In Memoriam

Mrs. William Fraser McDowell

The Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America learned with sorrow of the home going of its Vice-President, Mrs. William Fraser McDowell at her home in Washington, D. C., on December 27, 1930.

Mrs. McDowell had been associated with the Federation since its early days, and was always one of its spiritual leaders. She had served the organization with unstinted devotion since its inception. Her unfailing courage brought inspiration and cheer, and her insight and spiritual perception was a never failing source of strength and confidence. Out of a rich experience of personal relationships and denominational work she made a valuable contribution to interdenominational associations and to conferences on peace and law enforcement.

Mrs. McDowell was President of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church from 1908 to 1921. Her greatest interest was centered in the training of nationals. Her interest in the Union Christian Colleges and in literature for women and children in mission lands was outstanding. It was through her that the request came to the Federation from the Protestant women of Latin America to join in a day of united prayer. This event contributed much to the establishment of the World Day of Prayer, in which some forty-five nations joined last year.

The Federation records its sorrow in the loss of this dear friend, and its gratitude to God for her counsels and friendship. The beauty of her face and the radiance of her personality will long be a happy memory and an inspiration to those who knew Mrs. McDowell.

Miss Alice M. Kyle

In the passing of Miss Alice M. Kyle, Treasurer of the Committee on Christian Literature for Women and Children in Mission Fields, the Federation has lost one more of the splendid women who have made its work effective. Miss Kyle gave many years of service to the Woman's Board of Missions of the Congregational Church, beginning in 1892, when she came from Portland, Maine, to become a Field Secretary. She was the first Chairman of the Committee on Christian Literature of the Federation, and during her service with this Committee she saw great developments from very small beginnings.

Her capacity for friendship, her faithful service and her loyal devotion to the work of the Kingdom endeared her to the friends with whom she labored. The severe experience of her long illness, though keenly felt, was most courageously met. Her unstinted service in the field of Christian Literature gives assurance that though she rests from her labors, truly her works do follow her.

Mrs. Joseph M. West

With the United Church of Canada, the Federation sustained a great loss when Mrs. Joseph M. West passed away in Toronto in September. The meetings which she attended were richer for her presence. Out of her wide experience and clear thinking she brought a rich contribution to the deliberations and problems of the organizations to which she belonged. Her work in the "Stranger Department" and in International Relations made her widely known and deeply loved. Friends of the Federation rejoice in the memories and blessings that have come to them in their association with her. The fragrance and Christlikeness of her useful life will be a lasting influence.
The Annual Meeting of the Federation was held at Bronxville, at the Hotel Gramatan, January 10-12, 1931. In the absence of the President, Mrs. F. I. Johnson, the acting Vice-President, Miss Margaret E. Hodge, presided. At the opening session Saturday evening there were about one hundred fifty present. After a hymn, prayer was offered by Miss O. H. Lawrence, and Dr. Henry T. Hodgkin of Pendle Hill made the address of the evening, followed by a devotional service led by Dr. Bruce Curry, who took as his subject: “Jesus for the Life of Today.” Sunday morning Dr. Hodgkin gave the second address on: “ Movements at Home and Abroad which Vitally Affect the Foreign Mission Enterprise.”

Sunday afternoon Dr. Curry conducted a service in which a number took part, the theme being: “Can We Share the Faith of Jesus?” Sunday evening was given over to the Foreign Students, about twenty of whom were present Saturday night and Sunday. Several of these students spoke, and Dr. Hurrey of the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students put into words some of the desires of the Foreign Students, and their hope for closer fellowship with the Mission Boards. This meeting was presided over by Mrs. Leslie E. Swain, Chairman of the Federation Committee on Foreign Students.

Monday Morning

The meeting opened with a period of Bible Study, led by Dr. Curry, the last of his series of three searching messages. His subject being: “How the Kingdom Grows.”

A business session followed, beginning with the reports of Standing Committees, as follows:

Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions

In the presentation of its thirtieth annual report Miss Schultz voiced the appreciation of the Committee to the Mission Boards and to the Federation for their continued cooperation in promoting the books of Central Committee. “A Cloud of Witnesses” by Elsie Singmaster emphasized the growth in the mission enterprise through the development of national Christian leaders. "The Treasure Hunt," the junior book "Pedro and the Bells," the children's book, and "Candy and Love" the baby book, have all had wide usage during the fall, and the outlook is bright for further use. "A Cloud of Witnesses" will be used for some years as source material and as a reading book.

Books for 1931-1932

Central Committee is cooperating with the Missionary Education Movement in promoting the general theme: "Christianity and the Rural Life of the World." The woman's book: "Christ Comes to the Village" is ably edited by Mary Schauffler Platt, the author of "The Child in the Midst" and "A Straight Way toward Tomorrow." It is a study of the life of the rural women in mission lands. Many authorities on rural work have contributed to the assured success of this book. The last chapter is by Dr. Stanley Jones. The junior book is by the English authority, Mary Entwhistle, and is called "Open Windows." It is published by Central Committee and the Missionary Education Movement in cooperation.

The theme for the 1932-1933 book will be China, and Mary Brewster Hollister will write the woman's book.

Christian Literature for Women and Children in Mission Lands

The Committee wishes to record its profound gratitude to God for the measure of success that has attended its efforts. It has gained a number of new friends, several of the Mission Boards have increased their offerings, one or two new offerings have been received from Boards not hitherto contributing, and its income is larger than it has ever been before. The prospects of "The Treasure Chest" give great encouragement. The editor, Miss Ruth Robinson, is able to report to us that new editions in Bengali, Burmese, and Telugu are already arranged. The Burmese edition was provided by a gift of $500, given by the Northfield School of Foreign Missions last July, in memory of Mr. William A. Montgomery.

This year has seen the first subsidy sent to the International Committee for Christian Literature in Africa. This International Committee made possible through the efforts of John R. Mott is projecting a magazine in English for the English-speaking colonies on the East Coast of Africa, and one in French for the French and Belgian colonies on the West Coast. Miss Jean MacKenzie has been secured as one of the editors of the English magazine. Through the gift of $1,000 by a personal friend of the Committee, the first subsidy was made for the printing of the English magazine.
The Korean magazine for children, for which the money was raised at the Northfield Foreign Missions Conference, over a year ago, published its first number in July of this year. It is a joint enterprise of the Christian Literature Committee of Korea and the Korean Sunday School Association.

Subsidies were also granted during the year to the monthly magazine, "The Antorcha Missionera," in Mexico, and to "Guia Del Hogar" a Christian magazine for the home, published by a band of women, representing many denominations in Buenos Aires. A call has come for the establishment of a magazine in Siam, and also in Egypt.

A substantial beginning has been made for the memorial to our beloved Alice M. Kyle, first Chairman, and later Treasurer, of the Christian Literature Committee. Wonderful letters of appreciation of her faith and courage have been received from the secretaries of the Christian Literature Committee of many lands. The work which she did can never be sufficiently praised.

The great enterprise of the year has been the endeavor to raise a fund of at least $25,000 for the enlargement of the work. A National Campaign Committee has been appointed, of which Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy is Chairman. Through correspondence this Committee has already arranged for some fourteen luncheons to be given in as many centers. At these luncheons, the needs of the Committee will be made known, the extent of its work will be explained. Model addresses have been provided for the use of local committees, samples of literature and of posters will also be provided, and all possible help given by the Committee to set up a worthy appeal. The Committee aims to make plain the fact that its appeal is not to missionary circles or auxiliaries, but rather to individuals. Correspondence is invited in regard to the enterprise with any member of the Committee, or with Miss Florence G. Tyler, the Executive Secretary of the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions, 419 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

The Committee urges upon all the careful reading of the Treasurer's report. Mrs. Stanley White has been chosen as Treasurer to succeed Miss Alice M. Kyle.

The Committee desires the earnest and united prayers of every cooperating Board and every missionary woman, and expresses gratitude to all who have in any way helped to make the past year's record one of success.

Helen Barrett Montgomery, Chairman
Constitution and By-Laws

The Committee recommended:

Under V, on Officers—That the words, "The Secretary may also be the Treasurer if desired," be deleted.

That the words, "There may also be an assistant secretary, and an assistant Treasurer," be added so that the article shall read: "The officers of the Federation shall be a president, one or more vice-presidents, a secretary and a treasurer. There may also be an assistant secretary and an assistant treasurer."

Jennie C. Eulette, Chairman

Voted: that these recommendations be adopted, with the understanding that they now become operative, the first vote having been taken in 1930.

Foreign Students

The year 1930 has not been an easy one for the Committee. It has been particularly hard to see so great an opportunity for Christian hospitality and friendliness neglected. Letters can not fill the place of personal visitation, so lack of funds has been a serious handicap.

Routine work has gone on as usual and a wealth of correspondence has increased the number of local centres promoting friendly visitation and entertainment.

In addition a good deal of publicity has been sent out, especially through denominational magazines. This too has brought results. In view of the ever expanding opportunities for the promotion of Christian hospitality among foreign students the Committee recommends: "That the Federation consider the possibility of securing as an experiment a short-term secretary, irrespective of race, to do some travelling and work among foreign students in connection with the work of this Committee."

Anna C. Swain, Chairman

Voted: That this recommendation be adopted, it having been amended by the addition of the words: "as soon as the necessary funds are in hand," the Finance Committee having considered this recommendation at the request of the Executive Committee, and having reported that they were sympathetic to the recommendation of this Committee, if a way of financing it could be found.
Home Base

The work of the Committee for the past year has been done chiefly in the field of research. Lists of denominational secretaries working in the different fields have been compiled and the chairman of the department for young peoples’ work has collected outlines of the work done in this department in twenty of the Mission Boards. These outlines were mimeographed and sent out to the cooperating Boards. The chairman of the department of children’s work collected much information on the work of the various Boards in that department.

The sub-committee on Bulletins and Magazines has assisted in the collection of material for the missionary bulletin in the “Missionary Review of the World,” and in sending out news information to the various missionary magazines.

The committee feels that its work should be simplified another year, and should be centered on specific problems.

Helene B. Dickie, Chairman

Industrial Missions’ Products

There is an important piece of work for this Committee to do in helping the industrial mission centres on the field to produce marketable goods, and in providing in this country an outlet for such goods as can not be marketed locally on the field.

In spite of unsettled conditions in China, goods from at least ten mission stations are being received in New York at the present time.

A questionnaire sent to all Mission Boards asking for information on industrial work has revealed:

That Mission Boards sponsor very little of this work.
That for the most part it is the project of one or two interested Missionaries on the field.
That in some cases it is started to help to finance mission work on the field.
That in some cases it is started to provide work for people in great need, and thus raise their standard of living.
That in some cases it is run in connection with a school, to provide self help for the students.
That in most cases sufficient market for the goods can not be found locally.
That there is more of this work in China than elsewhere.
That if Mission Boards would subsidize this work, there would be much more of it.
Information from the field indicates that the mission work room is an excellent place in which to teach the principles and practice of religion. The Committee is composed largely of people who have had experience in industrial work rooms on the field and in the marketing of industrial mission products in America. It will endeavor to promote the sale of products through publicity and through the development of greater interest in this work which may be so helpful in mission stations overseas.

Lucy Kent, Chairman.

International Relations

This Committee has continued its activities during the past year in the cause of peace, race relations and the improvement of moving pictures in the Orient. Its major interests have been in the realm of peace education and promotion.

Following out the action taken last year, a Program on Peace was prepared and printed for local groups entitled: "Blessed are the Peace Makers." This was prepared jointly with the chairman of the Committee of the Council of Women for Home Missions. This program is published under the joint imprint of the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America, the Council of Women for Home Missions and the National Council of Federated Church Women. Also discussion and study courses on Peace with a bibliography have been prepared in an inexpensive mimeographed edition.

Your chairman has cooperated with the Missionary Education Movement in getting out a study text on Peace by Mrs. Florence Boeckel called: "The Turn Toward Peace." The plan was instigated by the women of the Southern Methodist Church who have taken an initial consignment, 4,000 copies, to supply their study classes. It is the hope of the Committee that other communions will make good use of this text. Leaders' helps are available.

There has been the closest cooperation with the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War both in preparation for the Sixth Annual Conference held in Washington, January 19-23, 1931, and also in the effort to create right public and senatorial opinion on the matter of America's membership in the World Court. Literature has been sent out from time to time on the World Court so that authentic and unbiased opinion might be formed on this question of such grave importance to America, another means of instrumenting the peace of the world.

Mrs. Catt was awarded the $5000 prize as the 1930 winner of the Pictorial Review achievement award for her contributions to the national life in the fields of women's suffrage and world peace. She distributed this prize money in various ways, giving $100 to each of twenty peace societies and organizations. Our Committee on International Relations of the Federation is the recipient of one of these $100 grants.

The Committee is cooperating most closely with the Committee of International Relations of the Council of Women for Home Missions and with the similar committee of the National Council of Federated Church Women. One conference has been held on the improvement of the character of moving pictures shown in the Orient, and there has also been cooperation with several conferences on racial relations.

The Committee has been much concerned because there has not been a truly representative group of church women attending the annual conferences on the Cause and Cure of War, nor has the Federation ever met more than one-half of its quota. There should be in attendance at these conferences Board members and other women of ability and leadership. The Committee commends this situation to the careful consideration of the affiliated Boards, and urges that they cooperate more effectively to these ends.

The following items regarding Peace activities have come from our affiliated Canadian societies:

The Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian and United Churches of Canada are corporate members of the League of Nation Society in Canada. The Women's Missionary Magazines carry information of the League's doings. The World Alliance for the promotion of International Friendship through the Churches has formed a branch in Canada, the United Church and the Presbyterian Church are among the communions connected with this branch. In Toronto and other Canadian cities, there is also the Inter-Church Committee of the League of Nations, a woman's organization comprising not only the women of the Protestant Churches, but of the Jewish and Catholic faiths. Frequent meetings are held during the year, when addresses are given to stimulate the attitude of Church women against aggressive war, and to bring before them what is being done by the women of other countries in the interests of peace.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada sends down to their Auxiliaries each year for their November meetings (Armistice month) a Program on Peace. A new organization has been formed to be known as the Canadian Universities League of Nations Society. It is proposed to form a branch of the society in each university in the Dominion. It will work in affiliation with the League of Nations Society of Canada. One of the greatest contributions this organization is making toward world friendship and world peace is being made in their work amongst the new Canadians as they are met at the Port of Entry through the Strangers' Department, and as they are helped to become Canadianized in this Church of All Nations now established in five centres. Here racial antagonisms are broken down and understanding, appreciation and friendship developed.

The Committee recommends:

1. That through the Committee on Schools and Conferences it be urged that consideration of Peace Education and International Relations be given a place on the programs of these conferences. This Committee would suggest forums or discussion hours, using the study book prepared by Mrs. Florence Boeckel called: "The Turn Toward Peace." The Committee urges Board members and local women of ability to prepare themselves to speak and lead forums on these questions.

2. That similar study or discussion be given in the local women’s missionary societies of our affiliated Boards. The Committee suggests the use of the Program: “Blessed are the Peace Makers.”

3. That as a Federation through our affiliated organizations we do everything possible to hasten the membership of the United States in the World Court.

Voted: That these recommendations be adopted.

Katharine V. Silverthorn, Chairman

Interdenominational Institutions on the Foreign Field

The Committee will strive to set before you some of the problems that Christian educational institutions are meeting, instead of telling about the individual schools and colleges.

In China, registration is still to the fore, and the requirements are becoming more difficult to meet. Not so much the educational ones, for on the whole Mission Boards sympathize with the desire to have buildings, equipment and faculty of a high grade. But the attitude toward religion (which means all religions, not only Christianity) is a real problem, an insistence that it is unfair to bias the immature mind of a child religiously, and therefore the edict forbidding in the primary and lower grades of the middle schools any religious teaching or worship at any time on the campus. It may be an elective in the upper grades and colleges, but there must be no urging or "enticing" of the pupils to attend. “Religion” may no longer be a department in a college curriculum, though there may be enough credits in other departments, such as philosophy, to amount to a major in religion. Students going abroad to study have been refused passports if they planned to study religion. It is to the honor of a graduate of one of our union institutions that she challenged the official's right to forbid her studying religion abroad, and by her firmness secured her passport with no conditions attached. The Church of Christ in China presented a dignified protest in the summer against this denial of religious liberty, and although it was positively rejected by the Minister of Education, the Church at its triennial meeting in November last voted to present another protest.

What attitude should we take towards the situation? Most, if not all, Boards believe that our schools shall be conducted only so long as they can be positively Christian. Some believe that if the teachers lead a compelling Christian life and make the voluntary services very worth while, there is nothing to fear. Another group feels so strongly that Christian teaching is so essential that they have closed the schools and in some instances destroyed the buildings in order that they may not be used for secular purposes. A third group believes that there must be compromise, that we should cooperate to the uttermost with the Chinese Church in striving to obtain from the Government real religious liberty. Even as this report is being written come the dramatic events of the baptism of the president, the transfer of the Minister of Education to a different position away from Nanking, the non-enforcement of the anti-religious laws, and the appointment of a new Minister of Education, said to be far less extreme in his attitude. Is this not another fulfillment of the promise "Call upon me in the day of trouble, and I will deliver thee?"

The Nanking Woman's Bible Training School, nearly destroyed in 1927, has had one of its buildings restored by the Government, and is functioning on a better basis than before. Last summer the Union Middle School for Girls in Changsha, Hunan, had its plant nearly wiped out by the Communists. But school opened in the fall in borrowed buildings at Wuchang, repairs are being pushed and they confidently hope to have the school in its own plant for the second semester.

In India the phase of the religious liberty problem is in the conscience clause, can the Government control religious teaching by virtue of making grants in aid to the schools, and has it the right to compel the missionaries not only to be neutral in the present political situation but to take sides with the Government?

There are so many such problems that one of the great missionary statesmen has recently said that religious liberty will probably be the most acute question before us for the next ten years. A small committee has begun to study the matter, and it has an increasing number of ramifications as they go into it. What is the minimum of religious liberty we may ask. Freedom of belief? Of Worship? Of propaganda? Meanwhile let us pray the prayer of the Chinese Church, broadening it to embrace the whole world: “for the Government, that vital religion may be given its proper place; that Christians may in a larger measure discover and manifest the radiance of their religion and make their Christian faith contagious.”

MARGARET E. HODGE, Chairman

Missionary Preparation

Since the missionary situation has changed in every field of Christian effort, and the point of view at home has altered, a different type of person, with a different sort of preparation is needed when Candidates are sought. This will involve a raising of standards for acceptance in many Boards, and with this an advance in study given at various centres of training.

A Committee of the Federation is by its nature in a position to study policies and methods. It is obvious that all Mission bodies face a crisis in thinking and action since much is being repudiated by churches abroad and at home.

It would seem to be the function of this Committee of the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America to suggest these changes and propose methods to meet them, referring such recommendations through the usual channels, to the several Boards for consideration. To this end the Committee is studying some of the new emphases together with changes in the type of worker, and in the required training, such as:

a. The approach to the rural woman in the light of her changing economic and social position.

b. Changes in the curriculum desired in Mission Schools in the various fields, due to the new requirements of women in their altered status in the community life abroad. These changes involve the training which Missionary Candidates ought to have before going to the field, and directly concern this Committee.

c. Changes in the relation of the Missionary to the Nationals in every field, which again involves training before going to the field, in an understanding of other cultures and ideals.
d. What can be done to "Christianize" newly developing social, economic, religious movements abroad, as far as they affect women?

e. The attitude of Missionaries to the non-religious reforms, which are progressive and enlightened, and affect missionary effort.

These and other questions like them presented in condensed form to missionary leaders will pave the way for suggestions in the line of Missionary Preparation.

Agnes C. L. Donohugh, Chairman

Missions and Governments

The year 1930 opened with two great conferences: The first to close the last war, (Second Reparations Conference—January 3, 1930); the second, to prevent future wars, (The 5-Pact Disarmament Conference—January 21, 1930), which seemed to be good omens for an adventure in better understanding. The close of the year 1930 finds us with a strange combination. The ratification of the Naval Pact, signed by President Hoover on July 21st, and the policy of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate in December, which may delay action on the World Court for a year. Untold complications may arise from such a situation. Does the Church have any responsibility in this matter? Should the women of our country voice their convictions?

Treaty. On April 3rd the Senate of the United States ratified the treaty revising the General Act of Berlin, and the General Act and Declaration of Brussels. This treaty secures important guarantees of religious liberty in Africa and the United States Government has now fully identified itself with international agreements for the welfare of the African peoples. It was signed by President Hoover April 11, 1930.

China. The American Legation at Peiping under date of May 24th telegraphed that in the opinion of the Minister, American citizens should be discouraged from going to Kuling the coming summer as danger from bandit operations in certain territories was very great. American citizens were advised to defer any visits to Kuling until the situation improved.

There are reasons for great optimism about China. The baptism of Chiang-Kai-Shek into the Christian faith at Shanghai October 12, 1930 by a Chinese pastor of the Southern Methodist Church came as a great surprise, though his wife and his mother-in-law, Madame Soong, have been devoted Christians for years. A number of other positions of great importance in the Chinese Government are held by outstanding Christians.
It is for those who know, to circulate these and other encouraging facts among those who question the expenditure of mission funds in China today.

Peace. At a banquet held in Washington, D. C., in connection with the meeting of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches in Washington in November thirty foreign diplomats were numbered among the six hundred in attendance. This fact indicates that the influence of Peace movements is making itself felt and that nations are beginning to say: “Let us have Peace.”

The Committee presented the following recommendations which were adopted by the Federation:

1. That the Federation go on record as opposing compulsory military training in the schools of any land.

2. That schools of missions be urged to emphasize law enforcement in their conferences in 1931.

3. That the Federation register a protest against the passing of the present bill, looking to the exclusion of the Filipinos.

Florence H. Darby, Chairman

Student Work

A European observer has described as provincial the American student thinking which apparently lacks world consciousness and the quality of interest in religious questions which may be seen among students in other lands.

At Detroit, the Christian World Education Committee of the Council of Christian Associations was commissioned to continue its work along the line of research and case study in Race, War and Industry, without specific reference to missions.

The Student Volunteer Movement which has been the traditional agency of missionary education for several student generations, was instructed by the Council in September to emphasize as its major function this year candidate recruiting, rather than broad educational objectives.

At the same time, the Boards of Foreign Missions of many of the denominations for various reasons have dropped special student workers from their staff, or have reorganized their work in such a way as to obscure “missionary education” contacts with students. It has been difficult to secure attendance at committee meetings owing perhaps to the fact that there are three student committees, (the Federated Student Committee and that of the Council and of the Federation), which overlap in... function and personnel. This has led to the consideration of some change in the function and policy of the Federation's Student Committee for the future.

A study of conferences made by the Council of Church Boards of Education indicates an increase in denominational and interdenominational conferences for young people and students. Formerly the Christian Association Student Conferences offered the principal opportunity for students to meet in the interest of religious work. Now it becomes evident that fully as many students attend conferences under church agencies which are not exclusively student conferences. In Lutheran, Episcopal and some other denominations student groups have met in their own conferences both nationally and regionally, with courses including missions as part of the program.

In some cases student workers represent both home and foreign missions, while in other cases secretaries combine student and young peoples' work.

The Committee commends to the consideration of the Federation two important factors in the prosecution of work among students:

a. The students who regard missions as a doubtful venture.

b. The secretaries who talk to students as if the questions were all settled, and that missions would go on as they always have without any changes.

In the light of these facts, the Committee recommends that the Student Work Committee be continued by the Federation, and requests consideration of some cooperative undertaking through the Federation, by the denominational Boards, looking to a more successful form of "missionary education" among students.

The Committee further requests the Federation to consider provisions for representation at such conferences of students as shall seem necessary to the best understanding of student life.

Katharine C. Foster, Chairman

Conferences and Schools of Missions

The Committee has functioned during the year with the special committee appointed to study the whole matter of Leadership Training. It has been difficult to differentiate between the activities of the two committees, though the work of the Committee on Leadership Training has been more specific and intensive.

Correspondence has been carried on with the chairmen of the 29 conferences and schools of missions, and suggestions have been offered for the building of better programs. A study of the reports of the 1930 schools shows that while for the most part they are not as large as in former years, better work is done. In addition the reports evidence:

That the demand for accredited courses is increasing.
That interest in the work of the Federation and Council is being created, while Christian Literature and the Union Colleges of the Orient are receiving more attention and some gifts.
That the Florida Schools lead in registration, in enthusiasm and in gifts to Christian Literature.
That local schools through years of operation are gaining strength and prestige.

The list of schools, with name and address of chairman, follows.

World Day of Prayer

This Committee carries the responsibility for one of the most thrilling projects in the history of Christian missions. The Day of Prayer is being observed in more than forty countries and in every state of the United States. Recent letters from Thibet, Manchuria, and the Fiji Islands report plans for its observance in those far-off lands.

The Federation of Women and Girls in Holland sent a gift of $10.00 as an expression of their appreciation of the privilege of fellowship with the women and girls of other countries.

Publicity has been given through denominational and interdenominational magazines. To these are added this year announcements through the Associated Press, and wide publicity through community newspapers, and a special release to young people's magazines and papers. An illustrated article will also appear in the "Christian Herald."

The program, "That Jesus May be Lifted Up," prepared by Miss Helen Kim of Korea, had an increase in sales in the United States of more than 55,000, while the circulation of "The Call," prepared by Miss Esperanza Abellera, of the Philippine Islands shows an increase of more than 100,000. The offering for 1930 totaled approximately $20,000, an increase of about $5,000 over 1929.

The program for 1931 prepared by Miss Kathleen W. MacArthur of Canada, on the theme, "Ye Shall be My Witnesse," and "The Call to Prayer," prepared by the Baroness van Boetzellaer van Dubbeldam, of Holland, together with all other supplies, were off the press the last of September.

About 1,400 copies of the program and "Call" in mimeographed form were sent by Mission Boards to other lands.

Miss Helen Tupper, an Indian young woman, teacher in Isabella Thoburn College, has prepared the program for 1932. It is already in hand, while "The Call" is being prepared by Mrs. Eliza de Pascoe, of Mexico, president of the National Union of Societies of Christian Women, an enthusiastic promoter of the Day of Prayer among her people for several years.

The women members of the International Missionary Council have been added to this Committee, their counsel during the past year has been most helpful.

Realizing that the time has come to make the preparation for the Day of Prayer as international as its observance, the Committee recommends:

1. That a world committee on the Day of Prayer be created as soon as possible, composed of representatives from countries participating in the World Day of Prayer. This Committee to be responsible for the preparation of "The Call to Prayer" and the program, the selection of authors, the sending of the "Call" and program to all countries, and the promotion of the Day world wide. As a step in that direction the Committee further recommends that the women members of the International Missionary Council be asked to discuss this matter together with the whole future development of the Day of Prayer, and make recommendations to the Day of Prayer Committee.

2. That the Federation and Council issue a joint leaflet on the four projects receiving special consideration on the Day of Prayer.

3. That Mission Boards be urged to keep before their constituencies the use of the Call to Prayer at the sunset of each Sabbath day, culminating in the Day of Prayer in 1932.

VOTED: That these recommendations be adopted.

MARY R. HOUGH, Chairman

Relationships Committee

This Committee has now been at work for one year, building a plan of cooperation whereby the Council of Women for Home Missions, the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions and the National Council of Federated Church Women may so coordinate their relationships as to tender the maximum of service to local interdenominational groups. Details of this plan were voted on by the Federation. Responsibility for the various interests of local interdenominational groups was allocated to the three organizations: Home Missions and Missionary Education for Home Missions to the Council of Women for Home Missions, Foreign Missions and Missionary Education for Foreign Missions to the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America, while responsibility for the promotion of spiritual Life and the Christian Home, Religious Education, Christian Citizenship, Legislation and Law Enforcement, Social Service, and the Drama and Motion Pictures was allocated to the National Council of Federated Church Women.

It was agreed that all three organizations had special interest in the World Day of Prayer, International Relations and Conferences and Schools of Missions, and for this reason it was determined that the responsibility for their promotion be carried by joint committees, with membership from each of the three organizations.

The presidents of the three organizations are to issue a statement concerning their plan of cooperation at an early date, and a joint committee has been appointed to prepare a unified program embracing the interests of the three organizations.

The Federation having passed the detailed rulings by which these organizations shall co-operate through the Relationships Committee it was VOTED: That power be given to the Administrative Committee for the approval of Recommendations of the Relationships Committee which do not involve fundamental changes in policies or relationships.

At the close of the morning session, Mrs. Induk Kim of Korea spoke to the Federation of her experiences both in Korea and here in America as a student in American colleges and as a Student Volunteer Secretary.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read and the officers for the coming year duly elected. Their names appear in the front of the year book.

Miss Hodge recalled the loss of the Federation during the year in the home going of: Miss Alice M. Kyle, Mrs. Joseph M. West, Mrs. William Fraser McDowell, and Miss Helen Calder offered a prayer of thanksgiving for the work and inspiration of these friends during years past.

The closing feature of the Federation program was a round table on candidate matters, participated in by a candidate, a candidate secretary, a missionary, a national, a member of the Candidate Committee, an educator and an expert, thus calling the attention of Board members to the changes on the field which requires more intensive training of candidates, and more careful selection of them, also bringing out a number of weak spots in the relation of Boards to missionaries.

After a devotional service, led by Miss Grace Manley of China, the Federation meeting was adjourned.

Constitution and By-Laws of the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America

CONSTITUTION

I. Name

This organization shall be called the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America.

II. Object

The object of this organization shall be to promote greater efficiency in the work of the Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions, to stimulate united prayer and study, to secure a fuller development of resources and a truer conception of the scope and purpose of woman's work for missions.

III. Meetings

The Federation shall hold annual meetings for conference and the transaction of business, preferably in January, in or near New York City. The meeting may be held elsewhere once in three or four years, if so ordered.

IV. Membership

1. Any Woman's Foreign Mission Board of an evangelical church agreeing to cooperate in the purpose and work of the organization and paying an annual fee based upon its annual income may belong to the Federation.

2. The Woman's Foreign Mission Boards of each denomination shall be related to the Federation as one body.

3. Each Board, or group of Boards, representing a denominational body, whose annual income for foreign missions is $250,000 or more, may send to the meetings of the Federation four officers and ten other accredited delegates.

4. Each Board, or group of Boards, representing a denominational body, whose annual income for foreign missions is $100,000 or more, but less than $250,000 may send four officers and five other accredited delegates.

5. Each Board whose annual income for foreign missions is $25,000 or more, but less than $100,000, may send three officers and two other accredited delegates.

6. Each Board whose annual income for foreign missions is less than $25,000 may send two accredited delegates.
3. The Woman's Union Missionary Society and the Foreign Department of the Y. W. C. A. National Board shall bear the same relation to the Federation as do the denominational Boards.

The Student Volunteer Movement shall be entitled to two delegates.

4. Each Board belonging to the Federation shall appoint one woman, preferably an officer, who shall be the means of communication between the Executive committee and her Board. She shall be known as the "Federation Representative."

V. Officers

The officers of the Federation shall be a president, one or more vice-presidents, a secretary, and a treasurer. There may also be an assistant secretary and an assistant treasurer. Vacancies occurring ad interim may be filled by the Executive Committee.

These officers and the chairmen of Standing Committees shall be elected at the annual meeting. The president shall not be eligible to office more than three consecutive years.

VI. Voting

1. Officers of the Federation, Chairman of Standing Committees, Federation representatives and accredited delegates shall be entitled to vote at the meetings of the Federation.

2. Officers of the Federation, Chairman of Standing Committees and Federation representatives shall be entitled to vote at the meetings of the Executive Committee.

VII. Committees

There shall be an Executive Committee, an Administrative Committee, such Standing Committees for the Home Base and for the Foreign Field, such Joint Standing Committees with affiliated organizations and such Special Committees as may be deemed necessary.

VIII. Amendments

This constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote at any annual meeting. No change which was not submitted to the previous annual meeting shall be voted on.

BY-LAWS

1. There shall be the following Committees:
   1. Executive Committee.
   2. Standing Committees:
      1. FOR THE HOME BASE.
         (1) Administrative Committee.
         (2) Central Committee—Publications and Literature.
         (3) Constitution and By-Laws.
         (4) Foreign Students in America.
         (5) Home Base Cultivation.

         (7) International Relations.
         (8) Missionary Preparation.
         (9) Missions and Governments.
         (10) Student Work.
         (11) Nominations.
2. For the Foreign Field.
   (1) Christian Literature for Women and Children in Mission Fields.
   (2) Interdenominational Institutions on the Foreign Field.

   (1) Conferences and Schools of Missions.
   (2) World Day of Prayer.

4. The Following Special Committees:
   (1) Annual Report.
   (2) Arrangements for Annual Meeting.
   (3) Bulletin.
   (4) Cooperation with the Foreign Missions Conference.
   (5) International Justice and Good Will.

5. Such Other Committees as the Federation shall from Time to Time Approve on the Recommendation of the Executive Committee.

II. Membership and Duties of the Committees of the Federation:

1. The Executive Committee.
   (1) The Officers of the Federation, Chairmen of Standing Committees, Federation Representatives of denominational Boards and of cooperating organizations shall constitute the Executive Committee. Five members representing four constituent Boards shall constitute a quorum.
   (2) Its duty shall be to have oversight of the work of the Federation, to suggest plans for the extension of interdenominational work, and to arrange for auditing the books of the treasurer. It shall appoint the members of all Standing Committees on recommendation of the chairmen, except the Administrative Committee, such Special Committees not already provided for as may be deemed necessary ad interim. It shall have full authority to take whatever action may be necessary in emergencies, provided no financial obligation shall be incurred beyond that for which provision is made, and to fill all vacancies occurring during the year with the exception of committees otherwise provided for.
   (3) The Executive Committee may appoint an Executive Secretary on recommendation of the Administrative Committee. It may appoint other helpers necessary to carry on the work of the Federation, provided no financial obligation be incurred beyond that for which provision is made.

2. Standing Committees.
   Each Standing Committee shall be composed of not less than three nor more than nine members.
   Any Standing Committee, except the Administrative Committee, may add to its number with the approval of the Executive Committee such cooperating members as may be deemed necessary for its successful work. These cooperating members shall be allowed to vote.
1. For the Home Base.

(1) Administrative Committee.
This Committee shall be nominated by the Nominating Committee. The president of the Federation shall be its chairman. It shall consist of seven members of the Executive Committee representing not less than four constituent Boards. Its duty shall be to conduct the business of the Federation during the intervals between the meetings of the Executive Committee. It shall meet at the call of the chairman.

(2) Central Committee—Publications and Literature.
The Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions, as at present composed of seven members, elected by seven denominational Boards, shall constitute the Committee on Publications and Literature. The Executive Secretary of the Federation shall also be a member of the Committee on Publications and Literature. This Committee shall plan as far as possible two years in advance for the foreign mission textbooks and literature relating to them. These plans shall be presented for approval at the annual meeting of the Federation. It shall give a report of the monies received and disbursed by the Committee and any possible surplus. The books of this Committee shall be audited annually by an auditor nominated by the Committee and approved by the Federation. It shall have power to act in emergencies without concurrence of the Federation, where such emergencies occur in its work as the Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions. If requested by the Executive Committee of the Federation it shall prepare literature of women's societies and affiliated organizations.

(3) Constitution and By-Laws.
Its duty shall be to prepare amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws in accordance with actions taken by the Federation.

(4) Foreign Students in America.
Its duty shall be to nurture the religious life of foreign students in America, and to aid the church in ministering to their needs. The work shall be done through committees in student centers and cities where there are large numbers of foreign students.

(5) Home Base Cultivation.
Its duty shall be to secure and disseminate information concerning improved methods of work among women, young people and children, to develop plans for increasing their interest in foreign missions and methods by which information may be imparted through lecture courses, institutes, conferences, normal study classes, etc.

(6) Industrial Missions' Products.
Its duty shall be to act as a world cooperative enterprise for the exchange of ideas on the subject. It shall be a bureau of information regarding goods made in our Industrial Missions. It shall study recent findings of industrial commissions and develop education and publicity among the Churches and Missions.

(7) International Relations.
Its duty shall be to study and promote international friendship and intelligent and sympathetic understanding in world relationships and to cooperate with similar organizations in America and abroad for this end.

(8) Missionary Preparation.
Its duty shall be to study and recommend methods of securing the most adequate kind and quality of preparation for those who are training for foreign missionary service.

(9) Missions and Governments.
Its duty shall be to study, in cooperation with a similar committee of the Foreign Missions Conference, questions relative to this subject; such as negotiations with governments, consideration of questions arising on the mission field between the missions of different Boards, as they may be referred to it, proposals and suggestions in regard to unoccupied fields, and original action in cases requiring immediate attention and not involving questions of policy regarding which there might be essential differences of opinion.

(10) Student Work.
Its duty shall be to ascertain the present status of missionary work in the various schools and colleges, to secure through student departments of the Boards, as far as practicable, the regular presentation of foreign missions and systematic study, and to endeavor to connect the students with their denominational programs. It shall cooperate with other Committees working along similar lines.

(11) Nominations.
It shall be composed of three members representing three different constituent Boards, one of whom shall be elected each year. Its duty shall be to nominate the officers of the Federation, the members of the Administrative Committee and the chairmen of Standing and Special Committees. It shall nominate jointly with the cooperating organizations the chairmen and members of joint Standing Committees. It shall report to the Executive Committee prior to the annual meeting of the Federation.
2. FOR THE FOREIGN FIELD.

   (1) Christian Literature for Women and Children in Mission Fields.
       Its duty shall be to supervise work of providing such Christian literature for women and children in mission fields as is of interdenominational interest, to secure funds for the same, to make recommendations for publications, translations, editors, etc.

   (2) Interdenominational Institutions on the Foreign Field.
       Its duty shall be to make and keep on file a list of Interdenominational Institutions on the Foreign Field and to present information concerning these Institutions. It shall recommend to the Executive Committee the Institutions for which appeals shall be made on the World Day of Prayer, and shall be responsible for the preparation of the leaflet to be used in making this appeal.

3. JOINT STANDING COMMITTEES.

   (1) Conferences and Schools of Missions.
       Its duty shall be to cooperate in the work of the Schools affiliated with the Federation by suggesting leaders for the various activities and by assisting in every way possible in advancing the interest of the Schools. Each School, however, shall be independent in the management of its meetings and in the provision for its programs. The Committee shall encourage the establishment of interdenominational Schools in such strategic centers as shall be approved by the Federation. It shall procure and keep on file in the office of the Federation a record of the organization and affiliation of each School of Missions. It shall cooperate with other Committees working on similar lines.

   (2) World Day of Prayer.
       Its duty shall be to cooperate with a similar committee of the Council of Women for Home Missions and with other cooperating bodies to plan for the observance of this day, and to prepare the material.

III. Meetings.

1. The Executive Committee shall meet at least once a year in connection with the Annual Meeting of the Federation. Meetings may be called in the interim by the President and Secretary, or on request of three members of the Federation representing at least two denominations. The Recording Secretary shall notify the Federation Representatives of all actions taken.

2. When it is impossible for a Standing or a Special Committee to transact business by correspondence and a meeting is necessary, such a meeting may be called by the Chairman or upon the request of two members of the Committee, with the approval of the President of the Federation.

IV. Finances.

1. Each Board, or group of Boards, representing a denominational body belonging to the Federation shall contribute to the Budget of the Federation by the annual payment of a sum based on its annual income.

   (1) Each Board, or group of Boards, representing a denominational body, whose annual income for Foreign Missions is $500,000 or more shall pay not less than $200.

   (2) Each Board, or group of Boards, representing a denominational body, whose annual income for Foreign Missions is $250,000 or more shall pay not less than $125.

   (3) Each Board, or group of Boards, representing a denominational body, whose annual income for Foreign Missions is $100,000 or more, but less than $250,000 shall pay not less than $75.

   (4) Each Board whose annual income for Foreign Missions is less than $25,000 shall pay not less than $10.

2. The budget shall include in addition to regular items the expenses to the annual meeting of the president, or in her absence those of one vice-president; the secretary and the treasurer; the expenses of the above-mentioned officers and of the chairmen of Standing Committees attending ad interim meetings of the Executive Committee; an allowance not to exceed $50 annually for each Standing Committee. All bills paid by the treasurer shall be countersigned by the president of the Federation, or by one of the vice-presidents appointed to act for the President.

   The budget shall be approved by the Executive Committee.

3. Expenses of delegates attending meetings of the Federation shall be borne by their respective Boards or local Federations, or by delegates themselves.

4. Changes in policy must be approved by the Boards.

V. These By-Laws may be amended by two-thirds vote at any annual meeting of the Federation provided notice has been given to the Executive Committee thirty days before the annual meeting.
