Findings and Recommendations of the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America

Theme: The World Mission of Christianity

This year for the first time the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America held a joint session with the Foreign Missions Conference of North America. This was considered desirable because the theme both of these bodies were to discuss at their annual meetings was, The World Mission of Christianity as developed at the Jerusalem meeting of the International Missionary Council. Because of the very real sense of partnership which resulted and the increased number of women delegates sharing in the immeasurable benefits and inspiration of the program the Federation is glad to make the message of this particular joint session available to as many members of our Boards as possible.

The Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America and the Foreign Missions Conference, moved by the strong interpretations of the International Missionary Council meeting held at Jerusalem, and feeling that the Mount of Olives experience realized last Spring by the delegates of 51 nations should become the experience of the Church itself, urge the Mission Boards to use every resource to reach the people of our churches with the message of Jerusalem. We believe that this serious meeting of 240 missionary leaders drawn from all over the world was indeed providential for the present moment of change, confusion and anxiety; that the profound implications of this creative gathering so challenge all our intellectual and spiritual resources as to effect a psychological change of attitude on the part of many; that we must take every advantage of the message and spiritual experience of Jerusalem and press with all there is within us for a new crusade of missionary teaching here at home.

A careful study of the findings and recommendations of this joint meeting, together with the special problems facing the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions, have led to the following recommendations:

1. That the Boards channel down to the last member the necessity of a vigorous effort for the distribution and use of our study books—From Jerusalem to Jerusalem, by Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery for women and girls; Going to Jerusalem, by Margaret Applegarth for Juniors; and Little Lord Jesus, by Lucy W. Peabody, for very little children.
2. That the reports of the Jerusalem meeting, together with the interpretive book, Roads to the City of God, by Basil Matthews, and other publications prepared by the International Missionary Council and the Missionary Education Movement be widely circulated and used in our churches at this critical time when we are faced with problems of lessened interest and lowered receipts.

3. That Summer and Winter Schools of Missions, Institutes, Conferences and local churches be urged to use these valuable books and stress in their programs and classes the important findings and conclusions of the Jerusalem meeting.

4. That since the Jerusalem Findings present Missions from the standpoint of vital needs and readjustments of the present day, every effort be made to get this newer thinking before the youth of our churches that they may find their place in the challenging opportunities for service confronting every Board. The need of today is for only the very best equipped candidates, intellectually and spiritually, that our colleges and churches can produce.

5. That we urge the Boards and officers of all our local churches in view of the interest the youth of the country is taking in world problems, the enthusiasm brought to the solution of these problems and the courage with which plans are carried out, to place more young people on Boards and other agencies of the Church and to give them definite responsibilities in these organizations.

6. That the Boards study their own work and problems in the light of the chief emphases of the Jerusalem meeting—the Message and its Implications.

THE MISSIONARY ENTERPRISE IN RELATION TO WORLD PEACE

An impressive moment at our annual meeting in Detroit came when the speaker paused to permit the secretary to announce that at this time the President of the United States was affixing his signature to the Kellogg Pact. The realization that "the Pact presents a Program rather than a completed fact" brought before the delegates the necessity of the acceptance of peace time methods in international relations and the need of an aggressive program of education for peace.

Secretary Kellogg has said: "The Pact can be made effective if it continues to be backed by the public opinion of all nations. I can not believe that the act of practically every nation in the world, not swayed by sudden impulse, but deliberately entering into a treaty solemnly pledging the renunciation of war, and backed by the almost unanimous opinion of the world, can be mere gesture. After all, great reforms can only be brought about when backed by public opinion. The only enforcement behind any treaty is the public opinion of the people."

Professor Shotwell holds that the "Pact of Paris reaches far into the realm of morals, as well as that of politics. This Pact, if effectively applied, would realize one-half the message of Jesus." The responsibility of Christians is not alone to take the message of salvation to individuals, but to Christianize all human relations. Peace is an adventure of faith. We must demobilize the mind of the world for war—and as definitely mobilize it for peace.

In view of this challenge we recommend:

1. That the Boards and all church organizations create an intelligent and wide spread public opinion "which knows what the Pact really means and is determined that our government shall never dishonor its signature."

2. That the Boards further urge upon their constituencies a definite program of education to make this Pact effective in its noble purpose, in order to develop a general and genuine Will to Peace.

3. That the Boards should ceaselessly protest against the militarization of youth in our schools and colleges and by every means help to create a generation around the world which will learn "War no More," but will learn reliance on justice, love and mutual respect as a basis of a new world order.

4. That we urge the training of our boys and girls in every church school, mission band, daily vacation Bible school and every other group of children to understand the need and to work for permanent world friendship; and we further urge the interpretation to them of the meaning of the Pact to outlaw war.

5. That the following methods for education for peace and for the enforcement of the Pact be used:

   a. Discussion and study groups in Churches, Bible Classes and groups of women, and in young people's organizations.

   b. Program meetings.

   c. Individual presentation.
THE MISSIONARY ENTERPRISE IN RELATION TO RACE RELATIONS

All Christian forces seeking the establishment among all mankind of the Kingdom of God, are bound to work with all their power to remove race prejudice and adverse conditions due to it, to preserve the rights of peoples, and to establish educational, religious, and other facilities designed to enable all alike to enjoy equality of social, political, and economic opportunity. In the presentation of Interracial Relations emphasis should rest upon the thought that race prejudice is subtle, and a sincere heart-searching reveals some trace of it in each one of us. Christians bear the responsibility of interpreting the various races to our churches. Responsibility for prejudiced discrimination against any race rests solely upon us as individuals and not upon the Senate of our country. Everyone must bear some blame. We must not fail to break down these unrighteous barriers of prejudice. We should use our influence to see that naturalization laws are based on justice; on the character and ability of individuals, not on race or color.

We therefore recommend:

1. That Christians use their influence to secure the revision of the exclusion clause in our present immigration laws of the United States whereby Chinese, Japanese and Indians would be placed under the Quota Law.
2. That we study carefully and apply the Findings of the Jerusalem meeting on this question.

THE MISSIONARY ENTERPRISE IN RELATION TO INDUSTRIALISM

The subject of Industrial Relations was recognized at Jerusalem as one of major importance to all Mission Boards in this new day of changing emphasis. We were again challenged by the splendid position taken by the National Christian Conference in China and other Oriental nations when they faced and accepted this responsibility to conserve human values in the rapid growth of industrialism throughout their countries. The Jerusalem meeting was impressed with facts presented by Nationals and Missionaries with regard to the problems of the investment of capital in undeveloped areas and the necessity of making sure that the interests and progress of the indigenous peoples are preserved. There is a distinct need for a program of discussion to enlighten the Christian public, especially the church membership at the Home Base as to:
a. The far reaching social changes due to the impact of modern industrialism in the Orient and Africa, especially as it affects human life and the group consciousness of the workers.
b. The deplorable conditions, wages and hours under which women and youth are working.
c. The need of studying and translating into action the pronouncements of our church bodies in relation to the great industrial problems.

We therefore recommend:

1. That we study the effects of industrial conditions on international relations.

2. That Mission industry be carried on not for profit but to serve human needs, to improve living conditions and to develop Christian life.

THE WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

It is with deep gratitude that we recognize the growing power inherent in our World Day of Prayer. A very decided expansion of this prayer fellowship has come during the past year. The circle of prayer has extended literally around the world. We have learned the great lesson of praying with rather than for our sisters of other races and nations, thus enriching our experience and releasing the power which must be ours if we are to accomplish the tasks entrusted to us.

We therefore recommend:

1. That during the coming year we continue to develop our plans for this world wide fellowship of prayer, endeavoring to draw into its circle those who have as yet not fully joined in the effort.

2. That we give continued cooperation to the Committee on Christian Literature for Women and Children in non-Christian lands, and also to the Committees carrying responsibility for Union Institutions in Foreign Fields, and by our increasing support make possible for these great enterprises adequate provision for their increasing obligations.

THE CHRISTIAN MESSAGE IN RELATION TO INDIVIDUAL CHRISTIANS

In the light of the recommendations coming from the Jerusalem meeting we unite with the International Missionary Council in earnestly calling Christians everywhere to a new and deeper repentance, to a fresh reliance upon prayer and to an unmeasured offering of joyful, sacrificial service.
Far more important to the Foreign Mission enterprise than methods of education and plans for promotion of interest; far more important than appeals to others for money, for service or for life enlistment would be the influence of a great host of Christians including missionary administrators and Board members whose lives in action constantly and increasingly reveal the transforming power and passion of Jesus Christ. We believe that the compelling power of such a force as this would inevitably carry conviction into the hearts of many who have not been touched deeply as yet by the Missionary spirit.

We believe that the Missionary motive will permeate our churches and our civilization only as it more completely permeates the lives of those who are responsible for the conduct of Missionary work.

Therefore let us all pray with the Christians of the world "For the Completion of Our Own Conversion—For the removal of all hindrances in our own lives to the manifestation of God's redeeming love and power."

Annual Survey

Mrs. William Edgar Geil, President

Since the meetings of the Federation have had to be syncopated into one short session this year because of our keen desire to participate in the meetings of the Foreign Missions Conference, my annual survey must include practically all the activities of the Federation during the past year. So I have culled from the various reports salient features which I give to you as messages from all of the Standing Committees.

The By-Laws Committee will speak for itself later in the necessary business of revision. Yet this very revision shows the growth of the Federation, since our By-Laws often have to be revised in order to keep pace with our development and increase in cooperation.

Part of Central Committee's report is really a parcel post package, since here are the two new books for 1929-30: Mrs. Montgomery's From Jerusalem to Jerusalem and Miss Margaret Applegarth's Going to Jerusalem—most timely themes. Back of these two books lies a vast amount of labor both on the part of the Committee and the authors.

There are several minor notes in the report for the past year: "Everyland," to the regret of all, has had to be discontinued, because of the lack of financial support from the Boards. The sales of Miss Mackenzie's book have fallen off perceptibly. But if everyone here promotes a Mission Study Class on "Friends of Africa" after returning home, the sales will be greatly increased.
The statement most deeply to be regretted is that Mrs. Peabody, a charter member of the Central Committee since its origin in 1900 and its chairman for 27 of the 29 years, feels that she must give up the chairmanship of the Committee. The Federation wishes to express its deep appreciation of Mrs. Peabody's wonderful service for nearly a generation. She will still continue her valuable assistance as a vice-president and the Committee is to be congratulated upon having secured the efficient services of Miss Gertrude Schultz as its new chairman.

The news from the Christian Literature Committee is most encouraging. Despite difficulties in China, more than 13,000,000 pages of "Happy Childhood" have been printed and distributed. Think of what this good reading means in the life of young China. Two vernacular editions of the "Treasure Chest" have been added to the distribution of this magazine in India. A new magazine entitled Muhit, meaning Environment, is now being published for Moslem young people. Through the generous gift of Mrs. Pohlman of Philadelphia the book, "Brave Adventurers," has been published in Japanese as a memorial to its author, our own beloved Mrs. Cronk.

It is with deep regret that we learn of the resignation of Miss Alice M. Kyle from the chairmanship of this Committee. She has devoted many years of splendid service to the cause of Christian Literature in other lands. The Committee is fortunate, however, to have secured as its new chairman Mrs. Helen Barrett Montgomery, under whose leadership increased success is assured.

The message from the Committee on Conferences and Schools of Missions is tinged with sadness because of the recent death of its vice-chairman, Mary Peacock. Her victorious spirit triumphing over physical weakness permeated the Wilson College Conference last summer, and made it a rich spiritual experience for everyone who was present.

The Northfield Conference celebrated its 25th anniversary with an historical pageant. Northfield ever seems the gracious Mother of all the other Summer Conferences.

At the beginning of last year, the two Committees on Conferences and Schools of Missions merged into a joint committee with one chairman and a personnel representing both the Council and the Federation, another step forward in cooperation. Mrs. Philip M. Rossman assumed the chairmanship for just one year.

The Day of Prayer Committee is fast promoting a World Day of Prayer. Contacts have been made with Christian women all over the world, and the Day of Prayer is being observed in ever widening circles.

Only a few days ago I received a voluminous letter from Frau Von Tilting of Germany written in German expressing great interest in the project, although regretting that it would take some time for the women of Germany to cooperate fully; while a short time ago a letter came from Budapest written, fortunately, in English, expressing great interest and a desire to cooperate in observing the World Day of Prayer. The program for 1930 is being prepared by Helen Kim of Korea, so by such evolutionary progress the women of the Orient will not only be praying with the rest of us, but will be guiding our thoughts in prayer.

Our two Student Committees are functioning well under the two new chairmen, Mrs. Katherine Foster of the Student Committee, and Mrs. Leslie E. Swain of the Foreign Student Committee. The latter's aim is to promote hospitality to foreign students in America, and student centers which are the natural avenues of approach are being cultivated by our committee.

Among the many lines of the Student Committee's activities, there is time to mention only two outstanding ones. They have been carrying on an interesting investigation of curriculum courses on the subject of Missions in the different Colleges. The results of this investigation should prove useful to our Foreign Mission Boards.

A series of local Institutes for Christian World Education have been carried on during the past year in which our Student Committee has cooperated.

It is a matter of deep regret that the Home Base Cultivation Committee is to lose its efficient chairman, Mrs. Charles Hardie, this year, but we rejoice that Mrs. Hardie will still remain a vice-president of the Federation.

The Committee suffered a deep loss also in the death of Mrs. Richard Hurst, who was well fitted to be the Secretary of Work for children because of her great love for them.

The usual lines of educational activity have been followed, and one item of special interest is that the number of week-end Missionary Conferences increased to 27 last year.

Miss Hodge gives us interesting news of our Interdenominational Institutions across the seas. The most significant item of all is, perhaps, the fact that Ginling College now has a Chinese woman as president. How thankful we should be that there are Christian Chinese women capable of carrying on such great responsibilities.

Another interesting item of news is that in Chengtu, a Chinese city in the far interior, coeducation has been carried on so successfully that now the girls are carrying off many of the scholarship prizes, another straw to indicate the swiftly increasing current of education for women the world around.

Our comparatively new Committee on International Friendship has carried on vigorous activity in the interests of Peace. They have cooperated with the Cause and Cure of War Committee in promoting State Conferences in the interest of the Kellogg Multilateral Treaty. These meetings have been held in 41 out of the 48 States, and missionary women have cooperated in every one of them.

It was my great privilege to aid in setting up two such Conferences in Pennsylvania—one in Philadelphia, the other in Pittsburgh—both highly successful in numbers and enthusiasm.

Through the interest stimulated by all these Conferences, more than 12,000 resolutions endorsing the Peace Pact have been passed by all kinds of organizations. It is a special cause of rejoicing that our church missionary societies have passed more such resolutions than any other type of organization.

At the request of the Committee on International Friendship your President wrote letters to President Coolidge, Secretary Kellogg, and Senator Borah, congratulating them upon the culmination of the Pact and urging its early ratification by the Senate. Most courteous replies have been received in which appreciation of our interest as a Federation was expressed.

A letter was sent also to Honorable Charles Evans Hughes expressing our great satisfaction over his election by the League of Nations as a Judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice. A very cordial note of appreciation has been received from Mr. Hughes himself.

The most important event in the work of the Interdenominational Industrial Committee was its participation in the Exposition of Women's Arts and Industries held in New York last October. It afforded a splendid opportunity to carry information and inspiration concerning our Industrial work in World Missions to the thousands attending the Exposition.

The outstanding event in the activities of our Law Enforcement and Legislation Committee was its cooperation with the National Law Enforcement Committee in the two meetings held in connection with the National Political Conventions, the one in Kansas City, the other at Houston.

The influence of the women was unmistakably felt both at those meetings and certainly later during the election. To quote Mrs. Peabody: "The election of Mr. Hoover is the crowning achievement of the enfranchised women of America."

The two bills of greatest interest to the Legislative phase of our committee work are of course The Peace Pact and the Navy Bill. The progress of these two bills is being followed with greatest interest and it is hoped that the mass of our resolutions endorsing the Peace Pact may have a share in the impact of public opinion favoring it.

Doubtless an important new step undertaken by the Federation during the past year was that of helping to organize the National Commission of Protestant Church Women at Buffalo last June. As probably all of you know this new Commission represents a cooperative movement between the Council, the Federation and the local Federated groups.

Its organization made necessary the dissolution of our former joint committee of Women’s Church and Missionary Federations. Miss Kerschner, the retiring chairman, writes concerning the dissolution of this committee as follows: “The relationships which have been established with the various interdenominational groups and the ties of friendship between the members of the committee, which have acted as a strengthening force, have been exceedingly pleasant. It is with a feeling of regret that we write ‘Finis’ to the specific work of this committee. We commend to the new Commission of Protestant Church Women the careful and prayerful nurturing of these Interdenominational Groups so that their interest in the work of the Federation may ever be increased.”

Here, then, a few of the creative activities of our Federation have been roughly sketched through the work our Standing Committees, a service world-wide in scope.

One other activity, our campaign for special gifts, should be stressed, because through it the finances of the Federation are being put upon a stronger basis. Already a thousand dollars has been added to our income, an addition greatly needed because of our increased opportunities and responsibilities.

But far more important than finances are the prayer and consecrated leadership which have always been the sources of the Federation’s vitality and progress. These will go steadily forward through the leadership of the new Executive officers and chairmen of Standing Committees.

In closing, I wish to express my appreciation of the privilege of serving the Federation for the past two years. It has been a great stimulus to me.
I bespeak for my successor the same hearty and loyal cooperation which you have given me in large measure.

I like to think that the roots of the word “Federation” lie deep in that old Latin word “fides”—faith—for it is our faith in God and in each other that gives us inspiration and courage for the future of the Federation.

Let us take as our guiding thought for the service of 1929 a quotation found in one of Mary Peacock’s Bibles, “God is equal to making us equal to anything that He calls upon us to do.”
The gracious lady whom we delight to honor today began her life as a Missionary bride in India, in the Madras Presidency, later returning, a widow with two small children.

For some years she served as Secretary of her own Mission Board, leaving that position to make another Christian home.

In 1911 she became the great leader of the Jubilee of Foreign Mission Boards, when like a whisper of God, a wave of Missionary enthusiasm swept over the country from coast to coast—because of this woman's influence, so magnetic and direct.

For nearly thirty years the Chairman of the Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions, all the girls and women in our Mission Study Classes are rising up to call her blessed.

As a lover of little children she is delightfully revealed in that inimitable magazine for girls and boys, "Everyland," and also in the series of fascinating booklets for little children.

It is impossible to do justice in a few words to this charming personality, the boundless vision, indomitable spirit of good will and sympathy, absolute consecration and keen sense of humor possessed by that great soul and our friend whom we love to call "dear Mrs. Peabody."

She walks the road of the Loving Heart, hand in hand with the Lord Jesus, whom she delights to serve in all the ways a woman of her versatile gifts could imagine possible, and indeed she often accomplishes what the world deems impossible.

Like one of God's serving angels, she is "Waiting—to do her Master's heavenly embassies, Quicker than thought His high commands to read.

Swifter than light to execute them speed."

The buildings in China, India and Japan known as the Women's Union Christian Colleges of the Orient, the suggestion of which seemed like the "baseless fabric of a dream," are today the lasting proof of her vision, courage and steadfast purpose.
Through the National Committee on Law Enforcement, her victorious campaign in the political arena seems like another dream come true.

It was through her persistent efforts that the Women's Boards of Foreign Missions learned to cooperate in the Triennial Conferences which finally developed into this Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America.

We thank God for Mrs. Peabody, and earnestly pray that her life may be spared for many years in His service.

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. Ernest A. Evans
Mrs. Howard Wayne Smith
Mrs. DeWitt Knox, Chairman Committee.

MARY CRAIG PEACOCK

We as members of the Federation render unto God our thanks for Mary Craig Peacock our friend and fellow worker who has been called to our Father's house and is alive for evermore. For her abundant life, her spirit filled personality; for her faith in God and for her life of joyous service we record our deep gratitude. With trust in God we accept in faith and love the challenge that her going brings to us to carry forward the work that she began and so nobly carried.

As we abide in Him here and as she abides in Him there, we shall be together, and the work that has been started shall go on to God's own standard of completeness. For her to live was Christ and to die is gain.

Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions

Annual Report

MRS. HENRY W. PEABODY

The Central Committee was organized in 1900, immediately following the Ecumenical Conference, Miss Abby B. Child, secretary of the Woman's Board of the Congregational Church had discussed the plan with many of the Board leaders.

The first group included five Boards: Congregationalist, Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Baptist, and Protestant Episcopal, the following women representing these societies: Miss Abby B. Child, Mrs. J. T. Gracey, Ellen C. Parsons, Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, Mrs. A. T. Twing; Miss Clementina Butler was appointed secretary and treasurer. Miss Child served as chairman until her death two years later, since which time the present chairman has served and will complete her twenty-nine years of service in May.

Later the Dutch Reformed Board and the Lutheran were added, making seven on the Committee.

The Committee has issued more than four million books which have been studied by the women and children of the churches.

The Summer Schools of Foreign Missions were organized with the hope of training teachers and leaders who would be able, through our text books, to make mission study and programs more effective and attractive in the churches. There has been steady growth through the years. Certain books have had great popularity and some have been standardized for permanent use.

The Committee has felt the special guidance of God through all these years. In several instances it has seemed remarkable that the book prepared a year or more before has come at a moment when it was especially needed.

The relations of the Committee have been delightful since many have served many years and have come into intimate friendship in this service.

The Central Committee was the first interdenominational Committee for women. From it came not only the Summer Schools but the Missionary Jubilee of 1910-1911, which was followed by the organization of the Federation of Woman's Foreign Mission Boards.

The report for the present year is as follows:

The sale of Miss Mackenzie’s book, Friends of Africa, has not reached the usual number. Our book last year, A Straight Way Toward Tomorrow, showed a falling off. This year we have, up to date, sold 70,000 of Miss Mackenzie’s book. We have often sold 100,000 before January 1st. We still hope for sales of this most valuable and important work and ask the Boards to recommend it.

Of the Junior book, Camp Fires on the Congo, we have sold of the edition of 25,000, 17,000. The sales of both books will continue, we trust.

The reason for this falling off is not due to any unpopularity of the books. Miss Leavis gives as the reason the following:

“The Central Committee was organized to provide each year a textbook for women and young women of all denominations. Later the Committee added a book for the Junior age. After the first year or two of United Study, the need of leaders in the churches to present these books was recognized, and Summer Schools for Women’s Foreign Missionary Societies were established. The purpose of these Schools was to train leaders to teach the Committee books in the churches. I think we need to restate this definite purpose to the new Chairmen of Summer Schools for Women’s Foreign Missionary Societies and stress the wisdom for using the book that is prepared for them. Other Summer Conferences teach their own books, we should do the same.

“The first and greatest trouble comes with the Summer Schools. They have lost the original idea for what they came into existence to accomplish. Original leaders have dropped out and the new leaders have come in at a time when there is such a multiplicity of textbooks that they are pardonably confused. They have not been told the real reason for the existence of their schools, and select the book that they hear most about, and use that one for their chief lecture course. Frequently it is not the Central Committee book, which is the book especially published for them. The emphasis is given to a book of another publisher and our book is taught in a small class, if at all. Of course, the women who attend the School will naturally order for their church women the book they have studied, thinking it is the one they should have. This alone would account for thousands of unsold books of our stock.

“From the Central Committee came the plan of the Federation of Woman’s Foreign Missionary Boards, which eventually took over both the Central Committee and the Summer Schools as Committees of the Federation. The Federation is partially supported from the small profits of the Central Committee, and it seems fair and logical for the Federation officers to take up with the Chairmen of Summer Schools each year the books to be used. If the books of other publishers are allowed to take precedence over ours in our own Schools, our sales will fall off until we shall not be able to make a grant to the Federation.”

We bring this matter before the Federation and ask for serious consideration and discussion, with the added argument that our books are written for women with special reference to their societies and work.

The books for the coming year are: Senior book, From Jerusalem to Jerusalem, by Helen Barrett Montgomery, and the Junior book, Going to Jerusalem, by Margaret Applegarth. Mrs. Montgomery's book offers an essential background for the Jerusalem conference and the work of Mission Boards which is to be influenced by that conference. The story begins at Pentecost and comes down through the ages, culminating in the conference at Jerusalem. It is a marvelous record of God's leading and the triumph of His Gospel among all men in all ages.

Miss Applegarth, who has the genius for writing for Juniors, has given a book which should be standardized. Many of our Senior Societies have little idea of the coming of the Gospel into England, and other countries of Europe, and down to our own people. Miss Applegarth has told the history in a fascinating way. The pictures are beautiful in both of these books.

FOR VERY LITTLE CHILDREN

In response to requests from leaders of very young children, four to seven years of age, in Primary classes, and Junior Missionary societies, we have a book which fits into the Jerusalem background and brings the attention of the children to the Childhood of Jesus through very simple stories and pictures. His life in Palestine, His journey to Jerusalem and His missionary message. There are many books for children but few with vocabulary and thought that can be understood by a little child. The pictures are a great help, as well as the decorations by a fine artist. The title of this book is, Little Lord Jesus. It belongs to the Everyland Children Series. Thus far we have published the Book of Prayers for Little Children, which has gone into five editions, selling nearly 50,000 copies, and has been translated into four Oriental languages. Following this came, by request, Just Like You, stories and pictures of children of every land; Taro and Ume, a story of Japan; David and Susi, the book for little children on Africa, and now the fifth book. We have had a second edition of Just Like You, and a second edition of the book this year, David and Susi. It is proposed to enclose these little books in an attractive case for Christmas sales in future, as they do not go out of fashion and we always need books and pictures for very little ones in our homes and Sunday Schools.

We publish each year a pamphlet entitled, How to Use, giving methods and programs suggested by the two books, Senior and Junior. We have also published posters. The sales of posters have not been large and it is a question whether it is worth while to entail this expense. If the Federation desires it can be done.

Everyland

The little magazine, which was started in 1909, has continued twenty years, with a break of nearly two years, after the InterChurch gave it up. Many of the children were disappointed in not receiving their full subscriptions, and a group of women, including Mrs. Montgomery, Mrs. Cronk, and the present editor, insisted that it be brought back for at least a year in order that the children might be fairly dealt with. No one, however, felt willing to undertake the publication. It finally was left with the Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions. For seven years this committee has met the deficits on the magazine. If we could have had 25,000 subscribers secured by the many denominational Boards, Home and Foreign, supplemented by the Public Libraries and outside subscriptions, it would have been self-supporting. We have, however, only reached about half that number. No Board has contributed financially to the support of the magazine, neither has there been any request for financial support since the Central Committee has met all the expenses above the subscriptions from its own receipts. It has not, however, seemed of enough importance to the Boards of Missions, either Home or Foreign, to build up the necessary list of subscribers. After consultation and years of discussion the Central Committee decided to discontinue the magazine. During the twenty years of its existence it has reached hundreds of thousands of children and we hope that some of the new interest and promise for world peace and world friendship are due to the work of the little magazine.

Quite apart from Everyland may we say, as the magazine says farewell, that we believe some time the Women's Boards, which are, in a sense, the mothers of the missionary work for children, will see that they need such a magazine and perhaps under other management it may reach success. Success is often built on apparent failure. We believe the magazine has not failed as we read letters from children all over the world of their appreciation, letters which indicate clear understanding of the international problem.

Everyland has served various causes, chiefly in the last three years the projects of the Federal Council of Churches which Mrs. Emrich has carried so splendidly. The Doll Project in Japan, and the School Bag Project in Mexico have been thoroughly explained through pictures and articles.

It has been a care but a pleasant burden, and the editor has been able to give her services gladly without expense to the magazine. She appreciates the fine assistance from the Department Editors and the many contributors. The place of Mrs. Cronk was taken by her devoted secretary, Miss Swavely, and the Children's Exchange has gone on.

So to the Federation we bring this report of Everyland with its farewell and thanks for those who have helped and our hope that some day there will be a magazine which will be so valuable, so important, that the Women's Boards of Missions, Home and Foreign, will feel it well worth their while to support. Perhaps just because they have done nothing to support it, except to gather a few subscriptions, is the reason it has not succeeded financially.

And now, since farewells are in order, the chairman of the Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions presents her official resignation, which has been accepted by the Central Committee. She humbly confesses the sin of remaining on the committee for nearly twenty-nine years, and asks to be forgiven. Because it has involved a great deal of time and certain business experience it has seemed difficult to secure anyone to take her place. It means the general supervision of the office and sales department, made easy by the devoted and efficient manager, Miss Leavis. It has also meant securing authors decided upon by the Committee, estimates from printers, sending out the manuscripts, looking after revision, getting out the proofs on time, selecting pictures, even sending to many countries to secure them, all the detail that goes into the making and publishing of books. There never was a more delightful committee to work with and, in retiring, we congratulate the new chairman who has served as vice-chairman and has been connected with the committee through her own Board for nine years. Miss Schultz knows the committee and the work, and will build with great success on the foundations that have been laid.

The 30th book by Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars is on the way, and the Junior book by Mrs. Seebach. These are biographical stories of eminent Orientals, products of Missions.

The Central Committee represents the Federation as its Publishing Committee and at present holds that relation.

We earnestly hope that the Federation will still recognize this Central Committee as the one which it should promote and with which it should deal.

With every good wish for the future of this cooperative movement which enables the Boards to do together what they could not do apart, we respectfully submit this final report.

Sarah Louisa Day, Auditor.
Committee on Christian Literature

The year 1928 has brought to this Committee some very happy experiences in promoting translation and publication of books outside its regular Budget.

Among these should be mentioned first of all a gift of $250, in March, from Mrs. A. V. Pohlman of Philadelphia, for the translation into Japanese of Brave Adventurers as a memorial to Mrs. E. C. Cronk, the author of this fascinating book for young people. The title page bears a high tribute to Mrs. Cronk, that lover of the world’s children, whose death on March 12, 1927, was such a loss to Christ’s work on earth.

In April, through Mrs. W. A. Montgomery, came a gift of over $300 from the women of Florida, to be used to put into Burmese that stimulating book for young people, An Adventure in Prayer, by Mabel Nelson Thurston. The translation has been finished and its publication is probably, ere this, an accomplished fact. A further amount has been received to be used in translating this same book into Chinese under the direction of Miss Laura M. White, who is now on furlough.

In May the committee voted on recommendation of Miss Butler to use a fund of $1000, given some years ago for Latin-America to assist a well-known and valuable magazine for young people, published in Santiago, Chile, El Amigo De la Juventud. The sum is to be expended in three annual payments, and the first payment of $350 sent in June brought hearty thanks from the editor and publisher. Another gift of $300 from the Sunday School of the First Baptist Church in Grand Rapids, Michigan, was secured through the influence of Miss Ruth E. Robinson and was sent in September to Doctor N. Macnicol, of Poona, to be used at his discretion in preparing literature for the young people of India. (A late letter from Miss Robinson speaks of this gift as being used for the translation of the New Testament, but I am not quite sure of the facts here. A. M. K.)

The Pledged Work

In 1926 a grant of $2000 was voted to make possible the starting in Constantinople of a magazine for Moslem young people, projected along the lines of the Youth’s Companion. Untoward circumstances delayed the appearance of this magazine until October 1928, when under the fostering care of Reverend J. Kingsley Birge, Muhit (“Environment”) became a fact. Both the editor and publisher of Muhit are Turks of well-known literary and business ability. The first table of contents shows articles and departments calculated to make a wide appeal. One thousand dollars, already in the treasury, given by interested friends, was paid over early in the year. The last $500 of the grant, also specially contributed, although a part of the Budget for 1928, has now been sent. To Mrs. Henry W. Peabody and Mrs. Frederick G. Platt of New Britain, Conn., the Committee’s thanks are due for their interest and help in securing this sum. The first $500 of the $2000 was given by the Central Committee on the United Study of Foreign Missions in 1926, and $350 was given at the Northfield Missionary Conference in 1927 in response to an appeal by Mrs. Kingsley Birge.

Happy Childhood

This year has brought very trying experiences to our friends in China in charge of the magazine, Happy Childhood, the first work undertaken by the Committee in 1913. Mrs. Donald MacGillivray, to whom much of the success of this children’s magazine is due, sent on November 6th a cheery summing up of the year’s efforts and the present status of Happy Childhood. She says:

“This magazine, Happy Childhood, along with other Christian periodicals in China, has had to share in China’s sorrows. Missionaries had to leave, many stations closed, schools closed, in some places churches closed. Many a time we asked the question, ‘Shall we go on with our paper or shall we suspend until brighter days?’ But we could not pull down the flag, it had to fly and to fly high, not even half-mast. And so we went on. Hundreds of copies came back, ‘No postal communications,’ ‘School closed,’ ‘Pastor cannot be found,’ and so on. But we continued, cutting off those thus returned, but keeping on wherever we could. Yes, we published Happy Childhood with pictures and everything as before, never retrenching on the make-up of the magazine. And now the clouds are passing and there is the flag still flying, it hasn’t had to be rehoisted. We went down from 7000 to 5000. We are now climbing up and are printing 5,700 each month. Each book has 24 pages in a year of good reading for China. We have published another edition of our Children’s Bible, It is very much appreciated and is selling well. A better day is coming for China. Do not be discouraged. Let us ‘Hold the Fort’ and fly the flag.”

In view of Mrs. MacGillivray’s approaching furlough it is greatly desired that an assistant be found who can be trained to carry on during Mrs. MacGillivray’s absence from Shanghai.

Of the total of $1850 sent in 1928 for the work of the *Happy Childhood staff, $700 has been given by the Canadian Boards and their associated committees, $100 having been contributed from the offerings on the World Day of Prayer.

THE TREASURE CHEST

During Miss Robinson's furlough, Miss Frances Garden and Miss Theodora Thompson valiantly shouldered the heavy burden incident to the preparation and publication of the "English Treasure Chest." That the burden had wings is found from the glowing letters received from these efficient substitutes.

A gift of $500 secured by Miss Robinson made possible the new Gujarati edition which is bringing happiness to many in that area. And an extra $500 voted by the Committee has added still another to these children of Mother Treasure Chest in the Hindi edition. A strong appeal has come for another $500 for a Bengali edition.

The separate edition of these five vernacular Treasure Chests have given devoted service, and while the magazines differ greatly from the parent, as is true of many children, yet each fills a large place in the childhood of these different language areas, and the number of readers increases.

JAPAN'S APPEAL

Our gifts for this great literate Empire have been so pitiful and have made such a meager showing against the background of literature, national and foreign, which floods the many book shops of Japanese cities, that in June a special appeal was issued to Summer Schools of Missions to enable the Christian Literature Society of Japan to carry out one of its darling dreams—a series of Bible stories with colored pictures. About $500 came as a response to this appeal, most of it from the Northfield Missionary Conference, and the project is on the way, with joy in the hearts of our co-workers in Japan, voiced in a letter recently received from Miss Amy Bosanquet of Tokio.

She says under date of September 20: "The splendid donation of $500 came as a great surprise and joy. We send our hearty thanks and are setting to work on the booklets at once. . . . . We are to have new designs for the pictures drawn by a Japanese artist, and hope we may be successful in getting out two or three of the booklets before Christmas."

*In the Treasurer's report, which follows, will be found an itemized statement of the sources from which has been received during the year

now closing the sum of approximately $9900. Of two of these sources a few words should be recorded:

1. Through the interest and ingenuity of Miss Margaret Applegarth in devising the "Baptist Bookless Fund" there has come into the treasury in 1927 and 1928 from groups of children and young people living in many states, over a thousand dollars, almost wholly given in small sums and resulting in the translation of several books in India, China and Japan.

2. Year by year the offerings taken on the Day of Prayer have increased until the sum received by the Committee on Christian Literature alone has totaled in 1928 $3,282, and has come not only from the United States and Canada, but also from the women of India and China.

One longs for the pen of an inspired writer to tell the story of the "Whence and Whither" of these thousands of dollars, coming from little groups of devoted women in lonely and almost inaccessible meeting places as well as in great metropolitan churches, but always unfailingly baptized by prayer and going forth thus blessed to almost every known land, to lighten the burden of toilers in our own land, to train young women as national leaders through the Christian colleges and to send forth light through the printed page.

The Committee faces its task for another year with peculiar satisfaction. Its opportunity was never so great; its work has become better known year by year and is now attracting a larger number of supporters than ever before. Under the able leadership of Mrs. W. A. Montgomery of Rochester, New York, its new chairman, there should be no question of a forward movement and of an increased success.

Mrs. Stanley White, Acting Chairman.

Report of the Joint Committee on Conferences and Schools of Missions

By action taken at the Annual Meetings of the Council and the Federation in 1928 the Committees on Conferences and Schools of Missions of the two organizations became a Joint Committee, its membership consisting of the chairman, appointed by each organization, one additional representative from both Council and Federation, and the chairmen of all affiliated schools of missions.

Miss Mary Craig Peacock, who had served several years as Chairman of the Federation Committee on Conferences and Schools of Missions, and had resigned because of illness, was appointed one of the members of the Joint Committee by the Federation. The experience Miss Peacock gained as Chairman of the Wilson College Conference Committee for ten years and as the teacher of the Normal Class at Northfield for twenty years, gave her a knowledge of Conference work which was invaluable, and it was with keen regret the news of her passing away on October 23rd. was received.

With a committee personnel scattered all over the country it is impossible to hold meetings, and affairs must be considered by correspondence. A letter was sent in March to each member asking for suggested changes which would improve the annual report blanks of the conferences and schools of missions.

The Geneva Lake Committee having requested the Council and the Federation to issue certificates in recognition of work done at schools of missions the chairmen of the schools were asked to indicate whether certificates would be advisable and usable in the school with which they were connected.

But two responses have come to these questions. These replies agree that the present report blanks are satisfactory but disagree on the question of the certificates, one being in favor, the other stating that the credit system would spoil the "flexible program" and necessitate a ten-day period for the school.

With only two schools sufficiently interested in a system of credits to express an opinion it does not seem wise to recommend that the Council and the Federation issue such certificates until there is a more general demand.

From the reports received from the chairmen of the schools and from letters from women who were in attendance the following items were secured:

1. Seventy-five per cent of the Committees are made up of Board appointees.
2. Five per cent of the school present the activities of the Council and the Federation.
3. No school reports having held a conference of representatives of church and missionary federations.
4. A very small number of subscriptions were reported taken for the "Missionary Review of the World," and for "Everyland." One school reported having made no effort to take subscriptions for "Everyland" because the magazine was to be discontinued.
5. All schools report a goodly number of mission study classes though some protest against "too many books."
6. A continued increasing use of the discussion group and forum methods are evident.
7. Delegates have little actual share in planning the program.

Lake Geneva. The credit system is a real success. Ninety girls worked for credits. That means note books and absolutely perfect attendance at classes. Six certificates in Missionary Education were given out. It meant at least two years of hard work, in most cases three. We are proud of these young women and believe all are girls who will go back to their churches and work hard there.

St. Petersburg had a registration of 1278 drawn from 35 states and Canada, representing 22 denominations. Made a contribution to provide for the translation of Mabel Thurston's "Book of Prayer" into Burmese.

Northfield Foreign celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary with an historical pageant giving various episodes of the beginnings of foreign mission work, mission study and schools of missions.

Northfield Home continued the student governing council for the camps with success.

Chautauqua Foreign Institute had a registration of 1400, the largest registration reported, with amphitheater address on Missions and International Friendship, by Mrs. Montgomery, and a thrilling report of the Jerusalem Conference by Mrs. Thomas Nicholson.

Chautauqua Home Institute. The outstanding feature was an address on "Law, License and Liberty" by Federal Attorney Tuttle.

Missouri-Illinois has decided to discontinue sessions. Attendance has been lessened by denominational conferences which seem to be training the leaders needed in the local churches.
Mt. Hermon reports doubling its registration, having 406. Both Young Women's Department and Children's Department have had unusual growth, 45 being enrolled in the Young Women's and 80 in the Children's. The evening sessions had an average attendance of over 700. This is interesting in view of the discussions three years ago when there was a possibility of discontinuing the school.

Mt. Lake Park. Another school with a fine comeback. No session was held in 1927 because of lack of leadership. With a divided chairmanship, having a business chairman and a program chairman, Mt. Lake Park held one of the best schools ever held in the Park. Over 300 women and girls were in attendance though the paid registrations were but 99.

Dallas, Texas, school was unusually interesting, and 300 women were present at the opening luncheon.

Tulsa and Vicinity. There was a very fine spirit of quickened interest in this school. Mrs. M. A. Stone was the teacher of the book on Africa, dealing with the emergence to the spiritual triumph of that great continent.

Wilson College continued its experiment with the flexible program, being even better satisfied with results than in 1927. The Conference worked out a Standard for a Delegate in one discussion group which was reported in the home churches so that the delegates for 1929 may be chosen in accordace with the standard and be prepared to make the best use of the program.

1. An open mind.
2. Desire to use what she gets.
3. Enthusiasm.
4. Personality—ability to impart what one has.
5. A leader—a worker at home.
6. Consecration.
8. Patience and persistence.
9. Conscientious.
10. Cooperative spirit.

Report of Committee on Foreign Students in America

The work of this Committee is both simple and difficult; simple in that it has only one task—the showing of hospitality to foreign students in America; difficult, for the fact that it must have the right kind of persons carrying on the work.

The work has already been organized in a number of college centers, but unfortunately, for many reasons, the organization has in spots broken down. The Committee of this year is attempting to strengthen these weak spots.

In doing this work the Committee feels very certain that the need for the work among the foreign students is greater than ever before. New yearnings in far lands are awakening a new consciousness in the hearts of our Oriental students. This has naturally developed a sensitiveness, which calls for an exceptional tactfulness on our part.

One of the Committees' activities of the year has been the listing of other agencies who are also working along these lines, and urging cooperation with such agencies. There is a real need for the hospitality which some of our strong Missionary women in our university centers can offer to these strangers studying among us, and it is the aim of our Committee to help to unify this branch of the work in which they are interested.

The experience of the local New York Committee has been such a delightful one that we are hoping in the coming year to see similar successful experiments in a number of other prominent university centers.

ANNA C. SWAIN, Chairman.

Report of the Committee on Home Base Cultivation

An attempt early in the year to re-study the field of home base cultivation and make whatever new approaches seemed advisable, resulted chiefly in a renewed effort along lines already established. The work of the various departments comprising this committee has gone forward as usual, with one exception. The Department of Children's Work, which started the year with high hopes and bright promise under the leadership of Mrs. Richard Hurst, suffered a severe loss in her sudden passing away soon after the Annual Meeting of 1928. Her term of office in the Federation group was brief; but her loving understanding of the childhood of the world, and the able service which she rendered on their behalf, remains as a precious legacy for those who follow her in this branch of service.

It has been the aim of the Department of Young Women's work to act as a clearing house for the different denominational Young People's Departments. To this end, a circular letter was sent to the denominational secretaries and young people's representatives shortly after the last Annual Meeting, asking them to cooperate with the Federation by sending a short report of the work they had been doing and their plans for the future. All denominations were also asked to make the Young People's Literature exchange more effective by placing the names of the other Young People's Secretaries on their mailing lists for all Young People's literature. The response to both these requests was most satisfactory, and it will continue to be the aim of this Department to keep the denominational Young People's Departments in closer touch with one another throughout the coming year.

This same service of Literature Exchange among the Women's Boards has been conducted as in former years, about twenty-five Boards cooperating. In this way helpful methods and program suggestions are shared.

As wide publicity as possible has been given to general items of home base cultivation interest growing out of the Annual Meeting and subsequent committee meetings. Similarly, monthly articles on topics of general interest have been sent to twenty-six missionary magazines for use in their columns. Such topics as the following were included: Reports of the Jerusalem Meeting, the Woman's National Committee for Law Enforcement, the signing of the Peace Pact, (reported by Mrs. Morrison, who represented American women on that occasion), the World Day of Prayer, World Peace, and the work of Nationals in various lands.

Through the Department of Field Activities, cooperation in the setting up of twenty-seven mid-week and week-end conferences has been made possible, and eleven other meetings have been supplied with speakers.

These figures from all Departments are quickly read, and perhaps as quickly forgotten, but the detailed preparation and careful thought given by the Department chairmen who brought these plans to fulfillment cannot be lightly measured. This committee functions entirely through its constituent Departments. It is their earnest effort that has held this work to its steady course, and it is with gratitude for the joyous fellowship and close cooperation manifest in this year now closing, that the Committee on Home Base Cultivation submits its report.

Maude White Hardie, Chairman.
Report of the Committee on Interdenominational Institutions on the Foreign Field

The Committee on Interdenominational Institutions has had its duties enlarged because of the taking over by the Federation of some of the work of the Cooperating Committee for the Women's Union Christian Colleges in Foreign Fields. This Committee has decided that for various reasons it is best for it to go out of existence and from January 1st, 1929 the Federation through its Committee will be responsible for presenting the Union Institutions of the World's Day of Prayer and for preparing the appeal for them.

The work of the seven colleges is progressing wonderfully and you will hear from them through their individual committees. Madras and Vellore enjoyed a visit from Miss Olson who did so much for the seven colleges building fund. Dr. Reischauer of Tokyo College, Miss Shannon, president of Isabella Thoburn, and Dr. Miner, Dean of Women in Shantung have been in America increasing the circle of friends for their colleges. Shantung and Yenching were both in the war and famine zone in China, but college work went calmly on and the students did fine famine relief work. Mrs. Frame has resigned from Yenching in order that more responsibility may be put upon the Chinese. Mrs. Thurston has resigned from Ginling for the same reason, and a graduate of Ginling's first class who carries a Ph.D. from Michigan has just been inaugurated as her successor. We can sympathize in the mingled joy and sorrow of these two Americans as they leave the leadership in these colleges into which they have built their lives and realize that their Chinese "daughters" are able to take up the torch and pass on the light. Tokyo is planning to add a science department to its curriculum. The note of joy in Christian service among the students in all these colleges seems stronger than ever.

There are other colleges than these seven, each one doing fine work. Chengtu in West China is successfully experimenting with coeducational work. Moral standards are high and as for the intellectual ones—some of the boys are wondering how to finance their way through college as the girls are carrying off so many of the scholarship prizes! They just must have a new girls' dormitory to care for the rapid increase in numbers. Ewha in Chosen is successfully meeting the Japanese requirements for academic work.

It is being realized increasingly that higher educational institutions without good feeders in the way of high schools cannot do the work planned for them. So we have a goodly number of these and the normal schools needed to train their teachers. Some in China have had a sorry time in the closing of the schools and the occupation and injury to the buildings by soldiers and others. But the outlook is brighter now, and most, if not all, are reopening. St. Christopher's, a daughter of Madras, which is a college for training teachers, is adding a course for girls who do not have a college degree and who expect to teach only young children. Educational work for girls in Venezuela is only recently beginning, but there is a promising school there now as far as faculty and pupils go, but also it is still without proper buildings or equipment.

The Bible Teachers' Training School in Nanking suffered much in the destruction of property, but they are repairing some of the buildings and are hoping to reopen January 1, 1929.

In this short report only a few of the union institutions can even be named. Yet all around the world the women are unitedly planning for Christian education for girls from the kindergarten through college and professional schools, including those where women are given a full theological course.

Committee on International Friendship

The activities of your Committee on International Friendship have developed in a most interesting way and largely in two directions as recommended for major emphasis.

The first outstanding activity has been in the interest of Peace.

We have been active as a member of the National Committee on the Cause and Cure of War in promoting cooperation in the State Meetings in the interest of the Kellogg Multilateral Treaty for the renunciation of war. Our Federation had the major responsibility of setting up two of those meetings, the one in Pennsylvania under the direction of our President, and that in Tennessee, under Mrs. Lipscomb's management. We also, through our office, assisted in setting up the meetings in Ohio and in New York States. Our office has also carried the correspondence with our groups in the other States so that our Missionary women have cooperated in 41 of these State Meetings.

Through the efforts of the Federation we have been able to send a very large number of signed resolutions to the Senate favoring the Peace Pact. These resolutions were signed in 10,000 meetings.
Through our Committee and the help of our Executive Secretary the meetings of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the Churches held in New York City in November were given cooperation in promotion and in attendance.

We have cooperated with the Committee on World Friendship among children in the Mexican Friendship project. As a result of this project:

1. A National Committee on World Friendship has been organized in Mexico.
2. Similar Committees have been organized in each state of Mexico.
3. A Course on International Friendship has been written into the curriculum of the primary schools of Mexico.

Individual members of the Committee have been active in peace promotion. Mrs. Clayton D. Eulette, Chairman of the Civic Committee of the Women's Boards of the Baptist Church; Mrs. Charles H. Prescott represented us in Cleveland and throughout Ohio where signal work has been done; Mrs. U. S. Grant, Chairman of the Committee on International Fellowship of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church has promoted Peace actively through this channel. Mrs. Thomas Nicholson, an ardent advocate for peace has written a Study Course on Peace for the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Mrs. West has been equally active in Canada; Mrs. K. W. Eddy, Mrs. D. J. Fleming, Mrs. Geo. W. Doane, and Mrs. L. R. Rounds have been doing much to develop International Friendship among foreign groups here in New York and in New Jersey.

Ten Boards have agreed to establish a Department of International Friendship or to name a representative through whom our committee can transmit matters concerning peace for consideration or action.

A significant statement comes from Mrs. Leland regarding the noon hour of prayer for peace. The leaflet issued in the interest of this plan has traveled to sixty-two countries and has been translated into thirteen languages. A large number of significant organizations all over the world and people of many nations and many creeds are uniting in one thought and one prayer for peace among mankind.

Our Second Major Line of activity has been in the realm of the Motion Pictures. Ten of our affiliated Boards have responded by naming a correspondent for our Committee and have gotten in touch with their missionaries. As a result we have received most interesting information from India, Burma, Assam, Ceylon, China, Honolulu and Turkey as to the Cinema situation in those countries. This information we have passed on to Mr. Carl Milliken, Secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., who has been cooperating with us throughout the year. He met with our committee in December, explaining to us the relation of the industry to the exportation of films, enlisting our further cooperation to improve the films exported by securing definite information from the Orient as to the titles of films and producers, naming the good and bad elements and the effects of the films criticised. He suggested the willingness of his organization to help Mission Boards to secure films of their respective missionary work in order to increase missionary interest in the church and in the Sunday School and to make educational films available for schools and hospitals in the mission field. He opened up for us the future possibilities of the films in the promotion of missionary interest and knowledge.

We are hoping in the coming year to secure cooperation in this field from the Boards which have not yet responded.

The Chairman of the Committee had interesting interviews with various secretaries of the League of Nations while abroad. Those with the Secretaries of the International Labor Office were of special interest since our Committee has been concerned in labor conditions among women and children in the Orient. China, Japan and India have been active members of the International Labor organization. Of twenty-six draft conventions in force Japan has ratified six and India twelve. China, governmentally disturbed, has passed legislation greatly reducing its working day; extended the benefits of maternity care to women employed in its larger factory industries; has raised the age of admission of children to work; prohibited night work of children and young persons; and has forbidden the use of white phosphorus in the manufacture of matches.

We recommend:

1. The transfer to the National Commission of Protestant Church Women the responsibility which this Committee has undertaken to secure films in the United States, which shall be educative, and peace promoting and which shall interpret truly the peoples of the world to one another.

2. To the National Commission of Protestant Church Women that efforts be made to organize committees on International Friendship or Relations in each women's local Federation or Council.

3. That this Committee be empowered to cooperate with the Commission on Motion Pictures that is being organized by the Federal Council of Churches.

4. That in view of present conditions and to secure better uniformity the name of this Committee be changed to International Relations.

KATHARINE V. SILVERTHORN, Chairman.
Report of the Interdenominational Industrial Committee

The Industrial Missions Committee’s activity this year has practically centered on its representation in the Exposition of Women’s Arts and Industries, held October 1-6, 1928, in the Hotel Astor, New York City.

Miss Lucy Kent was appointed Vice-Chairman. She had the able assistance of Mrs. Leiper, Mrs. Butler and other denominational representatives. About six preliminary committee meetings were held.

It was our initial venture with the Church Women’s Cooperative Group, but we consider it highly worth while.

There were many handicaps: Inability to get the desired representation of the industries of the various missions; unfamiliarity with the Exposition and its possibilities; lack of knowledge that comes only with experience. We learned much, we think, from this our first effort, and profiting by this would hope to make a much more valuable contribution to the group representation next time, and we earnestly hope that there will be a “next time.”

We deem it an invaluable opportunity to carry information and inspiration to the many thousands attending the Exposition. We made interesting contacts with hundreds, and gave many an entirely new idea of the “Church at work” in other lands. The Church Women’s Group has a wonderful opportunity for a forceful and winsome message in its united presentation to those who “pass by,” and to the many who linger to see and hear.

A notable event of the week was the Tea in charge of the church women. Messages from a representative of each group were broadcast. Mrs. D. Everett Waid made a stirring address. The radio was at our disposal for about eighty minutes and we feel that never were the ether waves used to better advantage.

May Price Sterrett, Chairman.
Report of the Committee on Law and Legislation for the Year 1928

This year has been one of active service for both the Chairman and Committee members. It included such items as conferences, national conventions, calls for speakers, business relating to legislation, with necessary attendance at hearings and at sessions of both Houses of Congress, so that we might register as a group in such matters as should be sponsored by this Federation. There was much which thrilled and inspired us as the days sped by, especially those events which preceded and led up to the election of Mr. Hoover for President and demonstrated the definite stand taken by the citizens of our land regarding law enforcement. It was a wonderful climax to the greatest campaign this country has ever experienced. However, let us list the year's work in order in which it came to us:

Law Enforcement:

2. The call to Baltimore for the Maryland State law enforcement meeting.
3. The presentation of the work and resolutions at meeting of Church and Missionary Federations in Buffalo in May and June.
4. National Conventions at Kansas City and Houston, with simultaneous meetings of the National Committee for law enforcement and the days spent in prayer conferences and promotion of the respective platforms (the dry planks).
5. The presentation of law enforcement at summer schools of Missions, notably Northfield and Chautauqua, and the passage of resolutions which were conveyed to local committees for their final endorsement and action fulfillment. (Resolutions to be found in the October report on file in the office.)

Next the active campaign through the weeks which followed by the church women all over this land as they girded themselves and worked with untiring energy for the final victory of November 6, 1928. Thousands of women cast their ballots for the first time stirred to the depths by the challenge of the cause. Prayers arose in a great flood tide from the hearts and lips of women many of whom probably never prayed for such a cause before, and determination gripped the souls of women as they faced squarely the realization of what defeat the issue would bring. In the words of Mrs. Peabody—the election of Mr. Hoover is the crowning achievement of the enfranchised women of America.

But Things Still Moved On:

6. Then came the meeting of the Continuation Committee (32 groups) in Washington, December 10th, which the chairman attended in place of Mrs. Peabody.
7. The meeting of the National Council for Prohibition, December 12 and 13, of which the chairman is a member.
The Recommendations Passed at the Meeting of this Committee:

1. We recommend that each local interdenominational group of church women stress law enforcement through existing or new committees, making a study of the illegal local conditions and taking action in regard to them.

What Next in Law Enforcement:

Meeting December 29, 1929, in Grace Dodge Hotel.

Legislation:

Several matters for legislation and possible legislation have presented themselves this year:

1. The Narcotic Bill passed by the House May 21, 1928, was partially endorsed. It is interesting to note that this bill was the aftermath of Mr. Porter's attendance at the International Narcotic Conference held in Geneva, Switzerland, November 17, 1924. Mr. Porter was Chairman of the delegation. The Bill will come before the Senate at this, the second session of the 70th Congress. The Chairman was made a delegate to the meeting of the Narcotic Rehabilitation Association, November 15-16, but was unable to attend.

The month of December was spent keeping tab on two important features to be introduced:

1. Peace Treaty (Multilateral Treaty).
2. Naval Bill (15 cruisers instead of 70 to come before Senate, having passed the House last spring).

1. Peace Pact held in Committee on Foreign Relations, U. S. Senate until December 18—approved vote 14-2. Introduced into Senate December 19th. (Church body action appended.)

2. Navy Bill opposed on ground 10 cruisers replacement but 15 real increase.

There are many legislative matters which we, as Missionary women should endorse, spur on and lead the way for the women of the world.

Respectfully submitted,

Florence H. Darby, Chairman.
Report of the Student Work Committee

In the four meetings which the Student Committee has held since its appointment by the Executive Committee of the Federation in January, 1928, the lines of study and action have covered the fields of interest outlined in the following report.

I. An investigation of curriculum courses in the subject of "Missions" has been conducted by a special committee in order that the cooperating Boards might have for their information the facts concerning exchanges of credit and content of courses offered by the various colleges and graduate schools. Through the efforts of this investigating group it will be possible to issue serially to the Woman's Boards, to the Y. W. C. A. and to the Student Volunteer Movement and others interested, a compilation of the requirements and available courses. This information should be especially valuable to those who are in touch with undergraduates preparing for mission work and with the missionaries returning for furlough study.

The Student Volunteer Movement is compiling information from the college catalogs concerning other missionary and religious education courses, fees required and giving an index or bibliography of other sources of information. It is expected that these studies may be used to supplement each other.

II. Texts on the subject of "Missions" appropriate for student use were listed at an early meeting of the Student Committee in order that candidate and traveling secretaries might have the benefit of expert advice upon this subject. Frequent additions to such a bibliography are necessary and it is hoped that from the departments of Missionary and Religious Education, as well as from Sociology and Political Science, more can be learned of the extent to which student reading may be encouraged in world affairs seen from a Christian point of view.

III. A series of local institutes for Christian world education are being conducted through this college year under the joint auspices of the Student Volunteer Movement and the Christian World Education Committee of the Council of Christian Associations. To strengthen the resources of these two Movements in the way of providing speakers and other assistance, the Student Work Committee of the Federation has extended its cooperation. The purpose has been to provide for schools and colleges speakers of recognized worth and authority who can present topics of significance in the hope of developing missionary education in the student world.

IV. Joint sessions with the Student Committee of the Council of Women for Home Missions and with related committees of the Foreign Missions Conference have been proposed by these two bodies and the plan accepted by the Student Work Committee. While there has been no opportunity for such joint sessions, it is believed that a stronger understanding of the problems of common concern and of the respective fields of effort will be mutually beneficial.

V. Relations with the Foreign Student Committee of the Federation have been clarified and a limited number of inter-relating members appointed who will serve upon both committees. It was not considered best to merge the identity of the Foreign Student Committee with that on Student Work since at the present time there seems to be justifiable reason for continuing separate organization in view of the importance and distinct characteristics of the work which each is carrying.

VI. The missionary candidate material for student use, published and distributed by the church boards, now being collected by the Student Volunteer Movement, will be available for members of the Student Work Committee in order that the respective denominations may study the type and worth of this material.

Other topics which have engaged the attention of the committee but which have not led to definite action follow:

A. Listing of summer and other try-out experiences for students hoping to go into foreign service.

B. Securing of reports from national gatherings of large bodies in which students have participated in order that the direction of their interest and activity may be better known.

C. Analysis of the presentation of Foreign Missions in the summer student conferences of the Christian Associations.

D. Cooperation of church boards with mid-winter conference of the Student Volunteer Movement.

The question as to whether the present increase in Christian World Education for students is resulting in increased consciousness of active and personal responsibility for the problems presented.
The student Work Committee appreciates the scope of the Federation's work and hopes to translate to students the meaning of these enterprises vital to the welfare of womanhood through the world.

Respectfully submitted,

Katherine C. Foster, Chairman.

Report of the Committee on Women's Church and Missionary Federations

The Committee on Women's Church and Missionary Federations, functioning jointly with a similar committee of the Council of Women for Home Missions, has, during this year, faced the fact that, with the ratification at the Annual Meeting of the Council in 1928 of the suggestions of the Guiding Group, its work was nearing completion.

It was gratifying to note the attendance at the last Annual Meeting of a number of representatives from Women's Interdenominational Groups and their evident interest in the work of the Federation.

The promotional work of the committee has been carried on during the past two years by the use of mimeographed Suggestive Constitutions, Programs and Activities. The Joint leaflet, descriptive of the work of the Federation and the Council of Women for Home Missions, approved for preparation and printing in 1926 should still, it would seem, be made available for distribution among the Interdenominational groups.

One letter was sent by your committee to each Woman's Interdenominational Group in April calling attention to the following items: Mission Study for 1928-1929; The Missionary Review of the World and Every-land; Conferences and Schools of Missions; Fourth Conference on Women's Organized Interdenominational Work; Chapel at the Federal Industrial Institution for Women at Alderson, W. Va.; Friendship School Bag Project; Resolutions on Third Conference on Cause and Cure of War and Fourth Annual Conference on the Cause and Cure of War to be held in Washington, D. C., January 14-18, 1929; the noon hour as a time for prayer and peace; a recommendation that each interdenominational group have a committee on International Relations, World Friendship or Peace; and the fact that the Findings and Recommendations of the 1928 Annual Meeting of the Federation were available.

With the above mentioned letter was enclosed a letter, calling attention to the fourth annual meeting of the Women's Organized Interdenominational groups to be held at the Statler Hotel, Buffalo, May 31-June 1st and 2nd.
Inasmuch as the Federation at its last Annual Meeting approved the recommendation that "The Joint Committee on Women's Church and Missionary Federations shall continue to carry on its duties until July 1, 1928, or such time as the ratification and organization of this guiding group is complete," and since the Executive Committee of the Federation in October approved the plans, so far as formulated of the National Commission of Protestant Church Women (with the exception of the chosen name), guiding group above referred to, your committee on Women's Church and Missionary Federations, as well as the joint committee, automatically goes out of existence with this, its final report.

The relationships which have been established with the various interdenominational groups and the ties of friendship between the members of the committee, which have acted as a strengthening force, have been exceedingly pleasant. It is with a feeling of regret that we write "Finis" to the specific work of this committee. We commend to the new Commission of Protestant Church Women the careful and prayerful nurturing of these Interdenominational Groups so that their interest in the work of the Federation may ever be increased.

World Day of Prayer

The rapidly growing power and influence of the World Day of Prayer as it is being observed by an ever widening circle of Christian women throughout the world, deepens the conviction of the committee that we have as yet touched but the fringe of the possibilities wrapped up in this movement. Testimonies from hundreds of communities in the United States and from many other countries are full of expressions of gratitude of what the day is meaning to Christian women in the new discoveries of God and spiritual power; in breaking down denominational and interracial barriers and bringing the women together into a beautiful and helpful fellowship. A letter from one of our southern states expresses what many others have said, namely: “Such programs as ‘Breaking Down Barriers’ are helping us a great deal to a better interracial understanding and to break down the barriers which hinder our fellowship in Christ.” To women who have had limited knowledge of other races and nations, the day has awakened a consciousness of a great world of need beyond their own borders and of themselves as a part of a great world sisterhood.

“It thrills us all through and through to think of the great chain of prayers encircling the globe,” writes a woman of Korea. With each observance of the Day of Prayer there has come, to the committee, an ever enlarging horizon and vision of still larger things to be accomplished.

Mission Boards almost without exception have not only cooperated with the committee in carrying out suggested plans but many of them have adopted the day as their own special Day of Prayer and have included it in their promotional literature and plans. It has become in a large measure a fixed day in the program of both denominational and interdenominational groups. There are many indications of this same trend in other countries.

We have been seeking the cooperation of established interdenominational agencies in other countries where such exist, and their hearty response has been most encouraging. The International secretary of the Women’s Missionary Association of New South Wales, Australia, writes: “We thank you for giving us the privilege of joining in this World Day of Prayer. We are promoting it among all the women of both city and country districts.” Frau Von Tiling, President of the United Evangelical Women’s Association of Germany, and a member of the Prussian Association, has contact with possibly two million Christian women. In assuring us of her cooperation she writes: “We must stand together now more than ever before.” Miss Inglis who represents the women of New Zealand on the International Council of Missions in New Zealand, writes, "You can count on the women of all denominations in New Zealand to unite with you on the World Day of Prayer."

Miss Holt, in charge of the Prayer League for all South America has been promoting the observance, through this channel. She needs special financial help in issuing the program both in Spanish and in Portuguese. We hope this may be furnished by some interested woman or women in the United States. The Brazilian Federation of Evangelical women is also back of this movement.

The President of the National Union of Women's Christian Societies of Mexico writes that they have made the promotion of the World Day of Prayer a fixed part of their interdenominational program and are promoting it through the magazine published by the National Union and in other ways.

In France the Interdenominational Alliance of Churches is promoting it.

In some sections of China it is being sponsored by the Women's division of the Council of the Churches of Christ.

So we might continue to outline the agencies of still other countries both of the East and in Europe which are helping to build a strong chain of prayer around the world. It has really become a World Movement, and as such calls for much careful study as to the next steps. The Universal Sun Set Hour of Prayer adopted a year ago is being given good publicity by Mission Boards.

The program for February 15, 1929, is entitled, "That they all may be One." It was prepared by Miss Florence G. Tyler and has received much favorable comment. It was transmitted by Mission Boards in manuscript form to all their Mission Fields, and to foreign speaking groups in our own land. It was also sent by the committee to many countries to women of interdenominational leadership.

The printed program is used almost exclusively by women in the United States and shows an increase in circulation during the 1928 observance of 60,000 over the preceding year. The Call also shows a similar increase in circulation. A new piece of publicity matter issued this year is an attractive poster in color. The Seals also are in large demand.

Five syndicated articles prepared by various members of the committee have been printed in scores of missionary and other religious periodicals. The Home and Foreign Bulletins of the Missionary Review were combined in November and nine pages given to the promotion of the Day of Prayer.

Through the courtesy of WEAF radio station, Mrs. Geil broadcasted the service on the morning of the Day of Prayer last February. We have encouraging prospects for a similar service this year over centers in New York, Chicago, Minneapolis, some points in Colorado, Texas and California.

Plans for the observance on March 7, 1930, are well under way. Miss Helen Kim of Korea, has already submitted the first draft of the program under the title "That Jesus may be Lifted up," and she will have it completed by February or March. A brief Retreat paralleling the theme of the program is being prepared by Miss Jean Paxton. Special plans for young people's and children's meetings are being worked out by subcommittees. While not submitting any definite recommendations, the Committee does need counsel on the following matters:

1. Would it be advisable to invite to a corresponding membership of the Committee women of leadership in interdenominational national organizations in other countries who are already cooperating in the movement?
2. What shall be the relation of this Committee to the National Commission of Protestant Church Women?
3. Would it be advisable to have but one depot of supplies for Day of Prayer material in New York?

Mrs. S. S. Hough, Chairman.
