken ones are the ignoble few. Moreover, policy and principle are carrying the work of temperance reform into the marine service of other nations.

2. In a better observance of the christian Sabbath.

But recently this was the great sailing day from port. While the ship was hauling out into the stream and weighing anchor, a hurried note was sent to the Sanctuary asking a remembrance in the prayers of God's people. Perhaps the shipowner himself was the bearer of the note, leaving his clerks in the counting-room, and the sailors in the ship to the service of mammon, while he engaged in the service of God!

But now scarcely a respectable American House sends its ships to sea on the Sabbath; while on board of many, no unnecessary work is done, and the day is spent as hallowed time; Saturday being allowing the men for mending their clothes and making ready for a day of rest. All honor to Commodore Stringham, and the officers of the U. S. Frigate Cumberland. On a recent visit to Athens, in Greece, the Commodore called on the French Admiral, and was welcomed with a salute. The next day, which was the Sabbath, the Admiral returned the visit; and on leaving was informed by the Commodore, that as he neither visited nor saluted on the Sabbath, he would pay him the customary honors the following morning. Accordingly, on Monday, the guns of the Cumberland boomed forth honors to the Admiral, while they reflected more enduring honors on those who respected the laws of God, more than the forms of etiquette established by men. Such examples—and this is by no means a solitary one—do more to elevate officers, and men, and the National Flag, than all the gunpowder ever burned.

It gives us sincere pleasure to know that the number of Masters and officers who respect the Sabbath and love the institutions of religion, has greatly increased of late; that not a few who serve their country on the sea make it their duty and pleasure to serve God wherever they are. Not long since the supper of the Prince of Peace was celebrated with great solemnity on board of a U. S. ship of war at sea. There were more than twenty communicants. To them, as well as to the deeply interested spectators, that Sabbath scene was a memorable event.

3. In a better discipline at sea.

From a multitude of illustrations the following are selected because first at hand; the U. S. Frigate "Congress," Commodore Melver and the clipper ships "Sovereign of the Seas," and "Trade Wind," Captains McKay and Webber. The good order and perfect discipline of the 500 men on board the Congress, furnish the best of arguments for the abolition of the lash. The Commodore is perfectly convinced, after 40 years' service, that the law of kindness is the best, and is quite sure, that however bad the material in our mercantile marine may be, it can be trained and disciplined according to that law.

The "Sovereign of the Seas" sailed for San Francisco with a crew of 100 men. In 103 days she was at her destination; and instead of running away as usual, it was not until two or three days after their arrival that the crew could be persuaded to leave the ship. The mutual good will between the Master, officers, and men, made it easy to command, and a pleasure to obey. The "Trade Wind," with a crew of 60 men, made the same voyage in 102 days. On the morning of the 21st day out, she was discovered to be on fire. Holes were cut through the deck and bales of goods hoisted out to make room for the sailors to go down, one at a time, and turn a stream of water through a hose from the force pump on the burning mass. One by one they fell, suffocated and insensible from the carbonic acid gas; and as soon as one was dragged out, another as bold as he took his place and shared his fate, till each of the 60 had taken his turn, and some of them five or six times, in the suffocation of dying, and the convulsive agonies of again coming to life! "At one time," says an eye witness, "I counted 16 of these generous fellows lying together on the deck. As soon as one was recovered sufficiently to work, he would go back and offer his services again."

"Thus," adds another, "several times did some of them throw themselves down into the smoking gaseous hold, as if determined to extinguish the fire or die in the attempt. Never in any battle was courage more fully tried. Never was there a harder struggle than this day exhibited." And why did they thus battle with the flames for hours? Why not secure their own safety by taking to the boats? Because, as they have since declared, they loved their Captain as a father, and their officers as brothers. Their discipline was strict, but it was kind; it was manly; it was humane; and it begat in their bosoms the noblest impulses of their natures. It is a libel on human nature and on the divine government to aver that kindness is not better adapted to secure obedience to lawful authority, than an iron severity. And it is cause for joy that on board of many ships this principle is now carried out in the happiest experiments.

4. In a growing desire for the Bible, and Religious and useful Books.

This desire is by no means confined to those who speak the English language; and the distribution among seamen of all nations has been greater the past than in any previous year. The literature of the sea baptised aforesaid in Wapping, is giving place to reading redolent with the dews and atmosphere of Mount Zion. All the Chaplains and Missionaries of the Society are calling for more good books to supply the growing demand. Shipowners and others, are finding their duty and interest combined in sending a healthful literature to Sea.

A single town in Maine has furnished more than 100 vessels with good libraries. In other places a most commendable spirit is manifested in this department of doing good. The American Seamen's Friend Society has acted in this matter fully to the extent of its means, and anticipates the accomplishment of a noble work, when a contested legacy bequeathed for this purpose shall have been secured.

A shipmaster in thanking a Ladies Seamen's Friend Society for a Library furnished his crew, says, "I have often passed the fore-castle door, and seen them all sitting around the room at work upon their clothes, while one has been employed reading to the others from one of these books; and the Temperance Tales had so much influence upon them that they formed a Society among themselves. I think there were but few, if any of the books which were not read by them during the voyage, and they took the place of those demoralizing scrapings, which are frequently from their cheapness stuffed into the sea chest. An investment of this kind is well worth making, for every ship that floats."

Lastly, and pre-eminently, evidence of improvement among seamen is seen in numerous conversions to God.

The Chaplain at Rio, records in his last letter the goodness of God in blessing his labors, among other instances, to the hopeful conversion of a son of the Capt. of the bark S. of Boston.

Among others rejoiced over at Panama, the Chaplain tells of a sailor who was educated for the Papal priesthood in Ireland; who in renouncing the mummeries of his church became an infidel; who in sailing over the globe had gathered much general information, and who gloried in parrying the most pointed and solemn truths by remarks of the most surprising drollery. "The clearest exhibitions of omnipotent wrath," says the Chaplain, "played over his cool heart like lightning on ice. The tenderness of Christ's love touched no chord deeper than his risibility, and he seemed to exult in the thought, I will not feel." Yet he was brought to feel himself to be a lost sinner, and to rejoice in the hope of salvation through Christ.

So with other Chaplains, as at Havre, Copenhagen &c., they have had repeated and the most pleasing proofs that their labors are not in vain in the Lord.

In the meantime the Bible has continued to exercise its quickening power. It has caused the poor man in the cabin and in the fore-castle to cry unto the Lord; and the Lord has heard and brought him out of all his troubles.

Evangelical books and tracts too have in many instances accomplished the gracious errands on which they were sent to sea.

Thus one shipmaster was led by the Pilgrim's Progress to the Bible, and by the Bible to the Lamb of God.

"A Mate recently told me," says the Chaplain at Honolulu, that the tract, the "Swearer's Prayer" had effectually opened his mind to the sinfulness of his conduct as a drinking blasphemer, and now he was endeavoring to live a life of prayer."

The social prayer meeting and the Bible class on shipboard and on shore have each been followed with the happiest results. A sailor boarder at the Home in New York, closed the last evening of last year in a meeting for prayer. He had been wrecked five times, and now he felt that his soul was wrecked. His sorrow endured for a night, but joy came in the morning. With the joy of a new born soul he commenced a Happy New Year. The revival on board the Flag Ship of the Mediterranean squadron recently arrived in port, commenced in a Bible class at Sea. Thus the entrance of God's word giveth light. And lo, these are but parts of his ways. They clearly show an auspicious beginning of oivine prophecies and promises fulfilled in relation to the conversion of the abundance of the sea, and afford ample encouragement to prosecute a work so essential to the salvation of its nearly 3,000,000 men, and through them so important to the conversion of the world to God.

CONSTITUTION

AMERICAN SEAMEN'S FRIEND SOCIETY.

ARTICLE I.—The name of this Society shall be “THE AMERICAN SEAMEN'S FRIEND SOCIETY.

ART. II.—The object of the Society shall be to improve the social and moral condition of seamen, by uniting the efforts of the wise and good in their behalf; by promoting in every port, Boarding Houses of good character, Savings Banks, Register Offices, Libraries, Museums, Reading Rooms, and Schools: and also the ministration of the Gospel, and other religious blessings.

ART. III.—Any person contributing two dollars annually, shall be a member of this Society, or by paying twenty dollars at any one time, shall be a member for life; and any person paying fifty dollars, either at one or two payments, shall be a director for life.

ART. IV.—The control and disposal of the funds, property, and estate of the Society, and the directions of its concerns, shall, in accordance with the act of incorporation, be vested in a Board of Trustees, consisting of twenty-four persons, who shall be chosen by the members of the Society, at its annual meeting, and the Trustees last chosen shall hold their office until others are chosen, eight of whom shall be a quorum at any meeting regularly convened. To guard against inexperienced legislation, the Board shall be divided alphabetically into three classes of eight each, one class of which, and one only, shall go out at the end of each year, and these be re-eligible. To guard furthermore against sectarian predominance, a majority of the Trustees shall at no time be of one denomination. Said Board shall have power to fill all vacancies that may occur therein; to appoint from their own number, a President, a Treasurer, and such other officers, as the interest of the Society may require. They shall furthermore appoint such standing committees as they shall deem needful to mature business for execution by the Board.

ART. V.—The Board shall have power to appoint their own meetings, form their rules of business, and, when necessary, convene the Society; they shall have the disposal of its funds, take such security of the Treasurer as they shall think proper, employ such means for accomplishing the object of the Society as, in their judgment, its exigencies may require, keeping regular minutes of their proceedings.

CONSTITUTION.

ART. VI.—Any Society whose object is the welfare of Seantén, may become auxiliary to this Institution by expressing its desire, forwarding its Constitution, list of officers and annual report, and such surplus funds as may not be needed for its local use. Each auxiliary shall be entitled to send one delegate to all the meetings of the Society, and of the Board of Trustees.

ART. VII.—Societies for the same object in our large sea-ports, which may prefer to become branches of the National Society, with a view of forming their own auxiliaries, and thus enlarging the sphere of their operations, shall be received as such upon the terms above specified for auxiliaries; and shall be entitled to three delegates at all the meetings of the Society and the Board, and to any other privileges which, in the progress of the Institution, the Board shall deem it expedient to grant.

ART. VIII.—Seafaring men, who are disposed to promote religious privileges while at sea, may become connected with this Society, its Branches, or Auxiliaries, as Floating Committees, under such regulations as the Board may adopt and shall receive the sanction and assistance of the Society.

ART. IX.—This Society shall meet annually, on the Monday preceding the second Thursday in May, in the City of New-York, when the Report of the Board shall be presented, and a new Board constituted, according to the provisions of the 4th Article.

ART. X.—All moneys already contributed, or that may hereafter be contributed, for the purpose of purchasing or erecting a building or buildings, for the use of the Society, shall be faithfully applied to that purpose, and no other. And no conveyance of real estate by this Society shall be made without the written consent of at least two-thirds of the Trustees for the time being.

ART. XI.—No alteration shall be made in this Constitution, unless requested at an annual meeting, and sanctioned by two-thirds of the members present.
