to be applied to the Missionary purposes of said Society.
In Memoriam

MRS. GEORGE ERETY SHOEMAKER

"He giveth His Beloved Sleep"
Of all the gifts of God that are Borne inward unto souls afar
Along the Psalmist's music deep—Now tell me if there any is For gift or grace surpassing this:
"He giveth His beloved sleep."

* * * * * *

And friends! dear friends! when it shall be
That this low breath has gone from me,
And round my bier ye come to weep,
Let one, most loving of you all,
Say, not a tear must o'er her fall—
"He giveth His beloved sleep."

Those inspired lines of Mrs. Browning's seem especially appropriate to the passing away of our beloved President.
Always she had been so active for the good of others—not only efficient in all the relationships of life, but interested in so many charitable works.
She was truly "in the world but not of it"—always a strong, loving influence for righteousness.
Our Union Society was particularly near her heart, partly because her aunt, Miss Longstreth, was among the Founders; partly because she believed so thoroughly that the word "Christian" means more than any sectarian term can mean.
Her hospitable home was always open to our missionaries. Many shall arise and call her blessed!
God bless her memory to us all!

SIXTY-NINTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE
PHILADELPHIA BRANCH
OF THE Woman's Union Missionary Society

God sent His only Son into the world, and He was the first missionary. And ever since then many of God’s children have heard His call and have answered it, gladly giving up home and lands and kindred, and going into earth’s darkest places because the love of Christ constrained them.

But some one said there are two other ways to answer that call to go. We could let go, or we could help go. So today we shall hear just a little of the work some of those are doing whom we, as a Society, have helped to go.

Miss Colson, who talked to us in person just a year ago, has returned to her field in Fatehpur, and writes of her delight in being once more in her beloved work. She wondered, as she returned, if it would be difficult to get accustomed again to the use of Hindustani, but on seeing the dark-skinned faces the speech which they could understand seemed to fall naturally from her lips. She was given a rapturous welcome, with fireworks and singing by the girls and servants gathered to meet her.

Miss Durrant reports several happy marriages of girls in the Home, and that many of the girls are showing deeper interest in Bible study and evident desire to become the women God intended them to be.

Miss Dass, our Bible woman, speaks especially of Tara, a Hindu girl, coming to the Home from a life of sinful ease and luxury, yet anxious to lead a better life. She has already learned that she needs a Saviour and that Christ is the only one who can save her. She is only one among many whom the Home is reaching out to win.

Our work in Allahabad consists of a school of about two hundred Hindu and Mohammedan girls, with Zenana visiting.
We have nine Christian teachers, who do the actual teaching, most of them living on the compound. There are also an India Zenana worker and four Anglo-Indian workers, who visit and teach the women in their homes. One of these workers, Miss Roderick, has so many pupils that she cannot visit all of them every week. She writes of a former pupil, now the wife of a lecturer in the Law College. They have a little daughter, Sunshine, still unmarried, a significant fact, as the Sardu Bill, prohibiting child marriage, and fixing the age of consent for girls at sixteen or seventeen, is being debated in the Legislative Council. Orthodox Hindus are opposing the bill, and some are hastily marrying off their daughters, lest the bill should be passed. The Mahouts or Ascetics of the various schools of Philosophy are in a panic lest they be deprived of the child widows made over to them for the service of the gods in the temples; but the leading physicians and statesmen are strongly in favor of the bill, and the missionaries are praying hard.
Little Sunshine is receiving a thorough education and passing her exams with high honors, but best of all, learning to tread the Christ road.

Dr. Ernst writes the followiag from Jhansi: "It is with great thankfulness that we review the year just closed. Though our missionary staff was reduced to half the number, all the departments of the medical work were not only carried on but showed a substantial increase over that of last year. The number of confinement cases, both in the hospital and in the patients' homes, was nearly doubled, this being made possible by the loyal support of our Indian staff. When we could not find efficient Bible women for all the evangelistic work we wished done, our Indian nurses came gladly to our help, and gave the Gospel message in the dispensaries, in addition to the prayers in the wards, which they have conducted for some years. Two of our older graduate nurses have been located in the village of Chagaon, a place of five thousand inhabitants eighteen miles from Jhansi. Here they hold a dispensary six days a week, and a Sunday school on Sundays. They visit the homes and instruct the women in the Gospel, hygiene and reading. The doctors from the hospital visit Chagaon once or more a week, and help with the more serious cases, bringing the very ill back to the hospital for treatment. Many serious cases of cholera, typhoid, pneumonia, etc., have recovered with no treatment other than that our nurses could give. Two new dispensaries have been opened lately for the wives and children of the Indian regiments stationed in Jhansi. These women are most grateful for the medical aid, and listen eagerly to the hymns and Gospel message. The work has grown beyond our asking and thinking—now our cry is for more workers.”

And Dr. Ernst’s appeal is echoed and re-echoed by all the workers on all the fields. Everywhere come reports of awakened souls, of arms stretched out in longing for the salvation only faith in Christ can bring, for more men and women to lead these souls into the knowledge of His saving grace. “Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest that He will send forth laborers into His harvest.”
